PREFACE

The present work is based on my abridgement, with additions (1886), of Max Müller's Sanskrit Grammar (2nd ed., 1870). It is practically a new book. The old matter has been entirely recast, having been shortened and extended, arranged and formulated anew. Little has remained unaltered except those paradigms for which, in my opinion, no better ones could have been substituted.

The main additions embrace those parts of the grammar which I considered I had previously not treated in sufficient detail. Thus I have added a full paradigm of the passive ( p .127 ) and seven new paradigms of the reduplicated perfect ( p . IIO-112). The largest additions, amounting altogether to about eighteen pages, have been made in the section on particles and the chapters on compounds and syntax. These portions of the book have at the same time, I think, been greatly improved in lucidity.

The omissions are also considerable. My guiding principle has been to leave out all matter that is to be found exclusively in Vedic literature or in the Hindu grammarians. For it has been my aim to describe only those grammatical forms which are to be met with in the actual literature of post-Vedic Sanskrit. This has sometimes led, to considerable simplification; for instance, the account of the unchangeable bases in declension here occupies only five and a half pages, as compared with nine in my former grammar. The student is thus not burdened with rules which can never be of any use to him. I have refrained from employing, even in a paradigm, any word which cannot be quoted from the literature; but, for the sake of completeness, individual forms have often had to be given which are represented only by other words of the same type.

Long experience in teaching has further enabled me to formulate rules with greater exactness as well as to group them with greater clearness; as, for instance, in my account of the strong and weak bases of the reduplicated perfect and their irregularities (pp. 107-109, II2).

By these means I hope to have smoothed the path, hitherto unnecessarily thorny, of the beginner of Sanskrit, while providing him with the full grammatical equipment necessary for reading and understanding any Sanskrit text.

As an introduction to the subject, I prefix a short sketch of the history of Sanskrit grammar down to the present time. From this it will appear that the Hindu grammatical system is by no means adapted to European methods of teaching and learning. The native system is a study by itself, involving great labour, and hardly to be mastered by European scholars without devoting them. selves to it for some years in India itself. It cannot be doubted that European Sanskrit grammars are still too much under the influence of that system. Even the present work will probably not be entirely exempt from this criticism. I have, for instance, followed the native grammarians in quoting certain roots with a long instead of a short $r$ vowel. This distinction, though scientifically worthless, seemed, however, to be of sufficient practical value to deserve retention.

The late Prof. Benfey used to say that he often thought it would be preferable to begin the study of the ancient language of India with its oldest phase. It seems to me, however, that the exuberance of Vedic forms would be too bewildering at the outset, and that the simpler and more regulated grammar of the later language is better adapted for the beginner. When that has been fully acquired, the additional forms of Vedic grammar can easily be learnt. As a help in this direction I have in Appendix III summarized the main differences between Vedic and classical Sanskrit.
As regards transliteration, I have abandoned the late Prof. Max Müller's system, following that adopted by the Oriental Congress held at Geneva in 1894, by the German Oriental Society, by the Royal Asiatic Society of Great Britain and Ireland, by the late Prof. Bühler in his Encyclopaedia of Indo-Aryan research, and by many individual Sanskrit scholars in their own works. This system includes the use of $r$ (pronounced with a syllabic value, as the $r$ in French chambre) to represent the weak grade of the syllables $a r$ and $r a$. The transliteration $r^{i}$ misrepresents the original value of this vowel. The grammar is transliterated throughout, excepting the list of verbs (Appendix I) and the syntactical examples at the end of the book. This exception is due to the experience that beginners are apt to become too dependent on transliteration. But even here when the Sandhi is difficult, I have given help by separating the words as far as possible and by adding the transliteration of single words here and there. Besides, by the time the student reaches the end of the grammar, he ought to be able to read the Devanāgari character with some ease.

Though the accent is never marked in post-Vedic Sanskrit, I have indicated it, owing to its philological importance, in all transliterated words, as far as it can be ascertained from Vedic texts. A short account of the Vedic accent is given in Appendix III.

The works to which I am indebted in preparing this new form of my grammar, are Wackernagel's Altindische Grammatik, vol. I (phonology), Whitney's Sanskrit Grammar, and Speijer's Sanskrit Syntax.

In a work which, like the present, is primarily meant for beginners, freedom even from small errors, misprints, and inconsistencies, becomes a matter of great importance. If the grammar should prove to be specially accurate in this respect, a considerable share of the credit will be due to Mr. R. C. S. Keith, B.A., of Trinity College, and Mr. A. B. Keith, B.A., of Balliol College, who though preparing for or engaged in stiff Civil Service examinations while the book was passing through the press, were unselfish enough to read carefully at least one proof of each sheet. They discovered several mistakes which had escaped my notice, besides making some useful suggestions which I have adopted. The final gleaning of error was reserved for Mr. J. C. Pembrey, the Oriental Reader of the Clarendon Press. His keen eye has detected many additional misprints and inconsistencies, which could have been found only by one who has had the unique experience (extending over fifty-four years) of reading in proof the Sanskrit grammars written by each of the three successive occupants of the Boden chair at Oxford. He began with the second edition of Prof. H. H. Wilson's Grammar, which he corrected together with his father in 1847.

INTRODUCTION

BRIEF HISTORY OF SANSKRIT GRAMMAR

The first impulse to the study of grammar in India was given by the religious motive of preserving intact the sacred Vedic texts, the efficacy of which was believed to require attention to every letter. Thus, aided by the great transparency of the Sanskrit language, the ancient Indian grammarians had by the fifth century b.c. arrived at scientific results unequalled by any other nation of antiquity. It is, for instance, their distinctive achievement to have recognized that words for the most part consist on the one hand of roots, and on the other of affixes, which, when compounded with the former, modify the radical sense in various ways.

The oldest grammar which has been preserved is that of Pānini. It already represents a fully developed system, and its author stands at the end of a long line of predecessors, of whom no fewer than sixty-four are mentioned, and the purely grammatical works of all of whom, owing to the excellence and comprehensiveness of his work, have entirely perished.

Pānini is considerably later than Yāska (probably about 500 B.C.), whom he mentions, and between whom and himself a good number of important grammarians intervene. On the other hand, Pannini is much older than his interpreter Patañjali, who probably dates from the latter half of the second century b.c., the two being separated by another eminent grammarian, Kātyāyana. Pāṇini himself uses the word yavanān̄̄, which Kātyāyana explains as 'writing of the Yavanas' (i. e. Iāones or Greeks). Now it is not at all likely that the Indians should have become acquainted with Greek writing before the invasion of Alexander in $3^{27}$ B. c. But the natives of the extreme north-west, of whom Pānini in all probability was one, would naturally have become acquainted with it soon after that date. They must, however, have grown familiar with it before a grammarian would make a rule as to how to form from Yavana, 'Greek,' a derivative form meaning 'Greek writing.' It seems therefore hardly possible to place Pāṇini earlier than about 300 в. с.

Pānini's grammar consists of nearly 4000 rules divided into eight chapters. Being composed with the utmost imaginable brevity, each Sūtra or aphorism usually consists of only two or three words, and the whole work, if printed continuously in medium-sized Devanāgarī type, would not occupy more than about thirty-five pages of the present volume. And yet this grammar describes the entire Sanskrit language in all the details of its structure, with a completeness which has never been equalled elsewhere. It is at once the shortest and fullest grammar in the world.

In his endeavour to give an exhaustive survey of the $b h a ̄ s ̣ a ̄ ~ o r ~ c l a s s i c a l ~ S a n s k r i t ~ w i t h ~ a ~ v i e w ~ t o ~ c o r r e c t ~ u s a g e, ~$ Pānini went on to include within the scope of his grammar the language of the sacred texts, which was no longer quite intelligible. He accordingly gives hundreds of rules about the Veda, but without completeness. His account of the Vedic language, taken as a whole, contains many gaps, trifles often being noticed, while important matters are omitted. In this part of his work Pãnini shows a decided incapacity to master his subject-matter, attributing to the Veda the most unbounded grammatical license, especially in interchanging or dropping inflexions.

The grammar of Pānini is a sabdānuśāsana, or 'Treatise on Words,' the fundamental principle of which is, that all nouns are derived from verbs. Starting with the simplest elements into which words can be analyzed, root, affix and termination, Pāṇini shows how nominal and verbal stems are formed from roots and complete words from stems. He at the same time indicates the functions which words acquire by the addition of formative elements and by being compounded with other words. It is a peculiarity of Pānini's word-formation, that he recognizes derivation by suffixes only. Thus when a verbal root like bhid, 'to pierce,' is used in the nominal sense of 'piercer,' he has recourse to the highly artificial expedient of assuming an imaginary suffix, for which a blank is substituted!

Yāska records that the universality of Sākatāyana's principle of nouns being derived from verbs was contested by Gārgya, who objected to the forced etymologies to which a general application of this principle led. Gārgya maintained that if aśva, 'horse,' for instance, were derived from aś, 'to travel,' not only would everything that travels be called aśva, and everything would be called after all its activities, but states of being ( $b h \bar{a} v a$ ) would be antecedent to things.

Pānini makes a concession to Gārgya's objection by excluding all words the derivation of which is difficult owing to their form or meaning, as is the case in aśva, 'horse,' go, 'cow,' and purusa, 'man.' Primary nouns of this kind had been collected before Pānini's time in a special list, in which they were often forcibly derived from verbal roots by means of a number of special suffixes. The first of these suffixes being $u$, technically called $u n$, the whole list of these formations received the name of unādis ('beginning with un'). Pānini refers to all such words as ready-made stems, the formation of which does not concern him.

The unādi list which Pānini had before him survives, in a somewhat modified form, as the Unādi Sūtra with the commentary (dating probably from the thirteenth century) of Ujjvaladatta. In its extant shape this Sūtra contains some late words, such as dīnāra (Lat. denarius), a noun which cannot have come into use in India much before 200 A. D.

The proper object of Pānini's grammar being derivation, he does not deal with phonetics as such, but only incidentally as affecting word-formation or the combination of words in a sentence. He therefore does not give general rules of phonetic change, but as his analyses, unlike those of the Unādi Sūtra, move within the bounds of probability and are generally correct, being in many cases confirmed by comparative philology, he actually did discover several phonetic laws. The most important of these was the interchange of vowels with their strong grades guna and vrddhi (cp. § 17), which Grimm called ablaut, and which comparative grammar proves to go back to the original Indo-European language. The other great phonetic discoveries of the Indians had already been made by Pānini's predecessors, the authors of the original Prātiśakkhyas, the phonetic treatises of the Vedic schools.

Pānini also treats of the accents of words in derivation and in the sentence, but with syntax in our sense he does not deal, perhaps owing to the simplicity of the sentence in Sanskrit.

The general plan of Pānini's work is as follows:-Book i. contains the technical terms of the grammar and its rules of interpretation; ii. deals with nouns in composition and case relations; iii. teaches how suffixes are to be attached to verbal roots; iv. and $v$. the same with regard to nominal bases ; vi. and vii. describe the accent and phonetic changes in the formation of words, while viii. treats of words in a sentence. This general plan is, however, constantly interrupted by single rules or by a series of rules, which were added by the author as a result of progressive grammatical studies, or transferred from their natural context to their present position in order to save words.

In formulating his rules, Pānini makes it his aim to express them in as abstract and general a way as possible. In this he occasionally goes so far as to state a general rule for a single case; while, on the other hand, he sometimes fails to bring a number of related phenomena under a single head.

In carrying out the principle of extreme conciseness which dominates his grammar, Pāṇini resorts to various devices, such as ellipse of the verb, the use of the cases in a special technical sense, and the employment of heading rules (adhikāra) which must be supplied with a number of subordinate rules that follow. By such means a whole rule can often be expressed by a single word. Thus the ablative dhātoh, literally 'after a root,' not only means 'to a root the following suffixes are attached,' but is also an adhik $\bar{\alpha} r^{\prime} a$ which extends its influence (anuvrtti) over some 540 subsequent aphorisms.

The principle of brevity is, moreover, notably applied in the invention of technical terms. Those of his terms which are full words, whether they describe the phenomenon, as sam-àsa, 'compound,' or express a category by an example, as dvi-gu ('two-cow'), 'numeral compound,' are probably all borrowed from predecessors. But most of his technical terms are arbitrary groups of letters resembling algebraic symbols. Only a few of these are abbreviations of actual words, as $i t$, 'indicatory letter,' from iti, 'thus.' Most of them are made up with great deliberation, chiefly with letters of rare occurrence in the language. Thus the letter $l$ was taken as a symbol of the personal endings of the verb; combined with a cerebral $t$ it refers to a primary tense or mood, combined with a guttural $\dot{n}$ to a secondary tense or mood. Thus lat, lit, lut, let, mean present, perfect, future, and subjunctive respectively; lañ, lun, liñ, imperfect, aorist, and potential.

Pānini's grammar begins with the alphabet arranged on scientific principles. To several of its letters is attached an it or anubandha (indicatory letter), by means of which can be formed convenient contractions (called pratyāhāra) designating different groups of letters. The vowels are arranged thus: $a$ i u-n, r l-k, e o-n, ai au-c. All the simple vowels can be expressed by $a k$, the simple vowels together with the diphthongs by $a c$. As the last letter in Sanskrit is $h$, written $h a-l$, the entire alphabet is expressed by the symbol $a l$ (much as if we were to do so by $a z$ ). Indicatory letters are also attached to suffixes, roots, and words to indicate certain rules applicable to them, thus aiding the memory as well as promoting brevity.

There are two appendices to Pānini's work, to which it refers. One of these is the Dhätu-pātha, or 'List of Verbal Roots,' arranged according to conjugational classes, the mode of inflexion being expressed by accents and indicatory letters. It is a striking fact about this collection, that out of the 2000 roots it contains, only about 800 have been found in Sanskrit literature, while it omits about fifty Vedic verbs. The second appendix is the Gana-pātha, or 'List of Wordgroups.' Pānini gives rules applicable to the whole of a group by referring to its first word. This collection, which contains many words occurring in Vedic works only, has been less well preserved than the Dhātu-pāṭha. The Gañas were metrically arranged in the Gana-ratna-mahodadhi, a work composed by Vardhamāna in II $40 \mathrm{~A} . \mathrm{D}$.

Pānini's work very early acquired a canonical value, and has continued, for at least 2000 years, to be the standard of usage and the foundation of grammatical studies in Sanskrit. On account of the frequent obscurity of a work which sacrifices every consideration to brevity, attempts soon began to be made to explain it, and, with the advance of grammatical knowledge, to correct and supplement its rules. Among the earliest attempts of this kind was the formulation, by unknown authors, of rules of interpretation (paribhāṣā), which Pānini was supposed to have followed in his grammar, and which are mentioned by his successor Kātyāyana. A collection of such rules was made in the eighteenth century by Nägoji-bhatta in his Paribhāsendu-śekhara.

Next we have the Vārttikas, or 'notes' (from vrtti, 'explanation'), of Kātyāyana, on $\mathbf{1 2 4 5}$, or nearly one-third, of Pānini's aphorisms. That grammarian belonged to the Deccan, and probably lived in the third century b. C. When Kātyāyana's criticism shows him to differ from Pānini, an oversight on the part of the latter is usually to be assumed; but in estimating the extent of such oversights, the fact should not be left out of account that Kātyāyana lived both later and in a part of India which was far removed from that of Pānini. Other grammarians made similar notes on Pānini both before and after Kātyāyana; subsequent to the latter's time are the numerous grammatical Kārikās or comments in metrical form.

All this critical work was collected by Patañjali in his extensive Mahābhāsya, or 'Great Commentary,' with many supplementary notes of his own. His discussions take the form of a kind of dialogue, and deal with 1713 rules of Pānini. Patañjali's work probably dates, as has been said, from the latter half of the second century в. с. The Mahābhāsya in its turn was commented upon in the seventh century by Bhartrhari in his Vākyapadīya, which is concerned with the philosophy of grammar, and by Kaiyata probably in the thirteenth century.

About $65^{\circ}$ A. D. was composed another commentary on Pānini, the Kāśikā Vṛtti, or 'Benares Commentary,' the first five books being the work of Jayāditya, the last three of Vāmana, Based on a deterioratel text of Pāṇini, it contains some errors, but has the merit of conciseness and lucidity. Though much shorter than the Mahābhäsya, it is particularly valuable as the oldest commentary on Pānini that explains every Sütra. The examples which it gives in illustration are, as a rule, derived from older interpreters. To do so was a usual practice ; even Patañjali speaks of stock examples as mürdhābhisikta, or 'consecrated' (lit. 'sprinkled on the head ').

In the fifteenth century Rämacandra endeavoured in his Prakriyā-kaumudī, or 'Moonlight of Method,' to make Pāṇini's grammar more intelligible by a more practical arrangement of its matter. The Siddhānta-kaumudi, or 'Moonlight of Settled Conclusions,' in which Bhattoji in the seventeenth century disposed Pānini's Sūtras in a more natural order, had a similar aim. An abridgement of the latter work, entitled Laghu-(siddhānta-)kaumudī by Varadaräja, is commonly employed as a useful introduction to the native system of grammar: A belief in the infallibility of Pānini, which still prevails among the Pandits, has often led the above-named interpreters, from Patañjali onwards, to give forced explanations of Pāṇini's rules.

Other later grammarians, not belonging to the school of Pānini, are on the whole of little importance. While adducing hardly any new material, they are much less complete than Pānini, as they leave out whole sections, such as rules about Vedic forms and the accent. Introducing no new points of view, they aim solely at inventing technical devices, or at presenting their subject in a more lucid and popular form. Among these non-Päninian grammars may be mentioned the names of Candra, who flourished about 480 A.D.; the pseudoSākatāyana, who was posterior to the Kāsikā Vrtti; and the most important of them, Hemacandra, who belongs to the twelfth century. The Kātantra of Šarvavarman, whose terminology has striking affinities with older works, especially the Prātisākhyas, seems to have been the most influential of these later grammars. It served as a model for the standard Pāli grammar of Kaccāyana, and the native grammars of the Dravidians and Tibetans. Vopadeva's Mugdha-bodha, or ' Enlightenment of the Ignorant,' a very technical work dating from the thirteenth century, has been, down to the present day, the Sanskrit grammar chiefly used in Bengal. Lastly, we have the Sarasvatī Sūtra, or 'Aphorisms of the Sarasvatī Grammar,' by an unknown author, a work distinguished by lucidity as well as conciseness.

There are, besides, a few works dealing with special departments of the subject, which form contributions of some importance to our knowledge of Sanskrit grammar. The Phit Sūtra of Sântanava, composed later than the Mahābhäsya, but at a time when there was still a living knowledge of the ancient accent, gives rules for the accentuation of nouns, not according to the analytical method of Pānini, but with reference to the finished word. As Pānini does not determine the gender of individual words, though he treats of feminine suffixes and does not ignore differences of gender in general, some value attaches to works dealing with the subject as a whole, especially to Hemacandra's Lingānusāsana, or 'Treatise on Gender.'

The first Sanskrit grammar ever written by a European was composed by the German missionary Heinrich Roth, a native of Augsburg, who died at Agra in 1668, as Superior of the Jesuit College in that city. This work was never published, but the manuscript is still preserved at Rome. There is, however, in Kircher's China Illustrata (Amsterdam, 1667), pp. 162-163, a contribution by Roth, which contains an account of the Sanskrit alphabet with four tables in Devanāgarī characters (undoubtedly the earliest specimens of that script to be found in any printed book $)^{1}$.

The first printed European Sanskrit grammar was that of Paulinus a Sancto Bartholomaeo, written in Latin and published at Rome in 1790. This work was based partly on the MS. material left by a German Jesuit missionary named Hanxleden, who died in $173^{2}$. The first scientific grammar aiming at completeness was that of Colebrooke, published in 1805 . It was followed by that of Carey in 1806. The former work was based on Pānini, the latter on Vopadeva. The earliest Sanskrit grammar written on European principles, and therefore of most influence on the study of Sanskrit at the beginning of the last century, was that of Wilkins (1808). The most notable among his successors have been Bopp, Benfey, and Whitney. Bopp's grammar was important owing no less to its lucidity than to its philological method. Benfey was the first to combine with the traditional material of Pānini a treatment of the peculiarities of the Vedic and the Epic dialects. He also largely used the aid of comparative philology for the explanation of Sanskrit forms. The American scholar Whitney was the first to attempt an historical grammar of Sanskrit by treating the Vedic language exhaustively, and explaining from it the development of classical Sanskrit. The first grammar treating Sanskrit entirely from the comparative point of view is the excellent work of Prof. J.Wackernagel, of which, however, only the first part, dealing with phonology, has yet appeared.

The best known of the Sanskrit grammars used in this country during the last half-century are those of Monier Williams and Max Müller. Both of these contain much matter derived from the native system which is of no practical utility, but rather an impediment, to the student of literary Sanskrit. All such matter has been rejected in the present work, not from any prejudice against the Hindu grammarians, but solely with the intention of facilitating the study of the subject by supplying only those grammatical data of the actual language which have been noted by scholars down to the present time. If the book should not appear in regard to terminology and method to be sufficiently emancipated from the influence of native tradition, the defect is due to the fear of rejecting, along with what is undoubtedly useless, that which might prove of practical value to the student in acquiring a thorough knowledge of Sanskrit grammar.

SANSKRIT GRAMMAR

THE DEVANĀGARĪ LETTERS

THE ALPHABET

1. Sanskrit (from sam-skṛta, ' elaborated ') is that later phase of the literary language of ancient India which is described in the grammar of Pānini. In phonology it is practically identical with the earlier Vedic language. In accidence it has become different from the dialect of the Vedas by a process, not of growth, but of decay; a large number of older forms, including the whole subjunctive mood and all the many infinitives save one, having entirely disappeared. The chief modifications are in the vocabulary, which has been greatly extended by the accession of new words and new meanings. The difference, on the whole, between the Vedic and the Sanskrit language may be taken to be much about the same as that between Homeric and Attic Greek.
2. From the Vedic language are descended the popular dialects called Prākxit. The oldest of these is the Pāli, which is preserved in King Aśoka's rock inscriptions of the third century в.с., and which is the sacred language of the Southern Buddhists. From the ancient Prākrits, preserved in inscriptions, entire literary works, and parts of Sanskrit plays, are descended most of the dialects of modern India, Panjābī, Sindhī, Gujarātī, Marāṭhī, Hindì (which, with an admixture of Arabic and Persian, is called Urdū or Hindūstānī), Bihārī, and Bengālī. The Dravidian dialects of Southern India, Telugu, Tamil, Canarese, Malayālam, though non-Aryan, are full of Sanskrit words, and their literature is dominated by Sanskrit models.
3. A form of Semitic writing was introduced into the northwest of India by way of Mesopotamia, probably about 700 в.с. The earliest Indian adaptation of this script, known from coins and inscriptions of the third century B.c., is called Brāhmi or 'writing of Brahmā.' Though written from left to right it bears clear traces of having once been written from right to left. From the Brāhmī are descended all the later Indian scripts. The most important of these is the Nāgarī ('urban 'writing) or Deva-nāgarī ('divine city' writing), which assumed its characteristic shape about the eighth century A.D. Sanskrit is most commonly written in Devanāgari in Northern India, but other modern Indian characters, such as Bengāali, are also employed in their respective provinces; while in the non-Aryan south the Dravidian scripts are regularly used.
4. The Devanāgarī alphabet consists of forty-eight letters, thirteen vowels, and thirty-five consonants (including the pure nasal called Anusvāra, and the spirant called Visarga). These represent every sound of the Sanskrit language. The arrangement of the alphabet in the table on p. 2 is that adopted by the ancient Indian grammarians, and being thoroughly scientific, has been followed by Europeau scholars as the lexicographical order in their Sanskrit dictionaries ${ }^{1}$.

[^1]5. The vowels are written differently according as they are initial or follow a consonant. They are-
(a) Simple vowels :

& \text { च्रा }(T) \bar{a}, \quad \text { रू }(T) \bar{i}, \quad \text { ऊ }(\Omega) \bar{u} \text {, न्ट्ट }\left({ }_{\varepsilon}\right) \bar{p} .
\end{aligned}

(b) Diphthongs:

the place of the nasal into which it might be changed. Thus sam-ga would be found beside sanga. Similarly the unchangeable Visarga (before a hard guttural or labial) has precedence of every other consonant. Thus antahkaraña and antahpura follow anta and precede anta-ka. But the changeable Visarga (before a sibilant) occupies the place of the sibilant into which it might be changed.
${ }^{1}$ There is no sign for medial (or final) ă, as this vowel is considered to be inherent in every consonant, $\theta . \mathrm{g} . \boldsymbol{\sigma}=\mathrm{ka}$.
${ }^{2}$ Medial or (final) $\check{1}$ is written before the consonant after which it is pronounced, e.g. कि ki. Originally both $\check{1}$ and $\overline{1}$ were written with curves to the left and the right respectively above the consonant; but for the sake of clear distinction were later prolonged with a vertical downward stroke, the one on the left, the other on the right.
${ }^{3}$ Though based, in nearly all cases, on ăi and ău respectively, e and $o$ are at present, and have been since at least 300 B. C., pronounced as simple long vowels.

4 The medial forms of the vowels are in combination with consonants, e.g. क्त $k$, written as follows: क $k a$, का $k \bar{a}$, कि ki, की $k \bar{i}$, कु $k u$, कू $k \bar{u}$, क्ष $k r, ~ क ा ~ k \bar{r}, ~ क ा ~ k l, ~ क े ~ k e, ~ क े ~ k a i, ~ क ो ~ k o, ~$ को kau. In combination with $\mathbb{E} r$, ŭ and $\bar{u}$ are written at the side instead of below: T r, रु, rū.

6．The following table contains a complete classification（known to Pānini）of all the sounds of the Devanāgarī alphabet according to the organs employed in their articulation．

| Labials | प p | फ p－h | ब b | भ b－h | म m | व v | ：$h^{5}$ | उ u ऊ $\overline{\mathrm{u}}$ |  |

${ }^{1}$ The palatals produced from original gutturals，under the influence of palatal vowels，were transliterated by Max Müller with italicized gutturals．
${ }^{2}$ This term is a translation of the old native Sanskrit word mūrdhanya，＇produced in the head＇（mūrdhan），i．e．on the roof or highest part of the mouth，which is nearest the head．This class of sounds is also often called linguals（since Bopp）．They are for the most part derived from original dentals under the influence of a neighbouring cerebral r －sound．
${ }^{3}$ ह $h$ is not a semivowel，but the soft breathing corresponding to the guttural vowel ت्र a，which，unlike the other simple vowels， has no semivowel of its own．It is identical with the second half of the soft aspirates g －h，\＆c．

4 ：h（Visarga）the hard breathing，corresponding to the second half of the hard aspirates $k-h, & c$ ．，is regularly used at the ond of a word in pausā for s or r ，and before hard gutturals and labials．In the latter case modifications of it called Jihvāmūlíya （＇pronounced at the root of the tongue＇），a guttural spirant （ $=$ Germ．ch），and Upadhmānīya（＇pronounced with a breathing
7. Anusvāra ('after-sound '), the unmodified nasal following (or rather accompanying) a vowel and differing from the nasals given in column 5 , is written with a dot above the letter which it follows, e.g. कं kam. Before ल 1 it is sometimes written ${ }^{*}$, e.g. कัँ kam. Its proper place was originally before the sibilants and ह b, whence its use extended. From Anusvāra is sometimes distinguished Anunāsika ('accompanied by a nasal'), the nasalized vowel.
8. In writing the Devanāgarī alphabet, the distinctive portion of each letter is written first, then the perpendicular, and lastly the horizontal line, e.g. r, d, त ta.
9. Consonants to be pronounced without any vowel after them, are marked below with an oblique stroke, from left to right, called Virāma ('stop'). Thus ak must be written च्रक्.

The only marks of punctuation are the sign $\mid$ at the end of a half-verse or sentence, and the sign II at the end of a verse or paragraph.

The elision of \# $\quad$ a at the beginning of a word is marked in European editions with the sign $S$ called Avagraha ('separation') ; e.g. तेडपि te 'pi for ते उर्रपि te api.

An abbreviation is indicated by the sign ${ }^{\circ}$ : thus गतम् gatam, ०तेन (ga)-tena.
10. When the five nasals are followed by consonants of their own class, they are often, to save trouble, incorrectly replaced by the sign for Anusvāra; e.g. अंकित amkita for च्रड्कित añkita; वंपित kampita for कम्पित kampita. In the same way final म् $m$ upon'), the bilabial spirant $f$, were formerly employed, but have become obsolete. They were both written $\check{\asymp}$.
${ }^{5}$ It is important to note that in the above table only the letters in columns $\mathrm{I}, 2$, and 7 are hard (surd, voiceless), while all the rest are soft (sonant, voiced).
at the end of a sentence is often wrongly written with Anusvāra： thus ॠहं aham for 习ह्रम् aham．In both cases the pronunciation remains unaffected by the substitution．

11．If a consonant is followed immediately by one or more consonauts，they are all written in a group；e．g．च्रत्व atka； कार्स्न्य kārtsnya．The general principle followed in the formation of these conjunct consonants，is to drop the perpendicular and horizontal lines except in the last letter．Most of these combina－ tions，with the exception of those transliterated in thick type in the suljoined list，may be recognized without difficulty．

12．The following are the most noticeable modifications of simple consonants when written in conjunction with others ：－
1．The component parts are indistinguishable in ज्ञ jña＝ज्－+ ；

2．A horizontal line is sometimes substituted for the distinctive portion of त $t$ and for the loop of $\boldsymbol{\sigma} k$ ；$\theta . g$ ．त्त $t t a=$ त् ＋त；ता $k t a=$ क्म + त．
3．पू st is often written ㅍ् when followed by a consonant or by

I $r$ preceding a consonaut or the vowel च r r is written with＂placed at the top of the letter before which it is to be sounded；e．g．च्र्र्क arka，वर्ष्म varṣma；निर्च्टाति：nirṛtih． This sign for $\mathbb{T}$ is placed to the right of any other marks at the top of the same letter；$\theta . g$ ．ॠर्वर्कदू arkendū．

These figures were borrowed from the Indians by the Arabs, who introduced them into Europe.

Pronunciation.

15. The following rules should be noted:-
16. The vowels are pronounced as in Italian. The short $\bar{\gamma}$ a, however, has rather the sound of the so-called neutral vowel in English, like the u in 'but.' It had this sound (in Sanskrit samprrta, 'closed') at least as early as 300 в. c.
17. The aspiration of the consonants should be heard distinctly. Thus ख $=k-h$ in 'ink-horn'; थ $=t-h$ in 'pot-house'; फ $=\mathrm{p}-\mathrm{h}$ in 'topheavy'; घ $=\mathrm{g}-\mathrm{h}$ in 'loghouse'; ध=d-h in ' madhouse '; $\boldsymbol{\text { H }}=\mathrm{b}-\mathrm{h}$ in 'Hobhouse.'
18. The guttural ङ $n \mathrm{n}$ has the sound of ng in 'king.'
19. The palatals च $c$ and $\bar{j} j$ have the sound of ch in ' church,' and of j in 'join.'
20. The cerebrals are pronounced similarly to the so-called dentals $\mathrm{t}, \mathrm{d}, \mathrm{n}$ in English, the tongue being, however, turned rather further back against the roof of the mouth. The dentals in Sanskrit are produced by bringing the tip of the tongue against the very edge of the front teeth. In the days of the ancient Indian phoneticians they were produced at the back of the upper front teeth.

6. The dental स् s sounds like 8 in 'sin,' the cerebral षs s like sh in 'shun'; while the palatal $\mathbb{I}^{2}$ s is produced midway between the two, being the sibilant pronounced in the same place as the spirant in the German 'ich.'
7. The Visarga, being a final hard breathing, is in India generally pronounced as a hard h , followed by a short echo of the preceding vowel.
8. The Anusvāra, being a pure nasal unmodified by any stop, is sounded like n in the French ' bon.'
9. Since about the beginning of our era Sanskrit has been pronounced with a stress accent (instead of the earlier musical accent) much in the same way as Latin. Thus the stress is laid on a long penultimate (Kālidása), on the antepenultimate when followed by a short syllable (Himálaya), and on the fourth from the end when two short syllables follow (kấrayati).

CHAPTER II

RULES OF SANDHI OR THE COMBINATION

OF LETTERS

16. In Sanskrit every sentence is treated as one unbroken chain of syllables. The coalescence of final and initial letters is called Sandhi ('putting together '). The rules of Sandhi are based chiefly on the avoidance of hiatus and on assimilation.

The absence of Sandhi is in many cases sufficient to mark the stops which in other languages have to be marked by punctuation.
Though both are based on the same phonetic principles, it is essential, in order to avoid confusion, to distinguish external Sandhi, which determines the changes of final and initial letters of words, from internal Sandhi, which applies to the final letters of verbal roots and nominal bases when followed by certain suffixes or terminations.
a. The rules of external Sandhi apply, with few exceptions (which are survivals of an earlier stage of external Sandhi), to words forming compounds, and to the final letters of nominal bases before the Pada or middle terminations म्यास् bhyām, भिस् bhis, भ्यस् bhyas, सु su (71), or before secondary suffixes beginuing with any cousonant except य् $y$.

External Sandhi.  Classification of Vowels.

17. Vowels are divided into-

18. Guṇa vowels: च्र a; एe; चंर्रो 0 ; चर्धर्ar; च्रल, al.

a. Guna ('secondary form') is the strengthening of the simple vowels by a preceding تन्र a (which leaves ت्र a itself unchanged); Vrddhi ( ${ }^{\text {increase }}$ ') is the further strengthening of Guṇa vowels by means of another F्र a ${ }^{1}$.
${ }^{1}$ In this vowel gradation, as Comparative Philology shows, the Guna vowel was the starting-point, the simple vowel having been reduced from it by loss of accent, while Vṛddhi is a lengthened variety of Guṇa.
B.I. Vowels which are liable to be changed into semivowels: द्; i, latter half of which is द्र or $\mathbf{3} \mathrm{u}$ ): liquid vowels.
19. Those which are not: च्र a, त्रा $\bar{a}$.

Combination of Final and Initial Vowels.

18. If the same simple vowel (short or long) occurs at the end and beginning of words, the result is a long vowel ; e.g. सा अ्रपि ई्र्चते sā api îkşate becomes सापीचतते sāpikşate; किंतु उदेति kiṃtu udeti becomes किंतूदेति kiṃtūdeti; कर्तृ ₹हजु kartr rju becomes कर्तॄॄजु kartịju.

19. च्र a and \#्रा $\bar{a}-$

(a) coalesce with a following simple liquid vowel to Gunaa; e.g. तव द्न्त्रः tava indrah = तवेन्द्रः tavendraḥ; सा उत्वा sā $u k t v a \overline{=}=$ सोत्वा soktvā; सT ₹ृद्घि: sā rृddhiḩ = सर्घि: sarddhị̣.
(b) coalesce with Guṇa vowels to Vraddhi; e.g. तव एव tava eva = तवैव tavaiva; सा #्रोषधि: sà oṣadhiḥ=सीषधि: sausadhị̆.
(c) are absorbed by Vradhi vowels ; e.g. सा #त्रैत्सुक्यवती sā autsukyavatī = सौत्मुक्यवती sautsukyavatī.
20. A simple liquid vowel followed by any other vowel or by a diphthong is changed into its semivowel; e.g. दधि च्रन dadhi atra= द्ध्यन dadhy atra; कर्तृ उत kartr uta= कर्नुत kartr uta; मधु द्व madhu iva=मध्विव madhv iva; नदी अ्रर्थम् nadī artham = नद्यर्थम् nadyartham.
21. The Guna vowels ए e and #्रो 0-
(a) remain unchauged before न्र a, which is elided : ते च्रपि te api = ते sपि to 'pi; सो श्रपि so api $=$ सो ऽपि so 'pi.
(b) become # a (through ت्रय् ay and ت्रव्-av, which drop the semivowel) before every other vowel (or diphthoug); सखे

द्ह sakhe iha= सर द्ह sakha iha; प्रभो एशि prabho ehi= प्रभ एहि prabha ehi.
22. The Vŗddhi vowels iे ai and औ au respectively become ت्रा $\bar{a}$ (through ت्राय् $\bar{a} y$ ) and उ्राव् $\bar{a} v$ (the semivowel not being dropped in this case) before every vowel (or diphthong) : श्रिये च्र्थ: śriyai arthaḥ = श्रिया चर्ण: śriyā arthaḥ ; तौ द्रति tau iti= ताविति tāv iti.
a. The (secondary) hiatus occasioned by the dropping of $य \mathrm{y}$ and व v in the above three cases ( $2 \mathrm{I} b$ and 22 ) remains.

Irregular Vowel Sandhi.

23. When a preposition ending in हत्र a or च्रा $\bar{a}$ is followed by a verb beginning with ₹ F , the two vowels coalesce to च्रार्त्र : उप नट्टषति upa ṛsati = उपार्षति upārṣati; च्रा ₹हृच्छत्रति ā ṛcchati = ध्रार्च्छति ärcchati.

Absence of Vowel Sandhi.

24. Interjectional particles consisting of or ending in vowels, such as च्रा $\bar{a}$, दू $i$, उ u, हे he, च्रो aho, are not liable to Sandhi: दून्द्र i indra, 'O Indra'; च्रा एवम् $\bar{a}$ evam, 'is it so indeed?' च्रहो च्रपे हि aho apehi, 'Oh, go away.'
25. The vowels द्रू i, ऊi ū, एe, when dual terminations, nominal or verbal, remain unchanged before vowels (汤 a not being elided after this dual ए e); they are called Pragrhya ('separate'). The final of छ्रमी amī, a nom. plural (of the pronoun ₹्रसौ asau, II2), is treated in the same way.
E.g. कवी दूमौ kavī imau, 'these two poets'; साधू द्मौ sādhū imau, 'these two merchants'; विद्ये द्रमे vidye ime, 'these two sciences'; याचेते च्रर्धम् yācete artham, 'they two ask for money'; シ्री #्रम्वा: amī aśvāḥ, ' those horses.'
26. In the Epics, the law books, and other works not strictly conforming to the classical standard, vowel Saudhi is seldom applied between the first and second line (Pāda) of a hemistich.

Combination of Final and Initial Consonants.

27. The rules of Sandhi are only applicable after the final consonant of a word has been reduced to one of the nine consonants which are allowable at the end of a word in paus $\bar{a}$, viz.:

\text { क् } k, & \text { ट् } t, & \text { त् } t, & \text { प्p } \\
\text { ङ् } \mathrm{n}, & \text { <ा } n, & \text { न्: } n, & \text { म् } m

The thirty-four consonants given in the table (6) are reduced to these nine, as follows :

A final must be hard and unaspirated, the palatals (including by ट्, $t$, स् $s$ and TY by Visarga, while य. $y$, ल् $l$, and व् $v$ do not occur. Thus the second, third, and fourth columns, as well as the second line (the palatals), disappear entirely, leaving only four tenues in the first, and the corresponding four nasals in the fifth, while of the rest only Visarga remains.
28. No word may end in more than one consonant, except when T् $r$ precedes a final क्म $k$, ट् $t$, त् $t$, प् $p$, which is radical (or substituted for a radical) and not a suffix. In the case of all other combinations the final letter or letters must be dropped till only one, which is allowable as a final, remains. Thus अवन्त्स् bhavant-s becomes भवन् bhavan, 'being'; च्रबिभर्त् abibhar-t= च्रबिभ: abibhab, 'he carried' (त् t is a suffix) ; but ऊर्क् ūrk, 'strength' (क्ष k substituted for radical ज.j) ; अमार्ट् amārṭ, 'he wiped,' from मृज् mrj (ट् t substituted for radical ज $j$ ).

Classification of Consonants.

29. Place or organ of articulation.

r. The throat, the palate, the roof of the mouth, the teeth, the lips, and the nose are called the places or organs of articulation.
2. By contact between the tongue and the fonr places-throat, palate, roof, teeth-the guttural, palatal, cerebral, and dental consonants are formed. Labial consonants are formed by contact between the lips.
3. In forming the nasals of the five classes, the breath partially passes through the nose while the tongue or the lips are in the position for articulating the corresponding tenuis. The real Anusvāra is formed in the nose only, while the tongue is in the position for forming the particular vowel which the Anusvāra accompanies.
4. The semivowels य $y$, र $r$, ब 1 , व $v$ are palatal, cerebral, dental, and labial respectively. They are described by the old Indian grammarians as produced by partial or imperfect contact of the tongue with the organ of articulation. ब 1 often interchanges with or is derived from $\mathbf{T} \mathbf{r}$.
5. The three sibilants are hard spirants produced by partial contact of the tongue with the palate, roof, and teeth respectively. Sanskrit has not preserved any of the corresponding soft sibilants (English z, French j).
6. ह h and : h are respectively soft and hard spirants produced without any contact, and articulated in the position of the vowel which precedes or follows. ह h occurs only before soft letters, corresponding to the second half of the soft aspirates ( $\mathrm{g}-\mathrm{h}, \& \mathrm{c}$.); Visarga occurs only after vowels and before certain hard consonants, corresponding to the second half of the hard aspirates ( $\mathbf{k}-\mathrm{h}$, \&c.). In India Visarga is usually articulated as a hard $h$, followed by a very short echo of the preceding vowel; e.g. क: kah $=\mathrm{kah}^{2}$, कवि: kaviḥ = kavih ${ }^{\text {i }}$; 흐तु: ṛtuḥ= rtuh $^{\mathrm{u}}$ 。

30. Quality of consonants.

Consonants are-

1. Either hard (surd, voiceless): columns $\mathbf{I}, 2,7$ in the table, p. 6;

Or soft (sonant, voiced) : all the rest (columns 3, 4, 5, 6) and Anusvāra (besides all the vowels and diphthongs).
2. Either aspirated: columns 2, 4, 7 , besides ह्, $h$ and: h;

Or unaspirated: all the rest.
Hence the change of च् c to क्त k is a change of place (palatal to guttural), and that of च् c to ज् j is a change of quality (hard to soft) ; while the change of च् c to ग् g (hard palatal to soft guttural), or of त् $t$ to ज् $j$ (hard dental to soft palatal) is one of both place and quality.
31. It is essential to remember that consonant Sandhi cannot be applied till finals have been reduced to one of the nine allowable letters (27). The latter are then modified without reference to their etymological value (except partially in the case of Visarga). Only six of these finals occur at all frequently, viz. क् $k$, त् $t$, न् $n$, प् $p$, म् $m$, and Visarga. The changes which final consonants undergo are most conveniently treated with reference to (I) their quality, (II) their place or organ.

I. Changes of Quality.

32. Final consonants must be soft before soft initials, and hard before hard initials.
a. This rule affects only the five final hard consonants (क्ष k , ट् t , त्र t , प् p , and: h.), the four nasals not being liable to changes of quality (but two of them, न् $n$, म् $m$, are liable to changes of place, like the two hard sounds त् $t$ and Visarga : 37).

Hence final क् $k$, ट् $t$, त् $t$, प् $p$ before sonants become ग् $g$, ड् $\frac{d}{}$, ढु $d$, ब् $b$ respectively; e.g.
क्र k : सम्यक् उत्तम् = सम्यगुत्तम् samyag uktam, 'well said '; दिक् गज: = द्गिगज: dig-gajaḥ, 'world-elephant.'
 mendicant'; परिवाट् मिनम्= परिव्राड़िम्नम् parivrād mitram, 'a mendicant friend.'
त् $t$ : सरित् झ्रच = सरिदच sarid atra, 'the river here'; महत् धनु: = महडनु: mahad-dhanuh, 'a large bow.'
प् $p$ : ककुप् च्रन $=$ ककुबन kakub atra, 'a region here'; च्रप् ज: = #्रब्न: ab-jaḥ, ' born in water.'
33. क्स $k$, ट् $t$, त् $t$, प् $p$, when followed by initial न् $n$ or म् $m$, may, and in practice almost invariably do, become the corresponding nasals ङ् n, रा $n$, न् $n$, म् m;
e. g. दिक् नागः = दिग्नायः or दिड्लागः dig-nāgaḥ or diñ-nāgaḥ, ' world-elephant'; जगत् नTच:=जगद्नाथः or जगद्माथ: jagadnāthah or jagan-nāthah, 'lord of the world'; षट् मास: = घर्मास: șaṇ-māsaḥ, ' period of six months'; प्राक् मुखः = प्राड्भुखः prāñmukhah, 'facing the east.'
34. Final त् $t$ before ल, $l$ becomes ल् $l$ (through हु $d$ ); e.g. तत् बन्धम् $=$ तझ्लब्धम् tal labdham, 'that is taken.'
35. Final न् $n$ before ल् 1 also becomes ल् $l$; but this ल् $l$ being pronounced through the nose, is written with Anusvära in the form of ${ }^{*}$;
e.g. महान् लाभ: = महाल्लँTभ: mahāँ lābhaḥ, 'great gain.'
36. As the nasals have no corresponding hard letters, they remain unchanged in quality before hard letters; but in several cases a sibilant or cognate hard letter is inserted between the two.

Final न् n is treated as follows:-
r. Before क् $k$, त्व $k h$, प् $p$, फ् ph it remains unchanged ;
e. $g$. बुधिमान् को $\langle$ पि buddhimān ko'pi,' a certain wise man.'
2. Before the hard palatal च् $c$, क्र ch ; cerebral ट् $t$, ठ th ; dental त् $t$, थ् th, it requires the insertion of the palatal प्र s , the cerebral ष् $s$, the dental $\mathbb{R}^{1} \mathrm{~s}^{1}$ respectively, the न् $n$ itself being changed to Anusvāra;
e. g. हसन् चकार = हसंग्चकार hasaṃs' cakāra, 'he did it laughing'; तरून् छिनत्ति $=$ तंर्रि्द्रिन्ति tarūms' chinatti, 'he cuts down the trees'; चलन् टिट्टिभ:= चलंष्टिट्टिभ: calaṃs țitțibhah, 'a moving sandpiper'; पतन् तरु: $=$ पतंस्तर्: pataṃs taruḥ, 's falling tree.'
3. Before ष्ड, it remains unchanged; before स् $s$, it may remain or insert a transitional त् $t$; before 파 $s$, it changes its place (39) ;
e.g. तान्षट् tān ṣat, 'those six'; तान्सहतं tān sahate or तान्त्सहते tānt sahate, 'he endures them.'
a. Similarly final ङ् n may remain unchanged before the three sibilants, but क् k may be inserted;
e.g. प्राङ्झेते prāñ sete or प्राङ्क्शेते prāñk śete, 'he lies eastward.'

II. Changes of Place.

37. The only four final consonants liable to change of place, as well as of quality, are the dentals त् $\mathbf{t}$ and न्ष $\mathbf{n}$, the labial म् $\boldsymbol{m}$, and Visarga.
a. The dentals become palatal and cerebral before palatals and cerebrals respectively.

[^2]b. Visarga and, to a less extent, म् $m$ adapt themselves to the organ of the following consonant.

The Dentals: त् $t$ and न् $n$.

e.g. तत् च = तच tac ca,' and that'; तत् छिनन्ति = तच्छिनच्ति tac chinatti, 'he cuts that'; तत् जायते = तज्जायते taj jāyate, 'that is born'; तत् शृ⿺辶ाति $=$ (तच्शृएोति tac śrnoti, but in practice) तच्छृए
39. Final न् $n$ before ज् $j$ and श् $\dot{s}^{2}$ becomes ज् $\tilde{n}$; e.g. तान् जयति = ताक्ज्यति tāñ jayati, 'he conquers them '; तान् शार्दूलान् = तान्शूर्द्रूलान् tāñ śārdūlān or ताऊ्छकार्दूलान् tāñ chārdūlān ${ }^{1}$, 'those tigers.'
40. Final त् t before टृ t , ठृ ṭ, ड्ड d , ढ्: $\mathrm{d} h$ (but not before ष् ṣ) is changed to a cerebral ;
e.g. एतत् उक्कुर: = एतट्ठक्षुर: etat-ṭhakkurah, 'the idol of him'; तत् डयते = तड्ड्यते taḍ dayate, 'it flies'; तत् ढौकते= तड्ड़कते taḍ đ̣haukate, 'it approaches.'
41. Final न् a before ड्- $\frac{d}{\text {, }}$ ढ् $\underset{\mathrm{d}}{ } \mathrm{h}^{3}$ is changed to सा $n \mathrm{a}$;
e.g.महान् डमर: $=$ मह्राएडमर: mahāṇ ḍamaraḥ,' a great uproar.'

Final $\bar{m}$ and Anusvāra.

42. A. Final स् $m$ followed by an initial vowel remains unchanged;
${ }^{1}$ With the further change of the initial ㅍ $s$ to the corresponding aspirate 토 ch.
${ }^{2}$ For the change of न् $n$ before the hard palatals च् c and क्र ch, see 36,2 .
${ }^{3}$ On the treatment of न् $n$ before the hard cerebrals टे $t$, ठ् th, and घ् s., see $3^{6,2,3 .}$
e. g. किम् 习习्र= किमच kim atra, "what (is) here ?"
B. Final म् $m$ is changed to Anusvāra before all consonants.
a. Before all the mutes, as well as न् n , म् m (§ 6, cols. $\mathrm{I}-5$ ), final म् $m$ may be changed to the class nasal; but this change is seldom made in European editions.
E.g.:-I. Before semivowels, sibilants, and ह् $\mathrm{h}:-$

तम् वेद = तं वेद tam veda, 'I know him'; कर्याम् रोदिति $=$ कराएं रोदिति karuṇaṇ roditi, 'he eries piteously'; मोच्र्् सेवेत=मोच्ं सेवेत moksam seveta, 'one should devote oneself to salvation'; मधुरम् हसति = मधुरं हसति madhuram hasati, 'he laughs sweetly.'
2. Before mutes and nasals :-

किम् करोषि= किं करोषि (or किङ्रोषि) kiṃ karoṣi (or kin̆ karosi), 'what doest thou ?' श्नुम् जहि = शन्तुं जहि (or शुनुन्जि) śatruṃ jahi (or śatruñ jahi), 'kill the enemy'; किम् फल््= किं फलम् (or किम्फलम् ) kiṃ phalam (or kim phalam), 'what (is) the use?' गुरूम् नमति=गुर्त नमति (or गुरूनमति) gurum namati (or gurun namati), 'he salutes the teacher'; श्रास्त्रम् मीमांसते = शा स्त्रं मीमांसते (or पास्त्रम्मीमांसते) sāstraṃ mīmāp̣sate (or śāstram mīmāmsate), 'he studies the book.'

Visarga for final स्s and Tr.

43. Visarga is the spirant to which the hard स् $s$ and the corresponding soft $\leqslant \mathbf{r}$ are reduced in.pausā.

If Visarga is followed by-
I. a hard palatal, cerebral, or dental (च् $c$, छृ ch; ट् ț, ठ् ṭh; त् $t$, घ् th), it is changed to the sibilant of the class to which the following letter belongs (म् ś, ष् ṣ, स् s);
2. 5 hard guttural or labial (क्त $k$, ख $k h$; प् $p$, फ् $p h$ ), it remains unchanged ;
3. a sibilant, it remains or it may be assimilated.

Examples:-
I. पूर्षः: चन्द्र: = पूर्याश्चन्द्रः pūrṇas candraḥ, 'the full moon'; नद्या: तीरम्= नदास्तीरम् nadyās tīram, 'the bank of the river.'
2. ततः काम: tataḥ kāmaḥ, 'thence love'; नद्या: पारम् nadyāḥ pāram, 'the opposite shore of the river.'
3. सुप्तः शिशु: suptah siśsụ or सुप्तशिश्यु: suptas sisuh, 'the child is asleep'; प्रथम: सर्गः prathamah sargaḥ or प्रथमस्सर्ग: prathamas sargah, 'the first section.'
44. Visarga (except when preceded by \#习 a or ㅍ्रा $\bar{a}$ ) if followed by a soft letter (consonant or vowel) is changed to $\mathbb{r}$; e.g. कवि: ॠ्रम्= कविरयम् kavir ayam, 'this poet'; गौ: गच्छतति = गौर्गच्छूति gaur gacchati, 'the cow walks'; वायु: वाति $=$ वायुर्वाति vāyur vāti, ' the wind blows.'
45. r. The final syllable च्रा: āḥ drops its Visarga before every vowel or soft consonant.
2. The final syllable ت; : ah—
(a) drops its Visarga before every vowel except $\overline{\not 2}$ a;
(b) before every soft consonant and before ㅋ्र a, is changed to त्रो 0 , after which ㅋ्र $a$ is elided (cp. 2I a).
Examples :-
I. च्रস्वा: च्रमी = च्रস्वा च्रमी aśvā amī, 'those horses'; च्रागता: ₹ँषय: = ت्रागता ₹ंस्यः āgatā rṣayaḥ, 'the poets have arrived '; हता: गजा: = हता गजा: hatā gajāh, ' the elephants (are) killed '; मा: भि:=माभि: mā-bhiḥ, instr. plur. of मास् mās, ' moon.'
2. (a) कुतः च्रागत: = कुत 尹्रागत: kuta āgatah,' whence come ?' क: एष:=क एष: ka esah, 'who (is) he ?' क: नटषषि:= क नटषष: karsịị, 'who (is) the poet?'
(b) अ्रानोतः दीप: = अ्रानीतो दीप: änito dippaḥ, 'the lamp (has been) brought '; मन: भि:= मनोभि: mano-blih, inst. plur. 'with minds'; नर: त्र्यम्=नरोडयम् naro 'yam, 'this man.'
46. The final syllables تᄏ: ah and \#्रा: āh in the few instances ${ }^{1}$ in which the Visarga represents an etymological $\mathbb{r}$, are not subject to the exceptions in § 45. In other words F্र: ah and general rule. Thus पुन: अ्रपि = पुनरपि punar api, 'even again'; भ्रात: देहि = भ्रातर्देंहि blrātar dehi, 'brother, give '; द्वा: एषा= द्वारेषा dvār eṣā, 'this door.'
47. I $r$ followed by $\mathbb{r}$ is always dropped, a preceding short vowel being lengthened;
e. g. विधु: राजते = विधू राजते vidhū räjate, 'the moon shines'; पुनः रोगी=पुना रोगी punā rogī, 'ill again.'
48. The two pronouns स: saḥ, 'that,' and एषः esah, 'this,' retain Visarga at the end of a sentence only, but become सो so and एषो eṣo before ت्र a ( $45,2, b$ ); e.g. स: दढाति $=$ स दढाति sa dadāti, 'he gives'; स: द्न्द्र्: $=$ स द्न्त्र्: sa Indrah, 'that Indrah '; but स: ت्रभवत्= सोऽभवत् so 'bhavat, ' he was '; मृतः स: mrtah sah, 'he (is) dead.'
49. भो: bhoh, an irregular contracted vocative (for hhavas, used as an interjection) of भबत् bhavat, 'your honour,' drops its Visarga before all vowels and soft consonants;
e.g. भो: ईंशान $=$ भो ईशशान bho issāna, ' $O$ lord'; भो: देवा: = भो देवा: bho devāh, ' $O$ gods'; but भो: केत्त: $=$ भोग्क्केत्त: bhoś chettah, ' 0 cutter.'
a. The same rule applies to the contracted vocative भगो: bhagoh (for bhagavas) from भगवत् bhagavat, 'adorable one.'
50. Nouns ending in radical $\mathbb{r}$ retain the $\mathbb{r}$ before the सु su of the loc. pl.; e.g. वार् + सु $=$ वार्षु vār-s.su, 'in the waters.'
a. अ्रहा ahar and स्वर् svar also retain their $\mathbb{r}$ when compounded with पति pati: छ्रह्र्पतिः ahar-patị̣, 'lord of day,' स्वर्पति: svar-patih, 'lord of heaven.'

Doubling of Consonants.

51. 要 ch at the beginning of a word may always be doubled after vowels; it must be after a short vowel and after the particles अ्रा $\bar{a}$ and मा mā ;
e.g. तव हाया=तव च्छाया tava cchāyā, 'thy shade'; अ्रा कादर्यति = अ्राच्छाद्यति ācchādayati, 'he covers'; मा छिद्त्= मा च्छिद्त् mā cchidat, 'let him not cut'; but बदरीकाया badarīchāyā or बद्रीच्छाया badarī-cchāyā,' shade of jujube trees.'
a. In the body of a word the doubling takes place after all vowels: द्चत्छति icchati, 'he wishes'; स्लेच्छ: mlecchah, 'barbarian.'
52. Final ङ í and ज् $n$, preceded by a short vowel and followed by any vowel (or diphthong), are doubled ;
 ward'; धावन् ₹्रস्व: = धावन्नग्वः: dhāvann aśvaḥ, 'a running horse '; but कवीन् ज्राहयस्व kavīn āhvayasva ('call the poets') remains.

Initial Aspiration.

53. Initial ㅍ् ś, not followed by a hard consonant, may be, and in practice nearly always is, changed to the corresponding aspirate क्ष ch after च् c and $\overline{\text { In }}$;

ө.g. तच् सोकेन = तच्कोकेन tac chlokena, 'by that verse'; धावन् शूश्र: = धावज्क्रशः dhāvañ chaśah, 'a running hare.'
a. The same change is allowed after क्, $k$, ट् $t$, प् $p$, though not usually applied: वाक्शूतम् vāk-śatam may become वाक्क्त्तम् vāk-chatam, 'a hundred speeches.'
54. Initial ह् h , after softening a preceding क्व k , ट् t, त् t , प् p , is changed to the soft aspirate of the preceding letter; e.g. वाक् हि = वागिघ väg ghi, 'for speech;' तत् हि= तद्वि tad dhi, 'for that.'
55. If घ् gh, ध् dh, भ् bh, or ह् h are at the end of a (radical) syllable beginning with ग् g , द् d , ब् b , and lose their aspiration as final or otherwise, the initial consonants are aspirated by way of compensation ${ }^{1}$;
e.g. दुह् duh, 'a milker,' becomes धुक् dhuk ; बुध् budh, 'wise,' becomes भुत् bhut.

Internal Sandhi.

56. The rules of internal Sandhi apply to the finals of nominal and verbal bases before all terminations of declension (except those beginning with consonants of the middle base : 73a) and conjugation, before primary suffixes, and before secondary suffixes beginning with a vowel or य् $y$. They are best acquired by learning paradigms of nouns and verbs first. Many of these rules agree with those of external Sandhi ; the most important of those which differ from external Sandhi are here added.
Final Vowels.

57. In many cases before a vowel (and even the same vowel) to द्रT् ir (cp. 18 and 20);
e.g. धी dhī $+\overline{1} i=$ धियि dhiy-i, loc. sing., 'in thought'; भू + द् $i=$ भुवि bhuv-i, 'on earth'; युयु + ङ: yu-yu + uḥ= युयुवु: yu-yuv-uḥ, 'they have joined '; गु + च्रति g̣े $+a t i=$ गिरति gir-ati, ' he swallows.'
 ई्र्त ī, after labials to ऊर् ūr; while ₹ट्ट r before य् y becomes fि ri ;
e.g. गह gशे, passive 3. sing. गीर्यते gīr-yate, 'it is swallowed'; गीर्ए: gir-ṇah, past pass. part., 'swallowed '; प्ع pr., pass. pres. पूर्चते pūr-yate, 'it is filled'; past part., पूर्एः: pūr-ṇaḥ, 'filled'; क्ष kr, pass. pres. क्रियते kri-yate, 'it is done.'
58. ए e, एे ai, च्रो $o$, च्री au are changed before suffixes beginning with vowels or य् $y$ to च्रय् ay, च्राय् āy, ॠ्रव् av, च्राव् $\overline{\mathrm{a}} \mathrm{v}$ respectively (cp. 21, 22);
e.g. ने + त्रन = नयन nay-ana, 'eye'; रै $+\mathbb{\text { ए }}=$ रये rāy-e, 'for wealth'; गो + ए= गवे gav-e, 'for a cow'; नौ + ت्र:=नाव: nāv-aḥ, 'ships'; गो + य: = गव्य: gav-yah, ' relating to cows.'
59. द् $i$ and उ $u$ preceding radical $\leqslant r$ or व् $v$ are generally lengthened when a consonant follows;
e.g. दिव्+ यति = दीव्यति dīv-ya-ti, 'he plays'; पुर् + भि: $=$ पूर्भि: pür-bhiḥ, 'by cities' (8r).

Final Consonants.

61. The most notable divergence from external Sandhi is the unchangeableness of the final consonants of verbal and nominal bases before terminations beginning with vowels, semivowels, and nasals ${ }^{1}$ (while before other letters they usually follow the rules of external Sandhi);
e.g. प्राञ्च: prāñc-aḥ, 'eastern'; वचानि vac-āni, 'let me speak,' वाच्य vāc-ya, 'to be spoken,' वच्मि vac-mi, 'I speak'; but वत्ति vak-ti, 'he speaks.'
62. Nominal or verbal bases ending in consonants, and followed by terminations consisting of a single consonant, drop the termination altogether, two consonants not being tolerated at the end of a word (28). The final consonant which remains is then treated according to the rules of external Sandhi. Thus प्रा习्् + स् prāñc +s , nom. sing., 'eastern,' becomes प्राङ्' prän (the स् s being first dropped, the palatals being changed to gutturals by 27 , and the क् k being then dropped by 28); similarly च्रदोह्ड + त्र $\mathrm{a}-$ doh $+\mathrm{t}=$ च्रधोक् $\mathrm{a}-\mathrm{dhok}(55), 3$. sing. imperf., 'he milked.'
63. Aspirates followed by auy letters except vowels, semivowels or nasals (6r) lose their aspiration;
e.g. रून्ध् + ध्वे rundh + dhve $=$ रन्द्यू rund-dhve ${ }^{2}$,'you obstruct'; लभ् + स्ये labh + sye $=$ लप्स्से lap-sye, 'I shall take'; but युधि yudh-i, 'in battle,' लोम्यः lobh-yaḥ,' to be desired.'
a. A lost soft aspirate is, if possible, thrown back before ध्व् dhv (not धि dhi), म् bh, स् s , according to 55 ;
e.g. च्रभुद्वम् a-bhud-dhvam, ' you observed,' भुঙ्झि: bhud-bhih,
${ }^{1}$ हु $d$ is assimilated before the primary suffix न -na; e.g. in च्रन्न an-na, 'food ' (for ad-na); and त् t, द् d before the secondary suffixes मत् mat and मय maya; e. g. विद्युन्मत् vidyun-mat, ' accompanied by lightning' (vidyut), and मृन्मय mrn-maya, 'consisting of clay' (mrd).
${ }^{2}$ For Sanskrit tolerates two aspirates neither at the beginning and end of the same syllable, nor at the end of one and the beginning of the next.
inst. plur., भुत्सु bhut-su, loc. plur., but दुग्धि dug-dhi, 2. sing. imper., 'milk.'
b. But it is thrown forward on a following त् $t$ and थ् th $^{1}$, which are softened;
e.g. लभ् + तः labh + tah= लब्धः lab-dhah,' 'taken'; रुन््् + च: rundh + thah = रुन्द: rund-dhaḥ, 'you two obstruct'; बन्ध् + तुम् bandh + tum = बन्द्युम् band-dhum, 'to bind.'
64. Palatals. $a$. While च् c regularly becomes guttural before consonants (cp. 6r), ज् j in some cases (the majority) becomes guttural (क्ष k, ग्, g$)^{2}$, in others cerebral (ट् t, ड् d., ष्s.); e.g. उत्त uk-ta, 'spoken' (from वच् vac); युत्त yuk-ta, 'joined ' (from युज् yuj); but राट् rāt,' $k i n g$ ' (from राज् rāj); मृड्डि mṛ̣l-ḍhi, 'wipe' (from मृज् ṃj); राष्र्र rās-t-tra (from रTज् rāj; ср. 65 ).
b. ग् ${ }^{\text {s, before }}$ ध्db, the middle terminations ( $73^{a}$ ) and the nom. स् s , usually becomes ट् t or S् $^{\mathrm{d}}$ (sometimes क्, k , ग्g); before त् t , थ् th , it always becomes ष्: ( cp .65 ), and before the स् s of the future and of other conjugational forms, always क्व k ;
e.g. from विश् vis' we get विट्सु vit-su, 'in the settlers'; विष्ट vis-ta, 'entered '; वेच्यामि velk-şyāmi (cp. 66 b), 'I shall enter.'
c. च् c and ज् $_{\mathrm{j}}$ (not श्र्'s) palatalize a following न् n ; e.g. याच् + ना $y \bar{a} \bar{c}+n \bar{a}=$ याज्ञा $y \bar{a} c-n \bar{a}$, , 'request'; यज् $+\bar{न}$ yaj $+\mathrm{na}=$ यच्च yaj-r̃a, 'sacrifice'; but प्रস्न praś-na, 'queation.'
d. The $\boldsymbol{\Phi}^{\text {ch }}$ ch of the root प्रक् prach, 'to ask,' is treated like श् s' : पृष्ट prṣ़-ta, ' asked,' प्रच्यामि prak-syāmi, 'I shall ask,' प्रश्न

[^4]praś-na, 'question.' (In external Sandhi, i.e. when final, and before middle terminations, it becomes ट् t .)
65. Cerebrals change following dentals to cerebrals (cp. 40);
e.g. दृष्+ त is + ta = दृष्ट iss-ta, ' wished'; द्विष्- धि dviṣ + dhi = द्विड्डि dviḍ-ḍhi, 'hate '; षट् + नाम् ṣat + näm = षसाम् ṣaṇ-ṇàm, ' of six.'
a. While the cerebral sibilant ष्: regularly becomes a cerebral (ट् t or ड् ḍ) in declension (cp. 79e), and before ध् dh in conjugation, it regularly becomes व्र k before an स्s in conjugation (cp. $64 b$ and $66 b$ ); द्वेच्चि dvek-ṣi, 'thou hatest,' from द्विष् dvis.
b. Change of dental न् $n$ to cerebral ㅍा $n:$ guttural, a labial, य् y , व् v , ह्~ h , or Anusvāra intervene) change a dental न् n (followed by a vowel or न् n, म् m , य् y , व्, v) to cerebral 제 $n$;
e. g. नृ + नाम् = नृएाम् nr-n̄ām, ' of men '; कर्एँ: kar-ņah, 'ear'; दूषएाम् düs-aṇam, 'abuse' (a vowel intervenes); बृंह्टाम् bṛmhaṇam, 'nourishing' (Anusvāra, ह्ह h, vowel); च्रकेंए arkeṇa, 'by the sun' (guttural and vowel); चिप्यु: kṣip-ṇuh, ' throwing' (vowel and labial); प्रेम्सा premñā, 'by love' (diphthong and labial) ; ब्रह्यए: brahmanyah, 'kind to Brahmans' (vowel, हू h, labial, vowel; न्n followed by य् y); निषस्सः niṣannab, 'seated' (न् n followed by न् n , which is itself assimilated to रू n ); प्रायेए prāyeṇa, 'generally' (vowel, य् y, vowel).
But अर्चर्चम् arcanam, 'worship' (palatal intervenes); #र्रर्ावेन arṇavena, 'by the ocean' (cerebral intervenes); उर्धैन ardhena, 'by half' (dental intervenes); कुर्वन्ति kurvanti, 'they do' (न् n is followed by त् $t$ ); रामान् rāmān, acc. pl., 'the Rāmas' (न् n is final).
Note.-The number of intervening letters, it will be seen from the above examples, is not limited. In the word रामायए rāmāyaṇa, for instance, five letters (three vowels, a labial, and a semivowel) intervene between the $\mathbb{T} r$ and the 지 ṇ.

Table showing when न् $n$ changes to सा ṇ.

| 炾 r | in spite of intervening vowels, | change | if followed by |

| Tr | labials (including व्, v), | to | न् n, म् m , |

66. The Dentals.
a. I . न् n remains unchanged before य्, y and व्, v : हन्यते han-yate, 'he is killed'; तन्वन् tan-v-an, 'stretching.'
67. न् $n$, at the end of a nominal or verbal base, before sibilants is changed to Anusvāra;
e. g. जिघांसति ji-ghām-sati, ' he wishes to kill,' from हन् han.

b. Change of dental $\mathbb{s}$ to cerebral ष्ड़:

All vowels except $\bar{\lambda}$ a or $\overline{\text { र्रा }} \bar{a}$ (even though Anusvāra or Visarga intervene), as well as क् $k$ and $\mathbb{r}$, change dental स् $s$ (followed by $\quad$ vowel, त् $t$, थ. th, न् $n, ~ म ् ~ m, ~ य ् ~ y, ~ व ् ~ v) ~ t o ~ c e r e-~$ bral ष्ड़.
e.g.from सर्पिस् sarpis: सर्पिषा sarpiş-ā, 'with clarified butter'; सर्पीषि sarpīmsi, nom. pl.; सर्पि:षु sarpihṣu, loc. pl. (cp. 43, 3); from वाच् vāc: वाचु vāk-ṣu, loc. pl., 'in speeches'; from गिर् gir: गोर्षु gīr-ṣu (60), loc. pl., 'in speeches'; तिष्ठति tiṣṭati, 'he stands,' from स्था sthā ; भविष्यति bhavi-syati, 'he will be,' from भू bhū, 'be'; सुष्वाप suṣvāpa, 'he slept,' from स्वप् svap, 'sleep '; च जुष्मत् cakșuṣ-mat, 'possessing eyes'; but सर्पि: sarpiḥ (final);

| Vowels except ㅋ्र a, त्रा $\bar{a}$ (in spite of intervening Anusvāra or Visarga), also क्[ $k$, r , | change  स् 8  to  ष्ड | if followed by vowels, त् t , घ् th, न् n , म् $m$, य्, $y$, व. $v$. |
| :---: | :---: | :---: |

Note.-The rules about the changes of the dental न् $n$ and $\mathbb{X}_{s}$ to the corresponding cerebrals, should be thoroughly acquired, since these changes must constantly be made in declension and conjugation.
 42 B ); but before suffixes beginning with व् v it becomes न् n ; e.g. काम्य: kām-yaḥ, 'desirable,' ताम्र tām-ra,' copper-coloured,' चम्नम्ल am-la, 'sour'; but जगन्वान् ja-gan-vān, 'having gone'(from गम् gam).
68. $a$. ह् $\mathbf{h}$ before स् $s$ and, in roots beginning with दु $d$, before त् t , थ् th, ध् dh also, is treated like घ् gh ;
e. g. लेह्ह + सि leh + si = लेच्ति lek-ṣi, 'thou lickest' ( 66 b); दह् + स्यति dah + syati = धच्यति dhak-ṣati, 'he will burn' $(55)$; दह्ञ + त dah + ta = दग्ध dag-dha, 'burnt' $(63 b)$; दिह्ह + ध्वे dih + dhve $=$ धिगध्वे dhig-dhve, 'ye anoint' $(63 a)$.
b. हृ h , in all other roots, changes a following त् t , य. th, ध् dh to ढ $\frac{d}{\mathrm{~h}}$, the ह् h itself being dropped, and a preceding short vowel lengthened;
e.g. लिह् + त lih + ta = लीढ liạha, 'licked.'

Exceptions to this are नह्त $+\boldsymbol{\pi}$ nah + ta = नघ्घ nad-dha,'bound';

DECLENSION

69. Declension is most conveniently treated under the three heads of-
70. Nouns (including adjectives); 2. numerals; 3. pronouns.
71. In Sanskrit there are$a$. Three genders: masculine, feminine, and neuter.
b. Three numbers : singular, dual, and plural.
c. Eight cases : nominative, vocative, accusative, instrumental, dative, ablative, genitive, locative ${ }^{1}$.
72. Declension consists in the addition of case-endings to the stem or base. The normal case-endings are-

Singular.

Dual.
M. F. N.

भिस् bhis
भ्यस् bhyas
习्राम् àm
सु su
${ }^{1}$ This is the order of the Hindu grammarians, excepting the vocative, which is not regarded by them as a case. It is con-
a. The vocative is the same (apart from the accent) as the nominative in all numbers except the masc. and fem. sing. of vowel bases generally and the masc. sing. of consonant bases in -at, -an, -in, -as (cp. 76 a), -yas, -vas.
b. The nom. acc. sing. neut. has the bare base excepting the words in -a , which add म् m .
c. The nom. acc. voc. plur. neut. before the दू i inserts न्य after a vowel base and before a single final mute or sibilant of a consonant base (modifying the न् n according to the class of the consonant).
72. An important distinction in declension (in bases ending in च् c , त् t, न्- n, स् s , and $\overline{\text { Fe }} \mathrm{r}$ ) is that between the strong and the weak base. If the base has two forms, the strong and the weak base are distinguished; if it has three forms, strong, middle, and weakest are distinguished.
$a$. The shifting of the accent was the cause of the distinction. The base having been accented in the strong cases, here naturally preserved its full form; but it was shortened in the weak cases by the accent falling on the endings. For a similar reason the last vowel of the strong base, if long, is regularly shortened in the vocative, because the accent always shifted to the first syllable in that case.
73. The strong base appears in the following cases:-

[^5]a. When the base has three forms, the middle base appears before terminations beginning with a consonant ${ }^{1}$ (०भ्याम् -bhyām, ॰भिस्-bhis, ॰्यस्-bhyas, ${ }^{\circ}$ सु-su); the weakest, before terminations beginning with a vowel in the remaining weak cases;
e. g. प्रत्यच्चौ pratyáñc-au, nom. dual ; प्रत्यगिभः pratyág-bhiḥ, inst. plur.; प्रतीचो: pratic-ób, gen. dual (93).
$b$. In neuters with three bases the nom. voc. acc. sing. are middle, the nom. voc. acc. dual, weakest;
e. g. प्रत्यक् pratyák, sing., प्रतीची pratīcí, dual, प्रत्यच्चि pratyañ̃c-i, plur. (93). The other cases are as in the masculine.

NOUNS AND ADJECTIVES.

74. This declension may conveniently be divided into two classes:-
I. Bases ending in consonants ${ }^{2}$.
A. Unchangeable bases.
B. Changeable bases.
II. Bases ending in vowels.
A. In च्र a and $\overline{\text { त्रा }} \overline{\mathrm{a}}$.
B. In F $^{i}$ and $\overline{\mathrm{T}} \mathrm{u}$.
C. In हूर i and ऊ $\overline{\mathrm{u}}$.
D. In च
E. In ऐ ai, त्रो o , औ au .
${ }^{1}$ It is practically most convenient to name changeable bases in this form, as this is also the form in which they appear as prior members in compounds.
${ }^{2}$ Some grammars begin with the vowel declension in a (II. A) since this contains the majority of all the declined bases in the language. But for practical reasons it appears preferable to begin with the consonant declension, which adds the normal endings ( $7 \mathbf{I}$ ) without modification; while the wide deviation of the a-declension from these endings is apt to confuse the beginner.

I. A. Unchangeable Bases.

75. The number of these bases is comparatively small, there being none ending in guttural or cerebral mutes, and none in nasals or semivowels (except § r). They are liable to such changes only as are required by the rules of Sandhi before the consonant terminations (cp. 16a). Masculines and feminines ending in the same consonant are inflected exactly alike ; and the neuters differ only in the nom. voc. acc. dual and plural.
76. The final consonants retain their original sound before vowel terminations (7r); but when final (nom. sing., the स् s of the m. f. being dropped), and before the loc. pl. नु su , they must be reduced to one of the letters क्म k , ट् t , त् t , प् p or Visarga (27), which respectively become ग् $g$, ड् d, द्र $d$, ब् $b$, ₹ $r$, before the terminations beginning with भ् bh.
a. The voc. sing. m. f. is the same as the nom. except in bases in (derivative) च्रस् as (83).
b. Forms of the nom. voc. acc. plur. neut. are extremely rare in this declension;
e.g. from ॰भाज् -bhāj,' sharing,' $भ ा \underset{F}{\text { © -bhāñji; nom. sing. }}$ बभाक् -bhāk.

Bases in Dentals.

77. Paradigm सुद्धु su-hrd, m. ' friend' (lit.' good-hearted '). sING. DUAL. PLUR. $\left.\begin{array}{l}\text { N.V. सुदृत् su-hṛt (27) } \\ \text { A. सुहृद् su-hrd-am }\end{array}\right\}$ सुद्धौ -hṛd-au

सुह्द्धि: -hṛd-bhị̣
सुद्ध्य: -hrid-bhyah
सुदृद्र्म् -h!̣!d-ām
सुदृत्तु -hrt-su (32)
a. In the paradigms of regular nouns with unchangeable bases it will be sufficient to remember the nom. sing., the nom. inst. loc. plur.;
e. g. from ०जित् -jit, 'conquering': ०जित् -jit, ${ }^{\circ}$ जितः -jit-aḥ, - जिद्भि: -jid-bhih, $\circ$ जित्सु -jit-su ; from ${ }^{\circ}$ मथ -math, 'destroying': -मत् -mat, ॰्मघ; -math-aḥ, ॰मद्भि: mad-bhiḥ, ${ }^{\text {म मत्सु -mat-su; }}$ from ॰वृध्-vṛdh, 'increasing': ${ }^{\circ}$ वृत् -vṛt, ॰वृध: -vṛdh-aḥ, ॰वृद्भिः -vṛd-bhih, oवृत्सु -vrrt-su.

Bases in Labials.

Bases in Palatals.

79. The palatals (च् $c, ज_{-}$, ग् ś) undergo a change of organ when final and before consonant terminations (cp. 64). च् $c$ always becomes guttural (क् k, ग् g ) ; ज् $\mathbf{j}$ and ग् ś nearly always become guttural, but sometimes cerebral (ट, t, ड् ḍ).

82. These bases consist almost entirely of words formed with the derivative suffixes च्रस् as, द्स् is, उस् us, chiefly neuters. There are also a few masculines and feminines; those in च्रस् as lengthen the $\bar{\gamma}$ a in the nom. sing.

$b$. Those in न् n end in अ्रन् an (also मन् man, वन् van) or दून् in (also मिन् min, विन् vin).
c. Those in स् $s$ end in यस् yas (comparatives) or वस् vas (perf. participles active).
d. Those in च् c end in च्रच् ac, which is properly a root meaning 'to go.'

The bases in ₹्रत् at, द्रन् in, यस् yas have two forms, strong and weak ; those in न्रन् an, वस् vas, न्मच् ac have three, strong, middle, and weakest (73).

ज्ञानवत् jñāna-vat, ' possessed of knowledge.'
N.sg.m. ज्ञानवान् jñ̄āna-vān pl. ज्रानवन्तः jñāna-vant-ah
A. ज्ञानवन्तम् jñāna-vant-am ज्ञानवतः jñāna-vat-aḥ
a. भवत् bháv-at, when used as the present participle of भू bhū, 'be,' is declined like ॠद्रत् adat (only the accent remains on the first syllable throughout); but when it means ' your Honour,' it is declined (as if derived with the suffix -vat) like ज्ञानवत् jñānavat: nom. भवान् bhavān, acc. भवन्तम् bhavantam. Besides भवन् bhavan there is also an irregular voc. (cp. 49) भो: bhoh, 'sir !' (a contraction of an older अवस् bhavas).
b. कियत् kí-y-at, 'how much ?' and द्यत् $1-y-a t$, ' so much,' are also declined like ज्ञानवत् jñāna-vat.

87. 2. Adjectives in द्वन् in (masc. and neut.).

These bases are very numerous, being derivatives from nouns in ت्र a in the sense of 'possessing'; thus बल bala, 'strength,' बलिन् bal-in, 'strong.'
a. These words have a weak base before consonants only, where they drop the न् $n$.
b. The न्म n is also dropped in the nom. sing. masc. and neut.
c. The द i is lengthened in the nom. sing. masc. and nom. acc. voc. plur. neut.

a. The द्य which is inserted before the व् v in some of these ${ }^{1}$ The substitution of त् $t$ for $\mathbb{Z}^{s}$ is perhaps due to the influence of the suffix वत् vat. उस् us is the unaccented form of वस् vas (cр. 137, 2 c).
${ }^{2}$ Beginners sometimes confuse this reduplicated perf. part. active with the active participle formed by adding the suffix वत् vat to the perfect passive part.; e.g. nom. masc. कृतवान् krta-vān, 'having done,' acc. हृतवन्तम् krtavantam (cp. 16r). The confusion is caused by both ending in ${ }^{\circ}$ वान् -vān in the nom. sing.

90. 2. Bases in ॠन् an (also मन् man, वन् van): masc. and neut.

The strong base ends in च्रान् $\bar{a} n$, the weakest in न् $n$, the middle in $\bar{y}$ a.
a. The nom. sing. masc. drops the final न् $n$.
b. The suffixes मन् man and वन् van, if immediately preceded [^9]by a consonant, retain their $\bar{\gamma}$ a in the weakest cases. The concurrence of three consonants is avoided in these cases, though not in bases in simple च्रन् an. Hence च्रात्मना āt-man- $\bar{a}$, but तच्रणT takṣ-ṇ-ă, मूर्धT mūxdh-n-ā.

c. In the loc. sing. and the nom. acc. voc. dual the ت्र a may always be retained.

94. The beginner will find it useful to remember the following points with regard to changeable bases:-

1. The vowel of the suffix is lengthened in the nom. sing. masc. except in bases in अ्रत् at and ॠच् ac.

But च्रद्न् ad-án, प्रत्यङ् praty-án.
2. The nom. sing. masc. ends in a nasal in all changeable bases except those in न् n (अन् an, मन् man, वन् van, द्न्् in, मिन् min, विन् vin), which drop it.
3. All changeable bases which lengthen the vowel in the nom. sing. masc., keep it short in the vocative.

In other changeable bases the vocative differs from the nom. solely in always having the accent on the first syllable: च्रद्न् ád-an, voc., adán, nom.; प्रत्यड् prátyań, voc., pratyáñ, nom.
95. The feminines of nouns with changeable bases are formed by adding ई $\bar{i}$ to the weak base (when there are two bases) or the weakest (when there are three). They follow the declension of नदी nadī (100).
E.g. 习्रदती adat-1́; च्रभिमती agni-mát-i, ज्ञानवती jñāna-vat-ī; धनिनी dhanin-ī, वागिमनी vāg-mín-ī, मनस्विनी manas-vin-ī; गरीयसी gárīyas-ī ; चक्रुषी cakrúṣ-1 ; •न्नाम्नी -nāmn-ī (adj., pratīc-í, प्राची prác-ī
$a$. The feminine of the present participle active of the first conjugation (124) is made from the strong masc. base in ㅍ्रन्त् ant (cp. 156); that of the second conjugation from the weak base in #्रत् at;
e. g. भवन्ती bhávant-ī, 'being ${ }^{1}$,' तुदन्ती tudánt- 1 ², 'striking,' दीव्यन्ती dî́vyant-i, ' playing,' चोर्यन्तो corayant-ī, 'stealing.'

But जुहती júhv-at-i, 'sacrificing,' युझ्जती yuñj-at-í, 'joining,' सुन्वती sunv-at-1́, 'pressing,' कुर्वती kurv-at-1,' 'doing,' कीएती krịn-at-1́1, 'buying.'
The feminine of the simple future participle active is usually formed like the present part. of the first conjugation : भविष्यन्ती bhaviṣ-yánt-ī ${ }^{2}$, 'about to be,' करिष्यन्ती karişánt-ī, 'about to do.'
b. There are a few adjectives in वन्-van. These form their feminines in ॰वरी -varī : पीवन् pî-van ( $\pi i \omega \nu$ ), 'fat,' f. पीवरी $\mathrm{pit}_{1}^{1}-\mathrm{varī}^{-1}(\pi i \epsilon \epsilon \rho a)$. The fem. of the irregular युवन् yú-van, ' young' ( $9 \mathrm{I}, 4$ ), is युवति yuva-tí or युवतो yuva-tī.

Irregular Nouns with Changeable Bases.

96. I. ॠप् ap, f. 'water,' is always plural. It lengthens its ت्र $a$ in the strong cases (N.V.) and substitutes त् $t$ for प् $p$ before भ् bh.
N. 习्राप: áp-aḥ A. च्रप: ap-áh I. च््रि: ad-bhíh L. च्रप्नु ap-sú
97. ت्रनड्वह् anaḍ-váh, m. ' ox' (lit. ' cart-drawer,' from anas + vah), has three bases, lengthening the last syllable in the strong, चन्रनड्वाह् anaḍ-vāh, and shortening it by Samprasāraṇa in the weakest, च्रनडुह् anad-uh, and in the middle च्रनडुत् anad-ut

1 But भवती bhavat-ī from भवत् bhavat, 'your Honour' (86 a).
${ }^{2}$ If the verbal base, however, ends in acceuted न्र्र a, e.g. tud-a, bhav-i-șyá, the weak form may optionally be taken, when the ई i receives the accent : तुदती tud-at-1́, भविष्यती bhaviṣy-at-1́.
（dissimilated from 习习्रनुड् anadud ：cp．27）．The nom．and voc． are irregularly formed，as if from a base in वत् vat．

a. Neuter adjectives (not nouns) may be declined throughout (except N.A.V. of all numbers), and fem. adjectives and nouns in the D. Ab. G. L. sing., like masculines. Thus the L. sing. of सति matí, f. 'thought,' is मत्याम् matyấm or मतौ mataú, but वारि vāri, n. 'water,' only वारिएि vāriṇi.
b. The voc. sing. of neuters may optionally follow the masc. form ;
e.g. वारि vāri or वारे vāre, मधु mádhu or मधो mádho.
c. The fem. of adjectives in $\overline{\mathrm{J}} \mathrm{u}$ is in some cases also formed by adding ई ${ }^{\mathrm{I}}$;
e.g. लघु laghú or लघ्वी laghv-ī, f. 'light'; पृथु pṛthú, f. 'broad,' पृथ्वी prthv-1, '(the broad) earth'; sometimes the उ u is also lengthened;
e.g. तनु tanú or तनू tanū, or तन्वी tanv-ì, f. 'thin.'

Irregularities.

99. I. पति pát-i, m. 'husband,' is irregular in the weak cases of the singular: I. पत्या páty-ā, D. पत्ये páty-e, Ab. G. पत्यु: páty-uh. L. पत्यौ páty-ar. When it means 'lord,' or occurs at the end of compounds, it is regular (like সुचि suci).
100. सखि sákh-i, m. 'friend,' has the same irregularities, but in addition has a strong base formed with Vṛddhi, सखाय् sakhāy: N. सखा sákhā, A. सखायम् sákhāy-am, I. सख्या sákhy-ā, D. सख्ये sákhy-e, Ab. G. सख्यु: sákhy-uh, L. सख्यौ sákhy-au, V. सखे sákhe; du. N.A.V. सखायौ sákhāy-au; pl. N.V. सखायः sákhāy-aḥ, A. सखीन् sákhīn. At the end of compounds सखि sakhi is regular in the weak cases, but retains the base सखाय् sakhāy in the strong.
101. The neuters ॠ्रचि aksṣi, 'eye,' च्रस्थि ásthi, 'bone,' दधि dádhi, 'curds,' सक्थि sákthi, 'thigh,' form their weakest cases from bases in ₹्रन् an (अच्रन्त् akṣan, &c., like नामन् nāman) :-

4. दु dyu, f. 'sky' (originally diu), retains this base before consonant terminations (taking Vrrddhi in the N.V. sing.), but changes it to दिव् div before vowels :-

SING.
N . दौ: dyaư-ḥ (Zev́s $=\Delta j \in v i s)$

C. Bases in $\bar{\Sigma}$ and ऊ $\bar{u}:$ feminine.

100. The following points in which monosyllabic and polysyllabic bases differ in declension, should be noted:-
101. Monosyllabic bases change $\AA_{\bar{\Sigma}}^{\bar{i}}$ and $\overline{\boldsymbol{T}} \overline{\mathrm{u}}$ to द्य iy and उव् uv before vowels, the polysyllabic bases to य् y and व्.
102. Monosyllabic bases have the normal terminations (71) throughout; they may take the special feminine terminations (-ai, -āh, -ām: cp. 97, n. 4), polysyllabic bases must.
103. Monosyllabic bases use the nom. (which takes स् s), polysyllabic bases shorten the final $\overline{\mathcal{K}} \bar{i}$ and $\overline{\boldsymbol{j}} \overline{\mathrm{u}}$ of the nom., in the voc. sing.
${ }^{1}$ The nom. with the voc. accent, while the Greek has the proper vocative.
104. Polysyllabic bases in ₹्र $\overline{\mathbf{I}}$ have $\mathbf{n o}$ स् $\mathbf{s}$ in the nom. sing. except लच्की: lakṣmīh, 'goddess of prosperity,' तन्त्री: tantrịh, 'string,' and optionally तन्द्री tandrī, 'sloth.'
105. Polysyllahic bases form the acc. sing. in र्द् im and उम् ūm, the acc. pl. in ईूस is and ऊस् ūs.

a. स्ती strí, f. 'woman,' though monosyllabic, has most of the characteristics of polysyllabic bases in ₹ $\overline{\text { i }}(100,2-5)$ : it must take the special fem. terminations, it shortens its $\overline{\text { रे }} \bar{i}$ in the voc., it has no स् $s$ in the nom., and has an optional acc. sing. in ईंम् im and acc. plur. in ईस् is. This is doubtless due to its originally having been a disyllable.

D. Bases in $\overline{\boldsymbol{z}} \boldsymbol{r} \boldsymbol{r}:$ masculine, feminine.

101. These bases, which in their origin are consonant bases in aar, are closely analogous in their declension to bases in -an. These nouns mostly end in the suffix तृ -tr (i.e.e-tar, Gk.-тйp, -т $\quad$ p, Lat. -tor). They distinguish a strong base तर् tar or ताT् tār; a middle तृ tr; and a weakest ह् tr.
In the strong base the names of relations take the Guna form (ar), the names of agents (as well as नप्नृ náptr, 'grandson,' स्वस्ट svås, 'sister,' and भर्तृ bhartṛ, 'husband ') take the Vṛddhi form (ār).
The sing. gen. is formed in उर् ur, the loc. in च्ररि ari, the voc.
 gen. in Fहृए।म् ịnām.

e. Feminine nouns of agency are formed from masculines in तृ $\operatorname{tr}$ by the suffix ईं $\bar{i}:$ masc. दातृ dātṛ, fem. दानी dātr-ī, 'giver' (declined like नढ़ी nadī).

E. Bases in ऐ ai, त्रो 0 , त्री au.

102. The only bases in diphthongs are रे rai, $m$. 'wealth,' गो go, m. f. 'bull, cow,' बो dyo, f. 'sky,' and नौ nau, $f$. . ship.'
रे rai changes the द्य $i$ of the diphthong to च् $y$ before vowels, but drops it before consonants.
गो go, in the strong cases, takes Vṛddhi and becomes गौ gau, which is shortened to गा gā in the acc. sing. and pl. The ab. gen. has a contracted form (os for av-as).

a. बो dyo is declined like गो go, but in the dual and plur. only the strong forms occur. The nom. sing. is the same as that of द्यु dyu $(99,4)$.
N. घौः dyaúh (Zévs), A. ब्याम् dyâm (Lat. diem), D. घवे dyáv-e, Ab.G. द्यो: dyóh, L. द्यवि dyáv-i; Dual N.A. द्यावौ dyáv-au, N. pl. द्याव: dyáav-aḥ.

Degrees of Comparison.

103. x. The secondary suffix of the comparative ${ }^{\circ}$ तर -tara (Gk. $-\tau \epsilon \rho o$ ) and that of the superlative ${ }^{\circ}$ तम -tama (Lat. -timo) are added to the weak or middle base of derivative adjectives (and nouns) ;
e.g. शुचि śuci : शुचितर śuci-tara, भुचितम śuci-tama ; म्राच् prāe : प्रात्तर prā̄k-tara, प्रात्तम präk-tama; धनिन् dhanin : धननतर dhani-tara, धनितम dhani-tama; विद्यस् vidvas: विद्दत्तर vidvattara, विद्यत्तम vidvat-tama ; प्रत्यच् pratyac: प्रत्यक्तर pratyak-tara, प्रत्यत्तम pratyak-tama.
a. These suffixes form their feminine in $\overline{\text { ्रा }} \bar{a}$; but तम tama, when used as an ordinal suffix, forms its fem. in i ( cp .107 ).
104. The primary suffix of the comparative, द्द्यस् iyas (Gk. - $\omega$, Lat.-ior), and that of the superlative, द्ष isṭha (Gk. -tovo), are added to the root, which generally takes Guna (and is accented). Before them every word must be reduced to one syllable by dropping suffixes;
e.g. च्ंश्यु aṇ-u, 'minute': च्र्यीयस् áṇ-īyas, अ्राराष्ठ aṇ-iṣ̣̣a; गुरु gur-ú ${ }^{1}$, 'heavy ': गरीयस् gár-1yas, गरिष्ठ gâr-iṣṭha; लघु lagh-ú, ' light': लघीयस् lágh-īyas, लघिष्ठ lágh-iṣtha (Gk. é-خáxıoros); दूर dū-rá, 'far’: द्वीयस् dáv-īyas ; वर vára, 'choice': वरीयस् varr-īas, 'better'; ज्तुद्र kṣud-ra, 'mean': चोदीयस् kṣód-īyas; युवन् yú-van, 'young': यवीयस् yâv-îyas.
a. In some cases यस् yas is attached (instead of द्र्यस् iyas);
e.g. ज्यायस् jyấ-yas, 'superior,' ज्येष्ठ jyéṣtha (rout ज्या jyā); भूयस् bhû-yas, 'more,' भूयिष्ठ bhû-y-isṭha (root भू bhū); प्रेयस् pré-yas, 'dearer,' प्रेष्ठ pré-sṭha (root प्री prī); श्रेयस् śré-yas, 'better' (Gk. кpeticע), श्रेष्ठ śré-ṣṭha; स्थिर sthi-rá, 'firm ': स्थियस् sthé-yas.
b. Some comparatives and superlatives belong only in sense to their positives;
e.g. नेदीयस् néd-iyas, नेदिष्ठ néd-iṣ̣ha, ' nearest,' to च्र्रन्तिक

[^10]antiká, 'near,' and कनीयस् kán-ǐyas, 'lesser,' कनिष्ठ kán-iṣṭha, 'least,' to 尹्रल्य álpa, 'small.'

a. In order to form the numbers from 20 to 100 not enumerated above, it is only necessary to remember that 2,3 , and 8 are द्वा dvā, चय: trayaḅ ( $\tau \rho \epsilon i \bar{s}$ ), and च्रष्टा aṣtā before 20 and 30 (द्वानिंशूत् dvấ-triṃśat, चयस्त्रिंशूत् trayas-triṃsat, अ्रष्टानिंशूत् aṣ़̣á-trimśat), and द्वि dvi, चि tri, च्रष्ट aș̣a before 80 ; both forms may be used with $40,50,60,70$, and 90 .
b. The alternative designations of $19,29, & c$. are formed with the old past participle ऊन ū-na, 'diminished,' e.g. ūna-vimssati, 'twenty diminished (by one).' By prefixing the necessary cardinal to this participle, other alternatives may be formed; e.g. ज्यूननिंभूत् try-ūna-trimśat, 'thirty diminished by three,' i.e. 27.
c. Similarly alternatives to IOI, IO2, & c. are formed by means of the adjective च्रधिक adhi-ka, 'exceeding,' 'plus'; e.g. द्यधिकं शूरम् dvy-adhikam śatam, 'a hundred exceeded by two.'
d. The difference of sense in द्विशूतम् dvi-śatam, निश्तम् tri-satam, &c. is only to be distinguished by the accent, these compounds meaning 102, 103, sxc., when accented on the first member, but 200, 300, &c., when accented on the last.

Declension of Cardinals.

105. Only the first four cardinals distinguish the genders.
r. एव: ékaḥ, एका ékā, एकम् ékam, following the declension of the pronominal adjectives, is inflected like सर्व sarva ( t 20 b ).
106. द्व dvá, 'two,' is declined like the dual of कान्त kānta: N.A. दौ dvaú, f. दूने dvé, neut. दू dvé; I.D.Ab. दूाभ्यTम् dvábhyām, G.L. दूयो: dvá-y-oḥ.
107. a. नि trí, in the masc. and neut., is declined like the plural of शुचि suc-i, except in the gen., which is formed as if from च्च traya (the regular form नीराTम् trī-n- $\frac{1}{2} m$ is found in the Rig-veda). Its fem. base is तिस्ट tisfr, the inflexion of which differs in the N.A.G. from that of the regular bases in \# $\begin{gathered}\text { r. }\end{gathered}$
b. चतुड catúr, 'four,' in the masc. and neut., has the strong base चत्वाइ catvắr (cp, quatuor). Its feminine base is चतस्ट cátas!, which is inflected exactly like तिस्ट tis?̣.

108. a. षष् sás, 'six': N.A. षट् sát (27), I. षड्ञि: saḍ-bhíh, D. Ab. षड्भ्यः ssad-hhyáh, G. षसाम् ṣaṇ-ṇắm, L. षट्सु ṣat-sú.
b. पच्च páñca, 'five,' is declined like a neuter in च्रन् an $(90,2)$ except in the gen., where it follows कान्त kāta : N.A. पझ्च pañ̃ca, I. पन्चभि: pañcá-bhiḥ, D.Ab. पश्चभ्यः pañcá-bhyaḥ, G. पश्चानाम् paи̃c $\bar{a}-\mathrm{n}-\mathrm{a} m, ~ L$. पच्चसु pañcá-su.
The numerals for 7 to ro are declined in exactly the same way.尹्रष्ट astáa, however, has also the following alternative forms:-
 bhyáh, L. ॠ्रष्टासु astā̄-sú.
c. The numerals 3 to 19 are used as plural adjectives, agreeing with their substantives in number and case ( 3 and 4 in gender also). The numerals from 20 to 99 (which are feminine), as well as शूतम śatám and सहस्रम् sahásram, are used as singular nouns, the accompanying substantive being either in the same case or in the genitive : शूतेन दासीभि: or दासीनाम् ' with a hundred female slaves.'

Ordinals.

107. The ordinals from Ist to Ioth are formed with various suffixes : य tha (for original त ta), म ma, य ya, द्र्य iya, or a combination of the first with the second and fourth (थम tha-ma, तीय t-iya); those from IIth to I9th have the same form as the cardinals (excepting change of accent and inflexion like कान्त kānta); while those from 20th onward either abbreviate the cardinal or add the suffix तम tama to it. The feminine of all but Ist to 4th is formed with $\hat{\mathbf{\xi}}$ i.
rst प्रथमः pra-thamáh, f. á. 2nd द्वितीयः dvit-1yah, f. $\bar{a}$ (from an older dvi-tá). $3^{\text {rd }}$ चितीयः trit--íyaḥ, f.ā(Lat. tertius ; from an older tri-tá, Gk. трi-тos).

112. The demonstrative pronoun, which in the nom. sing. has the curious form $m$. f. चसी a-s-aú, $n$. च्रदस् $a-d$-ás, meaning 'that,' 'you,' employs in the rest of its declension the base ₹न्रमु a-m-u, for which ॠमू am $\bar{u}$ is substituted in the fem. plur. (also acc. sing. and partly in dual) and च्रमी ami in the masc. plur. (except the acc.).

Singular.

Dual.

N.A. m. f. n. च्रभू amú; I.D. Ab. च्रमूभ्याम् amútbhyām; G.L. ग्रमुयो: amú-y-oḥ.
a. A compound of त ta, 'that,' is एत e-tá, 'this.' It is declined exactly like the former: sing. N. एष: eșa-h. $(48,66 b)$, एषा eṣáa, एतढ् etá-d; A. एतम् etá-m, एतTम् etáa-m, एतढ् etá-d, &c.
b. The unaccented defective pronoun of the third person, एन ena ('he, she, it'), is declined in the A. of all numbers, I. sg., and G.L. dual : A. एनम् ena-m, एनाम् enă-m, एनड् ena-d; एनौ enau, एने ene, एने ene; एनान् enā-n, एनाः enā-h̨, एनानि enāni; I. sg. एनेन enena, f. एनया ena-y-ā; G.L. du. एनयोः ena-y-oh.

C. Interrogative Pronoun.

113. The base of the interrogative pronoun क ka, "who, which, what?' is inflected exactly like त ta, excepting that the N.A. neuter is किम् $\mathrm{ki}-\mathrm{m}$; e.g. N. क: káh, का káa, किम् kím ; plur. के ké, का: kâh, कानि kấni. L. sg. कस्मिन् ká-smin, f. कस्याम् ká-syäm; pl. केषु ké-ṣu, f. कासु kà-su.
a. In derivation the bases fि ki and कु kn, as well as का ka, are used;
e.g. कियत् ki-y-at, 'how great?' कुच्न ku-tra, 'where ?' कद्र ka-dā, 'when?' As the first member of a compound किम् kim is generally employed, sometimes कु ku : किंरुप kim-rūpa, adj.' of what form ?' कुकर्मन् ku-karman, n. (' what kind of '二) 'wicked deed.'

D. Relative Pronoun.

114. The base of the relative pronoun is य ya, 'who,' "which.' It is declined exactly like त्ता.

E. Reflexive Pronouns.

115. a. स्वम् sva-y-ám, 'self,' is indeclinable (originally a nom. sing. like $a-y$-ám). It may express any person or number (e. g. 'myself,' 'himself,' 'yourselves'). It usually has the meaning of a nominative, but often of an instrumental, and sometimes of a genitive. It frequently also means 'spontaneously.'
b. च्रात्मन् ātmán, 'self,' is a masc. noun (declined like ब्रह्मन् brahman, 90,3 ). It is used in the singular as a reflexive pronoun of all persons and genders.
c. स्व: sváḥ, स्वा svấ, स्वम svám (Lat. suus), 'own,' is a reflexive adjective (declined like सर्व sarva, $120 b$ ) referring to all three persons and numbers (' my, thy, his, our, your, their own'). It is also used (like च्रात्मन् ātman) in the oblique cases as a reflexive pronoun; e.g. सं निन्दन्ति svam nindanti, 'they blame themselves,'
d. निज ni-ja, properly an adjective meaning 'inborn,' 'native,' is often used in the sense of a pronominal reflexive adjective (like स sva).

F. Possessive Pronouns,

116. Possessives are formed with the suffix र्द्य iya, from the bases of the personal pronouns मढ् mad, तढ् tvad, &c.: मढ़य mad-īya, 'my,' त्वदीय tvad-īya, 'thy'; च्रस्मीय asmad-īya, 'our,' युष्मदीय yuṣmad-iya, 'your'; तद्रीय tad-īya, 'his, her, its, their.'
a. From the genitives मम mama and तव tava are formed मामका māma-ká, 'my,' and तावका tāva-ka, 'thy' (cp. IO9, foot-note).

G. Compound Pronouns.

117. By adding दृश् dṛs, दृश्य dṛsa, or दृच dṛksa, to certain pronominal bases, the following compound pronouns have been formed:-
तादृश् tā-dṛ̂s, तादृश्य tā-dṛ̂śa, ताद्वच्च tā-dị̂ksa, 'such' (lit. ' of that look').

यादृश्य् yā-dṛ̂s, चादृप्र yā-dṛ'sa, ' what like,' ' of what kind.'

कीदृश्य kī-dṛ̛', की दृश्र kī-d!̣́sa, 'what like?'
मादृश mā-dụśa, 'like me,' ल्वादृप्र tvā-driśa, 'like thee.'
a. The feminine base of the compounds in द्वश् $d r \underline{s}$ is the same as the masc. and neut.; e.g. nom. sing. m.f.n. ताद्वक् tādẹ́k.

The compounds in दृष् drsia form the fem. with ईू $\bar{i}$, those in दृच dṛkṣa with च्रा $\bar{a} ;$ e.g. तादृशी tādṛsí, तादृच्चा tādṛ̂ksā.
118. By adding वत् vat and यत् yat to certain pronominal bases, the following compounds, implying quantity, have been formed :-
तावत् tata-vat and एतावत् etấ-vat, 'so much'; यावत् yá-vat, 'as much '; द्यत् í-yat, 'so much,' कियत् kí-yat, 'how much ?' These are all declined like nouns in वत् vat (86), and form their feminines in the same way (तTवती tāvat-ī, द्यती iyat-ī, &c.).
a. कति ká-ti, 'how many ?' (Lat. quot), तति tá-ti, 'so many' (Lat. toti-dem), यति yá-ti, 'as many,' are uninflected in the N.A., but in the other cases are declined like शुचि śuci (98) in the plural.
119. The interrogative का ka, by the addition of चित् cit, चन cana, or च्रपि api, is changed to an indefinite pronoun, 'some,' 'some one': कग्चित् kaś cit, काचित् kā cit, fिं fित् kim cit; कश्यून kaś cana, काचन kā cana, किं चन kị̣ cana; को sपि ko 'pi, कापि kāpi, किमपि kim api.
$a$. In the same manner indefinite adverbs are formed: कदा ka-dā, 'when?' कद्राचित् kadā cit, कदाचन kadā cana, 'some time or other,' 'once'; कृ kva, 'where?' न द्वापि na kvāpi,' not anywhere,' ' nowhere.'
b. The relative preceding the interrogative renders it indefinite: य: क: yah kah, 'whosoever'; यस्य कस्स yasya kasya, ' of whomsoever.' Similarly य: कप्चित् yaḥ kaścit, च: वश्च yaḥ kaśca, or य: कग्चन yah kaścana, 'whosoever.'
c. The relative pronoun, if doubled, assumes a distributive meaning: यो य: yo yah, 'whoever, whatever in each case' (followed by a double correlative).

7. Pronominal Adjectives,

120. Several adjectives derived from, or allied in meaning to, pronouns, follow the pronominal decleusion (like त ta) either altogether or in part.
a. ت्रन्य anyá, ' other,' 习्रन्यतर anya-tará, ' either,' द्रतर íttara, 'other,' एकतम eka-tamá, 'one (of many),' कतर ka-tara, ' which of two ?' कतम ka-tama, 'which of many ?' follow the pronominal declension thronghout, taking हु d in the N.A.V. sing. neut.: अ्रन्य: anyá-h, ت्रन्या anyấ, अन्यद् anyá-d (cp. Lat. aliu-d) ; D.习्रन्यस्मे aný-smai, L. ت्रन्यस्मिन् anyá-smin ; &c.
b. सर्व sárva, 'every,' 'all,' उभय ubhá-ya, 'both' (sg. and pl.), एक éka, 'one' (ro5), एकतर eka-tara, 'either,' differ only in taking म् $m$ instead of हु $d$ in the N.A. sing. neut.:
c. पूर्व pứrva, 'prior,' 'east,' अ्रवर áva-ra, 'posterior,' 'west,' म्रधर ádha-ra, 'inferior,' 'west,' उत्तर ut-tara, 'subsequent,' 'north,' द्चिता dákșina, 'south '; पर pára, 'subsequent,' ॠ्रपर apa-ra, ' other, ' 'inferior,' ₹्रन्तर ánta-ra, 'outer,' स्व sva, ' own,' besides necessarily taking म् $_{\mathrm{m}}$ in the N.A. sing. neut., may follow the nominal declension in the Ab . L. sing. m. n. and in the N . plur. masc.:
N.A.n. पूर्वम् púrva-m; Ab. m. n. पूर्वस्सात् pû́rva-smāt or पूर्वात् pûrvāt ; L. पूर्वस्Aिन् pứrva-smin or पूर्वें puŕve ; N. p1. m. पू वैं pứve or पूर्वтः pứrvāḥ.
d. च्रर्ध ardhá, 'half,' अ्रल्प álpa, 'little,' कतिपय kati-payá, 'some'; प्रथम prá-thama, 'first,' चरम cara-má, 'last,' द्वय dva-yá and द्वितय dvi-taya, 'twofold' (and similar words in य ya and तय taya), are inflected like ordinary adjectives, except that they may follow the pronominal declension in the N. pl. masc.; e.g. चरमा: caramáh or चरमे caramé.
e. द्वितीय dvititya and तृतीय tritíya may follow the pronominal declension throughout the singular ;
e. g. D. m.n. तृतीयाय trtíyāya or तृतीयस्म tritiya-smai ; L. f, तृतीयायाम् trtityā-yām or तृतीयस्साम् trrtíya-syäm; but N. pl. m. only तृतीया: tṛtíyā̆ḥ.
$f$. Any of these pronominal words occurring at the end of possessive compounds (186) are declined like ordinary adjectives.

CONJUGATION

121. Sanskrit verbs are inflected with either active or middle terminations. The active voice is called Parasmai-pada, i.e. transitive (lit. 'word for another'). The middle voice is called Ātmane-pada, i.e. 'reflexive' (lit. 'word for oneself'). The passive takes the terminations of the Ātmanepada; with which it coincides except in the present and imperfect (where it forms its base with the suffix य ya), and in the third sing. aorist.
a. The Sanskrit verb has in each tense and mood three numbers, Singular, Dual, and Plural, with three persons in each, 122. There are in Sanskrit five tenses conjugated in the indicative: r. Present (with imperative and optative moods); 2. Imperfect; 3. Perfect; 4. Aorist (with a kind of optative called Benedictive or Precative) ; 5. Future (with the Oonditional, a kind of past future).
There are also participles connected with three of these tenses, present, perfect, and future; and one infinitive ( $\mathbf{I} 67$ ), © verbal noun unconnected with any tense.
a. Classical Sanskrit has neither a pluperfect tense nor a subjunctive mood (excepting the survivals of it in the first persons imperative) ; nor has it an imperative or a proper optative of any tense except the present. There are, therefore, far fewer verbal forms in non-Vedic Sanskrit than in Greek.

The Present Group.

123. While the perfect, aorist, and future tenses add the terminations directly (or after inserting a sibilant) to the root, the present group (the present with its moods and the imperfect) forms a special base, which is made in ten different ways. Hence the native Sanskrit grammarians have divided all werbs into ten classes. The tenth class, which is really a secondary formation, retains its present base in nearly all the other verbal forms also, as do the secondary verbs generally (causatives, desideratives, intensives, denominatives).

The Ten Classes.

124. The ten classes are divided into two conjugations. In the first, comprising the first, fourth, sixth, and tenth classes, the present base ends in ت्र a, and remains unchanged throughout.
In the second conjugation, which comprises all the remaining classes, the terminations are added directly to the final present base is changeable, being either strong or weak.

A. First Conjugation,

125. I. The first or $\mathbf{B h} \bar{u}$ class adds $\bar{\gamma}$ a to the last letter of the root, which, being accented, takes Guna of in final vowel (short or long) and of a short medial vowel followed by one consonant; e.g. भू bhū, 'be,' forms the present base अव bháv-a; बुध् budh, 'know': बोध bódh-a.
126. The sixth or Tud class adds an accented ㅋ्र á to the root, which (being unaccented) has no Guṇa. Before this ت्र á final庇 $\bar{r}$ changes to दूर ir. E.g. तुढ् tud, 'strike': तुद tud-a; का kr , 'scatter' : किर kir-á.
127. The fourth or Div class adds य ya to the last letter of the root, which is accented (but the weakening of the root in some casses points to the accent having originally been on the य ya) ; e.g. नह्ह nah, 'bind': नह्य náh-ya; दिव् div, 'play': दीव्य dî̀v-ya (60).
128. The tenth or Cur class adds the suffix च्रय aya, before which a final vowel takes Vrddhi, but a short medial vowel followed by one consonant takes Guna; e.g. चुT् cur, 'steal': चोरय cor-áya. Short medial 将 a followed by one consonant is in most cases lengthened ; e.g. कम् kam : कामय kām-áya,' desire.'

B, Second Conjugation.

126. The strong forms are-
(1) The singular present and imperfect active.
(2) All first persons imperative active and middle.
(3) The third person singular imperative active.

In the strong forms the radical vowel or the affix, being accented, is strengthened; while in the weak forms it remains short because the terminations are accented.
a. In the ninth class the accented form of the affix is ना ná, the unaccented नी $n i ̄$ or न् $n$; in the seventh they are respectively $\boldsymbol{\text { न ná and }}$ न् n .
127. x. The second or Ad class adds the terminations directly to the root, which in the strong forms takes Guna if possible इ i, 'go': एमि é-mi, एषि é-ṣi, एति é-ti; लिह्, lih, 'lick': लेह्मि léh-mi, लेचि lefk-ṣi ( $68 a$ ), लेढि lé-ḍhi ( $68 b$ ).
a. This and the seventh are the most difficult classes to conjugate, as terminations beginning with various consonants come into contact with the final consonants of roots, and consequently many rules of internal Sandhi have to be applied.
2. The third or $\mathbf{H u}$ class adds the terminations directly to the reduplicated root, which in the strong forms takes Guna if possible ; e.g. ₹ु hu, 'sacrifice': जुह्होमि ju-hó-mi, 'I sacrifice'; जुझुम: ju-hu-máḥ, 'we sacrifice.'
a. The intensives conjugated in the active ( $\mathrm{I}^{2}$ ) follow this class.
3. The seventh or Rudh class adds the terminations directly to the final consonant, before which न na is inserted in the strong, and न् n in the weak forms ; e.g. युज् yuj, 'join': युनज्मि yu-ná-j-mi, 'I join '; युञ्म: yuñj-máh, 'we join.'
4. The fifth or $\mathbf{S u}$ class adds नु nu, which takes Guna in the strong forms, to the root; e.g. सु su, 'press out': सुनोमि su-nó-mi ; सुनुम: su-nu-máh.
5. The eighth or Tan class adds उ $u$, which takes Guna in the strong forms, to the root; e.g. तन् tan, 'stretch': तनोमि tan-б́-mi ; तनुम: tan-u-máḥ.
a. All the (seven) verbs of this class end in न् n , except क्व kr, 'do,' which has an irregular present base: करोमि kar-ó-mi( $\mathbf{I} 34 \mathrm{E})$.
6. The ninth or $\mathbf{K}_{\mathrm{r} \overline{1}}$ class adds to the root ना $n \frac{1}{a}$ in the strong forms, and in the weak नी nī before consonants and न् n before vowels ; e.g. की kri, 'buy': की एTमि kri-ņà-mi ; r. pl. कीएीम: krī-ṇi-máḥ ; 3. pl. क्री एान्ति krī-ṇ-ánti.

The Augment.

128. The imperfect, the aorist, and the conditional prefix to the root accented $\overline{\text { º }}$ á as their augment, which forms $\nabla$ rrddhi with an initial vowel; e.g. बुध् budh : 3. sing. imperf. च्रबोधत् á-bodha-t; उन्द्र und,' wet': उनत्ति u-ná-t-ti, 'he wets,'

$a$. The augment is dropped in the imperf. and aorist (which are then used imperatively) after the prohibitive particle मा má ( $\mu \eta^{\prime}$ ) : मा कार्षोत् or करोत् mā kārṣìt or karot, ' may he not do it.'

Reduplication.

129. Five verbal forms take reduplication in Sanskrit: the present base of the third conjugational class, the perfect, one kind of aorist, the desiderative, and the intensive. Each of these five has certain peculiarities, which must be treated separately under the special rules of reduplication ( $\mathrm{I}_{3} \mathbf{0}, \mathrm{I}_{35}, \mathrm{I}_{4} 9$, 170, 173). Common to all are the following.

General Rules of Reduplication.

1. The first syllable of a root (i.e. that portion of it which ends with a vowel) is reduplicated; e.g. बुध् budh : बुनुध् bu-budh.
2. Aspirated letters are represented by the corresponding unaspirated; e.g. भिढ्द bhid, 'cut': बिभिद् bi-bhid; धू dhū, 'shake': दुधू du-dhū.
3. Gutturals are represented by the corresponding palatals, ह्र h by ज् j ; e.g. कम् kam, 'love': चकम् ca-kam; खन् khan, 'dig': चखन् ca-khan; गम् gam, 'go': जगम् ja-gam; हस् bas, 'laugh': जहस् ja-has.
4. If the root begins with more than one consonant, the first only is reduplicated; e.g. क्रुख् kruś, 'shout': चुकुष्श् cu-kruś; चिप् kṣip, 'throw': चिन्चिप् ci-kṣip.
5. If a root begins with a sibilant followed by a hard consonant, the latter is reduplicated; e.g. सु stu, 'praise': 万ुष्डु tu-ștu ( $66 b$ ); स्था sthā, 'stand': तस्था ta-sthā; ग्रुत् ścut, 'drip': चुस्युत् cu-ścut; खन्द्र skand, 'leap': चर्कन्द्र ca-skand. But स्मृ smr,' 'remember': सस्मृ sa-smr ( m is soft).
6. If the radical vowel, whether final or medial, is long, it is shortened in the reduplicative syllable; e.g. गाह् gāh, 'enter': जगाह् ja-gāh; क्री krī, 'buy': चिक्री ci-krī ; कूज, kūj, 'hum': चुकूज् cu-kūj.
7. If the radical (not final) vowel is ए $e$, it is represented by द् i ; if च्रो o or और्री au, by उu; e.g. सेव्, sev, ' worship': सिषेव् si-sev (66b) ; ढौक् ḍhauk, 'approach ': डुढौक् ḍuḍhauk.
8. Roots which, according to the native Sanskrit grammarians, end in एe, ऐ ai, ग्रो 0 are more correctly stated to end in $\overline{\text { ¹ }} \bar{a}$, and are so treated in reduplication : गे gai, 'sing,' 3 . sing. perfect जगौ ja -gau.

Special Rule of Reduplication for the Third Class.

130. 聿 r and $\overline{\mathrm{F}} \overline{\mathrm{r}}$ are represented in reduplication by Z i : भृ bhṛ, 'bear': बिभर्ति bí-bhar-ti ; पॄ p $\overline{\text { r, 'fill': पिपर्ति pí-par-ti. }}$

Terminations.

131. The following table gives the terminations, which are on the whole the same for all verbs, of the present group. The chief difference is in the optative, which is characterized by ए $\theta$ in the first, and या $y^{\frac{1}{a}}$ and $\frac{\text { दे }}{\text { h }} \mathrm{i}$ in the second conjugation. It will prevent confusion to remember that the present indicative has the primary (-mi, -si, -ti, \& \&.), while the imperative (with some variations) and the optative, as well as the imperfect, have the secondary terminations ( $-\mathrm{m},-\mathrm{s},-\mathrm{t}$, \&c.). Of the other tenses, the future takes the primary, and the aorist, with the benedictive and the conditional, takes the secondary terminations; while the perfect takes in the active (with many variations) the secondary, and in the middle, the primary endings.
In order to understand clearly the difference between the two conjugations, the following points should be noted. In the first or a-conjugation (as in the a-declension), the terminations are never accented, but always the same syllable of the base (the root in the first and fourth, the affix in the sixth and tenth classes), which therefore remains unchanged. On the other hand, in the second conjugation (as in the declension of changeable bases) the accent falls on the strong base, which is shortened in the weak forms by the shifting of the accent to the terminations. In the second conjugation, therefore, the terminations are accented except in the strong forms ( I 26 ) of the present. The same would apply to the imperfect, were it without an augment (128).

1. The final \# $\quad$ a of the first conjugation is lengthened before म् $m$ or व. $v$; e.g. भवामि bhávā-mi, भवाव: bháv-ā-vaḥ.
2. Terminations beginning with vowels should be added in the first conjugation after dropping the final च्रa; e.g. च्रभवम् á-bhav-am, अवेत् bháv-et.
3. The terminations of the first conjugation, given in the above table as beginning with एe, really contain the final च्र a of the base $+\frac{1}{i}$; but on practical grounds it is preferable to assume that they begin with ए $\theta$ 。
4. Verbs of the first conjugation take no termination in the 2. sing. imperat. Par. (being exactly parallel with the vocative singular of the a-declension). Those of the second take धि dhi (Gk. $\theta_{l}$ ) after consonants, fि hi after vowels. But-
(a) in the ninth class म्रान āna takes the place of धि dhi: मथान math-āná ${ }^{1}$ (but क्रीयीहि krī-ṇī-hí).
(b) fि $h i$ is dropped in the fifth and eighth classes, if the $\overline{\mathrm{J}} \mathrm{u}$ is preceded by a single consonant: सुनु su-nđ (but ₹ाभुष्ति āp-nu-hí).
(c) In the third class कु hu adds धि dhi (instead of हि hi) after a vowel : जुज़धि ju-hu-dhí.
5. Verbs of the third class and reduplicated bases (cp. $\mathbf{1 3 4}_{3}, \mathrm{~A}_{4}, \mathrm{~B}$, 172) drop the न् $n$ of the 3 . plur. pres. indic. and imperat. Par.
${ }^{1}$ The origin of this peculiar imperative is uncertain. It resembles the vocative of an Ātmanepada participle in -āná ( $\mathrm{I}_{5} 8$ ) formed from the root, but, being used as a verbal form, without the vocative accent (cp. the use of the middle participle in Lat. as a 2. pl. impv., e.g. legi-minī). It may possibly be derived from the strong base (found sometimes in the 2. impv. in the Veda, e.g. grh-n̄ā-hi) math-nā with the suffix न na (which is found in the Vedic 2. pl. impv., e.g. i-ta-na), mathnā-na being dissimilated to mathā-na (cp. jā-nā-mi for jñā-nā-mi, I 34, F 2).

In the $\overline{\mathrm{A}} \mathrm{tm}$, of the whole second conjugation the न् $\boldsymbol{n}$ of the 3. plur, pres. impf. impv. is rejected.
6. Verbs of the third class and reduplicated bases (cp. 134, A 4, B, ${ }^{172)}$ take उस् us instead of ت्रन् an in the 3 . plur. impf. Par. Those of the second class which end in $\overline{1} \overline{\mathrm{a}}$, as well as विद् vid, 'know,' and द्विष् dviṣ, 'hate,' may do so. Before this suffix a final ज्ञा $\bar{a}$ ज्रविभयुः á-bi-bhay-uḥ ; अ्रजुहतु: $\mathfrak{a}-\mathrm{ju}$-hav-uḥ ; ت्रयान् á-yā-n or च्रयु: á-y-uḥ.

Paradigms.

132. As the four classes of the first conjugation are inflected exactly alike, one paradigm will suffice for them. The same applies to the fifth and eighth classes. In the second class द्विष् dviṣ has been used for the paradigm, because it illustrates better than F्ञद्, ad both the rules of internal Sandhi and the difference between strong and weak forms.

Irregularities of the Present Base. First Conjugation.

133. A, First or Bhū Class, I. क्रम् kram, 'step,' उ्रा-चम् ā-cam, 'sip,' गुह् guh, ' 'onceal,' ष्ठिव् sthhiv, 'spit,' lengthen their vowel : क्राम krâm-a, च्राचाम ā-cấm-a, गूह gưh-a, ष्ठीव ṣthív-a ; मृज् mṛj, 'cleanse,' takes Vr्ddhi : मार्ज mấrjo-a; सद् sad,'sink,' substitutes ई्र i for च्र a : सीद्ध síd-a (for si-s[a]da: Lat. sido).
134. गम् gam, 'go,' यम् yam, 'restrain,' form the present base with छ्र cha (Gk. $\sigma \kappa$ ) : गच्छ gá-ccha, यच्छ्र yá-ccha (also दूष् iṣ, 'desire,' and 青 re, 'go,' in the sixth class).
135. घ्रा ghrā, 'smell,' पT p $\bar{a}$, 'drink,' स्थT sthā, 'stand,' reduplicate with द्र i: जिघ्र jí-ghra, पिब pí-ba (Lat. bi-bo), तिष्ठ tí-ṣṭha (Gk. ī- $\sigma \tau \eta-\mu$, Lat. sisto).
136. दंश् daṃś, 'bite,' मन्थ् manth, 'churn,' सञ्ज् sañj, 'adhere,' स्वझ_svañj, 'embrace,' drop the nasal: दूश dás'-a, मथ máth-a, सज sáj-a, स्वज svajj-a.
137. दृश् drss,'see,' ध्मT dhmāa, 'blow,' ग्ना mnāa, 'study,' substitute पश्य páś-ya, धम dhám-a, मन mán-a.
B. Fourth or Div Class, 1. तम् tam, 'languish,' भ्रम् bhram, ' roam,' श्रम् śam, ' cease,' श्रम् śram, 'be weary,' मढ् mad, ' rejoice,' lengthen their vowel : ताम्य tám-ya, माद्य mád-ya, &c.
138. संग्रं् bhramśs, 'fall,' drops its nasal: भ्रम्य bhráś-ya; व्यध vyadh,' 'pierce,' takes Samprasāraṇa: विध्य vidh-ya; जन् jan, 'be born,' substitutes जा jā : जाय jà-ya.
C. Sixth or Yud Class, I. कृत् krt,' cut,' मुच् muc, 'loosen,' लिप् lip, 'paint,' लुप् lup, 'break,' विद् vid, 'find,' सिच् sic, 'sprinkle,' insert a nasal : दृन्त kṛnt-á, सुच्च muñc-á, लिम्प limp-á, जुम्प lump-á, विन्द vind-á, सिच्च siñc-á.
139. दूष् iṣ, 'wish,' substitutes छ्ट् ch for ष् s, and ₹ृ r, 'go,' adds

140. प्रक्ह prach, 'ask,' म्रज्ञ् bhrajj, 'fry,' व्रश्च vraśc, 'cut,' take Samprasāraṇa : पृच्छ prech-á, भृज्ज bhrijj-á, वृश्य vrśc-á.

Second Conjugation.

134. A. Second or Ad Class.

I. The root is irregularly strengthened in the following cases :-
$a$. यु yu, 'join,' and all other roots ending in $\overline{3} \mathrm{u}$, take Vṛddhi instead of Guṇa in the strong forms before terminations beginning with consonants : यौमि yaú-mi, but च्रयवम् á-yav-am.
b. मृज mr̛j, 'cleanse,' takes Vriddhi instead of Guṇa: 3. sing. मार्षि márṣ़-ṭi (cp. 64), 3. pl. मृजन्ति mrj-ánti.
c. शू sí, 'lie down,' Ātm., takes Guṇa in its weak forms, besides inserting \$ $r$ before the terminations in the 3 . plur. pres. impf. impv.: 3 . kg . शेते sé-te $(\mathrm{Gk} . \kappa \in i ̂-r a c), 3 . \mathrm{pl}$. शेरते sé-x-ate, शेरताम् séé-r-atām, \#्रशेरत á-se-r-ata.
2. The root is irregularly weakened in the following cases:-
a. वश्प् vas', 'desire,' takes Samprasārana in the weak forms : 3. sg. वष्टि váṣ-ṭi $(64$ b), 3. pl. उशून्ति uś-ánti.
b. ت्रस् as, 'be,' drops its initial ت्र a in the optative and all the weak forms of the pres. and imperative : 3 . sg. opt. स्यात् s-yàt; 3. pl. pres. सन्ति s-ánti (sunt). The 2. sing. impv. is एधि e-dhí (for az-dhí).
c. हन् han, 'kill,' Par., drops its न् n before त् t and घ, th in the weak forms : 3 . sg. हन्ति hán-ti, but 2. pl. हथ ha-thá. In the 3. pl. pres. impf. impv. the radical $\bar{\gamma}$ a is dropped and the ह्乏 $h$ becomes घ् gh: घन्ति ghn-ánti, च्रघन् á-ghn-an, घन्तु ghn-ántu. The 2. sg. impv. is जहि ja-hí (for हहि ha-hí, treated as in reduplication).
3. A vowel or semivowel is irregularly inserted in the following cases :-
a. 习्रन् an, 'breathe,' जच् jaks, ' eat,' बद्ध rud, 'weep,' ग्वस् s'vas, 'breathe,' स्वप् svap,'sleep,' insert द्य i before terminations beginning with consonants except य्; but ईं ì or ت्र a before the स् $s$ and त् $t$ of the 2.3. sg. impf. Par.: रोदिमि ród-i-mi, but हदन्ति rud-ánti, पद्याम् rud-yắm; impf. 3. sg. ॠरोदीत् á-rod-ì-t or चरोद्त् a-rod-a-t.
b. ईंड् ị̀, 'praise,' and ईंश् is', 'rule' (both Ātm.), insert दू i before terminations beginning with स् $s$ and ध् dh (i.e. 2. sg. pl.
 ईशिध्वम् is'-i-dhvam.
c. ्रू brū, 'speak,' inserts ई $\bar{i}$ in the strong forms before terminations beginning with consonants : ब्रवीमि bráv-ì-mi (but ब्रूम: brū-máḥ).
d. दू i preceded by चधि adhi, 'read' (̄̄tm. only), resolves ईं $\overline{1}$ in the pres. and ऐ ai (augm. $a+i$ ) in the impf. before vowels into ई्र्य īy and ऐय् aiy: pres. I. न्रधीये adhī-y-é, 2. च्रधीषे adhī-sé; impf. sg. I. च्रध्येयि adhy-aí-y-i, 2. च्रध्यैथा: adhy-aí-thāḥ.
4. The reduplicated verbs चकास् ca-kās, 'shine,' जच्त् ja-kṣ (for ja-gh[a]s, from ghas), 'eat,' जागृ jā-gr, 'wake' (intensive of gr ), दरिद्र $T$ dari-drā (intensive of drā, 'run'), 'be poor,' though accounted verbs of the second class, follow those of the third in taking च्रति ati and च्रतु atu in the 3. pl. pres. and impv., and उस् us for च्रन् an in the 3 . pl.impf. : 3 . sg. द्रिद्राति dári-drä-ti, 3. pl. दरिद्रति dáridr-ati ; 3. pl. impf. च्रजत्तु: a-jakṣ-uh.
a. शूरस् s'ās, 'rule,' follows the same analogy; it also takes पिष् siṣ as its weak form before consonants : 3 . sg. शास्ति śás-ti, du. शिष्टष: śiṣ-ṭạh, pl. शूTसति sóss-ati.
B. Third or Hiu Class, x. दा dā, 'give,' and धा dhā, 'place,' use दह् dad and द्ध dadh as their bases in the weak forms.

दध् dadh (against $6_{3} b$ ) becomes धत् dhat before त् $t$ and थ् th: द्धामि da-dhắ-mi, but du. r. द्ध्व: dadh-váh, 2. धत्य: dhat-tháh. The 2. sg. impv. Par. is देहि de-hí and धेहिं dhe-hí.
2. मा mā, 'measure,' and हा hā, 'depart,' both Ātm., have मिमी mi-mī and जिही ji -hī as their present bases, dropping the ई i i before vowels: pres. sg. I. जिहि jíh-e, 2. जिहीषे jíhī-se, pl. 3. जिहते jíh-ate; impf. sg. x. अ्यजिहि á-jih-i, 2. अ्रजिहीथा: á-jihī-thāh, pl. 3. अ्रजिहत a-jih-ata.
$a$. हा hā, 'abandon,' Par., has जही jahī in the weak forms, dropping ईं $\bar{i}$ before vowels, and च् $\mathrm{y}: 3$. sg. जहाति jáhā-ti, but du. जहीतः jahi-tah, pl. जहति jah-ati; impv, 2. sg. जहीहि jahī-hi ; opt. r. sg. जह्याम् jah-yām.
C. Fifth or Su Class. I. Roots ending in vowels may drop the उ $u$ before व्् $v$ or म् $m$ : सुनोमि su-nó-mi, but सुन्व: sun-váh or सुनुव: su-nu-vaḥ.
2. Roots ending in consonants clange $\boldsymbol{\beta} \mathrm{u}$ to उव् uv before vowels : शक्णुवन्ति śak-nuv-anti.
 धुन dhu-nu as their present bases.
 'break,' हिंस himss, 'injure,' drop their nasal before inserting न na : च्रनज्मि $\mathrm{a}-\mathrm{n} \mathrm{a}-\mathrm{j}-\mathrm{mi}$, भनज्मि bha-ná-j-mi.
E. Eighth or Tan Class, क्ट kr, ' do,' takes करो kar-ó as its strong base, and as its weak कुरु kur-u, the $\overline{\mathrm{u}} \mathrm{u}$ of which must be dropped before म् $m$, य् $y$, व् $v$ : करोमि karó-mi, कुतुथः kuru-tháh ; but कुर्व: kur-váh, कुर्मः kur-máh; कुर्याम् kur-yấm. Other verbs of this class may drop the उ $u$ before व् $v$ and म् $m$ as in the fifth.
F. Ninth or Krī Class. I. धू dhū, 'shake,' पू pū, 'purify,' लू lū, 'cut,' shorten their vowel: धुनामि dhu-nâ-mi, पुनामि pu-nà-mi, लुनामि lu-nâ-mi.

2. ज्रा jñā, 'know,' and ग्रह्, grah, 'seize,' are shortened to जा $j \bar{a}$

3. बन्ध् bandh, 'hind,' and मन्थ् manth,' churn,' drop the nasal : बधामि badh-nắ-mi ; मथू Ifि math-nắ-mi.

The Perfect Tense.

135. This tense is formed either by reduplication or periphrastically. Roots follow the former method, derivative verbs (chiefly causatives) the latter. There are also four roots with a prosodically long initial vowel ( $139 a$, I) which take the periphrastic perfect.

Special Rules of Reduplication,

 syllable ; e.g. कृ kr, ' do ': चकार ca-kắr-a ; तृ tṛ, ' cross': ततार ta-tàrr-a ; क्लप् k!̣p, 'be able': चक्टपे ca-k!p-é.
2. Initial 羽 a or त्रा $\bar{a}$ becomes त्रा $\bar{a}$; e.g. न्र्यद्न ad, 'eat': न्राद $\frac{1}{a} d-a$; ㅋ्राप् āp,' obtain ' : च्राप $\frac{1}{a} p-a(c p . ~ I 39 a, ~ I) . ~$ the radical द् i take Guṇa or Vṛddhi, य् y is inserted between the reduplicative syllable and the root; e.g. दूष् is, 'desire,' 3. pl.

4. Roots beginning with or containing य ya or व va, and liable to Samprasārana (cp. 137, $2 c$ ), reduplicate with द्र i and $\overline{\mathrm{J}} \mathrm{u}$ : वच् vac, 'speak': उवाच u-vāc-a ; यज् yaj, 'sacrifice': द्याज i-yāj-a.
136. The singular perfect active is strong, like the singular active present and imperfect, the root being accented; the remaining forms are weak, the terminations being accented. The endings are-

The terminations beginning with consonants are added with the connecting vowel द्र except in the eight verbs: द्री dru, 'run,' श्यु śru, 'hear,' स्तु stu, 'praise,' सु sru, "flow,' कृ kr, 'do,' मृ bhṛ, 'bear,' वृ vr,' choose,' ट्ट s!r,' go,' where it must be omitted. The $3 . \mathrm{pl}$. $\overline{\mathrm{t}} \mathrm{tm}$. retains the F i even in these verbs. In 2. sg. Par. it is omitted by many other verbs also, and is optional in verbs in न्रा $\overline{\mathrm{a}}$, as well as in most of those in दू i , ई $\overline{\mathrm{I}}$, उ $u$.

The Strong Base.

1. Short vowels followed by a single consonant take Guña throughout the singular ;
e.g. दूष् iṣ, 'wish': द्येष् i-y-éṣ; बुध् budh, 'wake': बुबोध् bu-bódh; but जीव्jīv, 'live': जिजीव ji-jīv.
2. Final vowels take Vṛddhi or Guṇa in the first person singular, Guna in the second, Vṛddhi only in the third; e.g. द् i, 'go': 1. द्रयाय i-y-áy-a or द्यय i-y-áy-a ; 2. द्येथ i-y-é-tha; 3 . दूयाय i-y-āy-a; कृ kṛ, 'do': 1. चकार ca-kầr-a or चकर ca-kár-a ; 2. चकर्थ ca-kár-tha; 3. चकार ca-kâr-a.
3. Medial #्र a followed by a single consonant takes Vrrddhi in 3. sg. and optionally in I.; ө.g. हन् han, 'kill': 1 . जघान jaghắn-a, or जघन jaghán-a, 3. जघान jaghắn-a.
 in I. 3. sg., retaining 新 $\overline{\text { a }}$ before थ tha in 2. sg. (ep. p. 107, $a$ ); e. g. धा dhā, ' place ': I. 3. दधौ da-dhaú, 2. द्धाथ dadhă-tha.
$a$. हे hve or हा hvā, 'call,' is treated as $\overline{\text { E }} \mathrm{hu}: 3 . \mathrm{sg}$. जुहाव ju-hāv-a.

The Weak Base.

137. I. In the case of roots containing the vowels $\overline{1}, \frac{4}{4}, r$, the radical syllable remains unchanged, except by Sandhi;
e.g. बुध् budh: बुबुधिम bu-budh-i-ma; कृ kr: चद्वम ca-kr-má; सु stu: तुष्षुम tu-sṭu-má.
 if preceded by one consonant become J. $y$, T $r$, if by more than ta-star-úḥ; यु yu, 'join': युयुवुः yu-yu-v-uḥ; कह $k \bar{r}$, 'scatter': चकर्: ca-kar-úh.

138. In the case of roots containing a medial च्र a or a final च्रा $\bar{a}$, the radical syllable is weakened.
a. Roots in which $\bar{\gamma}$ a is preceded and followed by a single consonant (e.g. पत् pat), and which reduplicate the initial consonant unchanged (this excludes roots beginning with aspirates, gutturals, and for the most part व्, v), contract the two syllables to one with the diphthong ए e (cp. Lat. căp-io, cēp-i). This contraction takes place even in 2. sg. Par. when थ tha is added with ₹ $i$ (the strong form being used when थ tha is added without दi);
e.g. पच् pac, 'cook': 2. sg. पेचिण pec-i-thá (but पपक्ष्थ papák-tha), 3. pl. पेचु: pec-úḥ; तन् tan, 'stretch': तेनिय ten-i-thá, तेनु: ten-úh.
b. जन् jan, 'be born,' and four roots with medial च्र a beginning with gutturals, viz. बन् khan, 'dig,' गम् gam, 'go,' घस् ghas, 'eat,' हन् han, 'kill,' weaken the root by dropping the radical vowel : 3. sg. Ātm. जन्चे ja-jñ-é; 3. sg. Par. जगाम ja-gám-a, but 3. pl. जग्मु: ja-gm-úḥ; जघास ja-ghấs-a, but जच्तु: ja-ks-úḥ ; जघान ja-ghấn-a, but जघ्यु: ja-ghn-úḥ̣ (cp. I34, 2 c).
c. Five roots beginning with व va, viz. वच् vac, 'speak,' वढ् vad, 'speak,' वप् vap, 'strew,' वस् vas, 'dwell,' वह्ह vah, 'carry'; also यज् yaj, 'sacrifice,' व्यध् ryadh, 'pierce,' स्वप् svap, 'sleep,' यह्ड grah, 'seize,' take Samprasāraṇa. In the first five उu+ उ u

d. Roots ending in \#्रा $\vec{a}$ drop it in all the weak forms, and optionally in 2. sg. Par. (see $13^{6}$ a and 138,3 ).

Irregularities.

1. भज bhaj, 'share,' though beginning with an aspirate, follows the analogy of the contracting verbs with ए © ( $37,2 a$ ): 3. sg. बभाज ba-bhâjj-a, but 3. pl. भेजु: bhej-úh..
2. यम् yam, 'reach,' and वम् vam, 'vomit,' though beginning with य ya and व va, do not take Samprasāraṇa, but follow 137, $2 a$ : ययाम ya-yắma, but येमे yem-é; ववाम va-vām-a, but वेमु: vem-uḥ; while वस् vas, 'wear,' $\bar{A} t m$., does not weaken the root at all : ववसे va-vas- $\theta$.
3. विद् vid, 'know,' forms an unreduplicated perfect with present meaning: वेद् véd-a,'I know' (Gk.oiठa, Germ. weiss), वेत्य vét-tha (oi $\sigma-\theta a$ ), वेद् véd-a (oiठ $)$; विद्म vid-má ( $\% \delta-\mu \in \nu$, wissen), विद् vid-र, विदु: vid-úḥ.
4. चि ci, 'gather,' जि ji, 'conquer,' हि hi, 'impel,' हन् han, 'kill,' revert to their original guttural in the radical syllable: ja-ghấn-a (cp. 137, 2 b).
${ }^{1} \mathrm{Or}$ डवाच u - $\frac{1}{\frac{1}{a}} \mathrm{c}-\mathrm{a}$ 。 ${ }^{2}$ Or उवक्थ u-vák-tha.
5. च्रह् ah, 'say,' is defective, forming only 2. sg. dual ; 3. sg.

6. चर्च्च arc, 'praise,' reduplicates with the syllable च्रान् ān : 3. sg. च्रानर्च ān-arc-a. Thisis a survival of a reduplication, appearing in a few Vedic verbs, which started from roots with initial ت्र a followed by a nasal (अंभ् amś, 'reach ': স्रांप्स ān-áṃś-a).
7. भू bhü, 'be,' has the double irregularity of reduplicating with $\bar{x}$ a and retaining its $\overline{\mathrm{K}} \mathrm{\bar{u}}$ throughout (cp. Gk. $\pi \varepsilon-\phi \dot{v}-\bar{a} \sigma \iota$ ):

Periphrastic Perfect.

139. The verbs which cannot reduplicate, form their perfect by making an abstract feminine noun in the accusative, 耳्राम् ám, and adding to this the reduplicated perfect of $\bar{\sigma} \mathrm{kr},{ }^{\prime}$ do,' च्रस् as, 'be,' or भू bhū, 'be.' This formation started with the employment of the transitive verb छ्ध kr, e.g. गमयां चकार gamayám cakāra, 'he did going,' i.e. 'he did go'; but in classical Sanskrit the periphrastic perfect is usually formed with च्रस् as, the other two auxiliariea occurring only exceptionally. The periphrastic perfect is almost entirely limited to the derivative verbs in च्रय aya (tenth class, causatives, and denominatives); ө.g. बोधयामास bodhayám āsa, 'he awakened.' Hardly any instances of desideratives or intensives are found in this tense.
a. The following are the few cases in which primary verbs take the periphrastic perfect:- 140. Four roots beginning with a prosodically long vowel : अ्रास् ās, 'sit,' ईच् iks, ' see,' उज्दूस ujjh, 'forsake,' एध् edh, 'thrive'; e.g. च्रासां चक्रे ās-àm cakre, 'he sat.'
141. The reduplicated roots चकास् ca-kās, 'shine,' and जागृ ja-gr, 'awake' (properly an intensive, 134,4 ) : चकासां चकार cakās-āṃ cakārra, जागरामTस jāgar-ān āsa.
142. The roots भृ bhṛ, 'bear,' and, in the Epics, नी $n \overline{1}$, 'lead,' and हे hve, 'call,' optionally: बिभरां बभूव bibhar-ām babhūva or बभार ba-bhār-a, 'he bore'; (च्रा)नयामास ( $\overline{\mathrm{a}}$-)nayām āsa or निनाय ni-nấy-a, 'he brought,' ह्यामास hvay-ām āsa or जुहाव ju-hăv-a, 'he called.'

Aorist.

140. There are two kinds of aorists in Sanskrit, as in Greek. The First is formed by inserting a sibilant between root and termination, the Second by adding the terminations to the root with or without the connecting vowel 汤 a . Both aorists take the augment (which is accented) and the secondary terminations. There are four forms of the First Aorist, and three of the Second.

First Aorist.

141. The first form is made by adding to the augmented root the suffix स sa, and is inflected like an imperfect of the first conjugation (á-bhava-t). It is taken by only a few roots ending in श् ${ }^{\prime}$ and ह्ट h (which become क्त before स् $\mathrm{s}: 64 b, 68 a$ ), and containing the vowels $\mathcal{Z} i, \mathcal{J}$, or $\overline{\text { Fe }} \mathrm{r}$, which remain unchanged;
e.g. दिश् diś, 'show': 3. sg. च्र्नि्चत् á-dik-ṣa-t. This form corresponds to the Greek First Aorist ( $\xi-\delta \in \iota \xi \in$, Lat. dixi-t).

142. The other three forms of the First Aorist are made by adding to the augmented root the suffixes स् $\mathbf{s}_{5}$ द्रष् i-s, सिष् s-i-s respectively, and are inflected like imperfects of the second conjugation ( $\hat{c}$-dves-am). The sis-form is used in the Par. only, by a few roots ending in च्रा $\bar{a}$, which remains unchanged throughout. The s-form and is-form are used by roots ending in other vowels than च्रा $\bar{a}$ or in consonants; both have Vṛddhi throughout the Parasmaipada (a medial vowel has only Guna in the iṣ-form) and Guna throughout the $\bar{A}$ tmanepada (a medial vowel and final FE $r$ remain unchanged in the s-form). All three forms have the peculiar endings ईस् is, ईत् it in the 2. 3. sing. Par., and must take उस् us in the 3. plur.

Irregularities of the s-form.

144. I. Terminations beginning with स्त् st or स्थ, sth drop their स् $s$ if the base ends in a short vowel or in a consonant except $\leqslant r$, म् $m$, or न् $n$ (the two latter become Anusvāra) :
 from ह्夭 kr, ' do'; च्रमंस्त á-maṃ-sta, from मन् man, 'think'; #ंर्रंख á-ramp-sta, from रम् ram, 'be glad.'
145. The terminatiou ध्वम् dhvam (before which the स् $s$ of the aorist is always lost) becomes ढ्वम् ḍhvam when attached to a root ending in any other vowel than न्र्रा $\bar{a}$ (i.e. when the स् $s$ would have become the cerebral ष्, s.): अनेढ्बम् á-ne-dhvam, चद्रद्धढ्वम् á-kr-ḍlhvam.
146. दा dā, 'give,' धा dhā, 'place,' स्था sthā, 'stand' (which take the second aorist in the Par., 148), change their vowel to द्य before the terminations of the Ātmanepada: च्रिषि á-di-si, च्र्थिया: á-di-thāh, च्रदित á-di-ta, च्रद्विष्वहि á-di-ṣvahi, &c.
147. दृश् drs', 'see,' स्टज् srj̣, 'create,' स्पृश् sprś, 'touch,' take Vrddhi with metathesis in the Par.;
e.g. 3. sg. च्रस्राच्चीत् á-srālk-ṣit (cp. $64 a$, foot-note 2), du.

习द्रात्तीत् á-drāk-ṣìt, च्रस्प्राच्चीत् á-sprāk-ṣīt, &c.
148. The aorist of दह् dah, 'burn,' and त्ध् rudh, 'hinder,' is difficult owing to the Sandhi (cp. $68 a, 63 b$ ) : अ्रधТ च्तम् á-dhāk-ṣam, du. 2. च्रद्गग्धम् á-dāg-dham, pl. 2. च्मदाग्ध á-dāg-dha; Ātm. ॠधच्चि á-dhak-sii, च्रद्धा: á-dag-dhāḥ, ऋद्ध á-dag-dha;
pl. 2. चधगध्वम् á-dhag-dhvam (63a); अर्रीत्सम् á-raut-sam ; du. 2. अरौच्दम् á-raud-dham $(63$ b), pl. 2. छरौद्घ á-raud-dha; Ātm. ت्रहुत्सि á-rut-si, #्रहुद्धा: á-rud-dhāh, ت्रकु्ध á-rud-dha; pl. 2. अ्रहध्ध्वम् á-rud-dhvam, 3. #्रकृत्सत á-rut-sata.

Third or is-form.

145. This form differs from the preceding merely in adding the स् $s$ with the connecting vowel $\overline{<} i$ (which changes it to ष्:, $66 b$ ). The terminations of the 2.3 . sg . are द्रीस्स is, द्र्त्र it (for iṣ- s , iṣ- t ). Hardly any Parasmaipada forms from roots ending in vowels occur in classical Sanskrit, but an is-aorist, inflected in both voices, which occurs in the older language, may be taken as a paradigm for the active as well as the middle.

146. This form differs from the preceding one simply in prefixing an additional s to the suffix. It is conjugated in the Parasmaipada only, and is used by not more than six roots ending in त्रा $\bar{a}$. या yā, 'go,' may serve as an example:-

Second Aorist.

147. This aorist is like an imperfect formed directly from the root, the terminations being added with or without the connecting vowel $\overline{7}$ a.

The first form is like an imperfect of the sixth class, the base being formed by adding $\overline{\mathrm{X}}$ a to the unmodified root. It corresponds to the Second Aorist of the first conjugation in Greek ( $\epsilon-$-тv $\pi-0-\nu$ ).

Irregularities.

2. दुश्् drś, 'see,' takes Guṇa: म्रदर्शत्त á-dars'-a-t.
3. घ्रस् as, 'throw,' adds थ् th to the root: न्गास्थत् ás-th-a-t.
4. पत् pat, 'fall,' and वच् vac, 'speak,' form contracted reduplicated aorists : ₹्रपप्तम् á-pa-pt-am, च्रवोचम् á-voc-am (for á-va-uc-am, cp. Gk. є́-є $\iota \pi-o-\nu)$.

Second Form.

148. The imperfect terminations of the second conjugation are attached to the root. This form corresponds to the Second Aorist of the second conjugation in Greek: च्रधाम् á-dhä-m, 'I placed ' ( $\epsilon-\theta \eta-\nu$ ); जस्थात् á-sthā-t, 'he stood ' (ढै- $\sigma \tau \eta$ ); ㅋ्रगTत् á-gā-t, 'he went' ( $\epsilon$ " $-\beta \eta$ ); घभूत् á-bhū-t, 'he became' ( $\epsilon$ - $-\phi \bar{u})$. A few verbs ending in च्रा $\bar{a}$ (as well as भू bhū, 'be') take this form. This च्रा $\bar{a}$ is retained throughout except before the उस् us of the $3 \cdot \mathrm{pl}$. There is no $\bar{A}$ tmanepada (cp. 144, 3).

Third or Reduplicated Form.

149. Excepting the primary verbs द्रु dru, 'run,' and श्रि śri, ' go,' this aorist has attached itself to the secondary conjugation in घ्रय aya (tenth class and causatives). The base is formed by a peculiar reduplication of the root, to which $\bar{\gamma}$ a is attached. The inflexion is like that of an imperfect of the first conjugation. Upwards of forty verbs take this aorist in classical Sanskrit.

Special Rules of Reduplication.

 tive syllable by $\bar{\alpha} \mathrm{i}$.
2. The vowel of the reduplicative syllable, unless already long by position, is lengthened.
a. The quantity of the first three syllables of the base is almost invariably $\cup-\cup: ~ a ̆-j i ̄ 1-j a ̆ n-a t, ~ a ̆-j i-g r a ̆ h-a t, ~ a ̆-s ́ i-s ́ r i ̌-y-a t, ~ a ̆-v i ̄-v ̌ ̌ s ́-a t, ~$ ă-dī-dب̣̂s'at, ă-dī-dăr-at (from dṛ̂), ă-du-drŭ-v-at, ă-mū-mŭc-at, ă-cī-k!̣̆p-at.

Irregularities.

1. दीप् dip, 'shine,' and मील mil, 'wink,' retaining their long radical vowel, do not lengthen the reduplicative syllable: चद्रिदीपत् $a$-didīp-a-t, च्रमिमीलत् $a$-mimīl-a-t.
2. राध् rādh, 'succeed,' and व्यध् vyadh, 'pierce,' shorten their radical syllable: चर्ञर्धत् ă-rī-rădh-a-t, चवीविधत् ă-vī-v̌dh-a-t (cp. I33, B 2).

Benedictive or Precative.

150. The active of this form is very rare, while the middle does not occur at all, in classical Sanskrit. It is an aorist optative, being formed by adding the terminations directly to the root. The terminations are those of the optative of the second conjugation, with स् s inserted between या yā and the personal inflexions. The 2. 3. sing. are यास् yās (for yā-s-s), यात् yāt (for yā-s-t: cp. 28). The Benedictive Par. of बुध् budh, 'know,' would be formed as follows :-

| I. बुध्यासम् budh-yắ-s-am | बुध्यास्व  budh-yâ-s-va | बुध्यास्म  budh-yâ-s-ma |

Simple Future,

151. The future is formed by adding to the base the suffix स्य syá, or, with the connecting vowel द् i, दूष्य i-șyá, and is inflected like a present of the first conjugation (bhávāmi). Most of those ending in consonants take द्ष्य iṣa. Derivative verbs regularly take the latter.
152. Final vowels and prosodically short medial vowels take Guṇa;
e.g. द् i, 'go ': एष्यति e-syá-ti ; बुध् budh, ' perceive': भोत्सते bhot-sya-te; 反ृ् rudh, 'hinder': रोत्यति rot-sya-ti; वृ kr, 'do': करिष्यति kar-i-şá-ti ; भू bhū, 'be': भविष्यति bhav-i-șyáti.
a. Several roots take both forms; e.g. दह् dah, 'burn': धच्यति dhalk-șyá-ti and द्हिष्यति dah-i-sya-ti.
b. Derivatives in छ्रय aya retain their present base, dropping only their final シa; e.g. चोरय cor-aya: चोरयिष्यति coray-i-s.sya-ti.

I. Several verbs have र ra instead of घर्र् ar before स sya (cp. 144, 4) : दृश् dŗs, ' see,' स्ट् srjj, 'emit,' स्ट् sṛp, 'creep,' स्पृश् sprs', 'touch': द्रृच्यति dralk-şyá-ti, स्नच्यति sralk-ṣya-ti, स्नप्सति srap-sya-ti, स्प्रच्यति sprak-s.jya-ti.
2. A few verbs strengthen the root with a nasal before स्य sya: न् naś, 'be lost': नङ्न्च्यति nañk-syati as well as नशिष्यति naś-i-sya-ti; मच्ज् majj, 'sink': मङ्च्च्यति mañk-sya-ti.
3. वस् vas, 'dwell,' changes its स् $s$ to त् $t$ before स्स sya: वत्स्यति vat-sya-ti.
4. ग्रह् grah, 'seize,' takes है i instead of द् $i$ as its connecting vowel : ग्रहीष्यति grah-ī-sya-ti (cp. 160, 3 a).

Periphrastic Future.

152. It is formed by adding the present of the verb अस् as, 'be,' to the nom, masc. of a base in तृ -tr expressive of an agent (ror). The nom. sing. is used in all forms except the third persons dual and plural, in which the nom. dual and plural appear. The auxiliary is omitted in the third persons. The Parasmaipada only is found in use. About forty verbs, chiefly in the Epics, take this form of the future.
a. तृ $\operatorname{tr}$ is added, with or without \& $i$, to the gunated root, much in the same way as sya. But roots ending in ₹ट r $r$, as well as गम् gam, 'go,' and हन् han, 'kill,' reject the connecting vowel : हृ kr: कर्तान्मि kartāsmi (but करिष्यामि kar-i-syã-mi) ; गन्तास्मि gantásmi (but गमिष्यामि gam-i-ṣyā-mi).

Conditional.

153. This is a past tense of the future 2 meaning 'would have.' It is formed by turning the simple future into a past, which is inflected like an imperfect of the first conjugation (abhavam). Extremely rare even in the Par., it is still rarer in the Ātm. It is to be met with chiefly in the Epics and the dramas.
E.g. भू bhū : Fut. भविष्यामि bhav-i-syàmi ; Cond. ॠ्रभविष्यम् á-bhaviṣy-am, च्रभविष्य: á-bhaviṣya-ḩ, च्रभविष्यत् á-bhaviṣya-t, \&c. ; Ātm. उ्रभविष्ये á-bhaviṣy- $\theta$, \&c.
₹ i, 'go': Fut. एष्यामि e-șyàa-mi ; Cond. ऐष्यम् aissy-am, ऐष्य: aíṣya-ḥ, ऐष्यत् aíṣya-t, &c. ; Ātm. पेष्ये aíṣy-e, &c.

Passive.

154. The passive, which takes the terminations of the Ātmanepada, differs from the latter only in the forms made from the present base (and in 3 . sg. aor.). From the $\overline{\mathbf{A}}$ tm. of verbs of the fourth class it differs in accent only: नह्यते náh-ya-te, 'he binds'; नह्यते nah-yá-te, 'he is bound.'

Before adding य:ya, the root undergoes the following changes:-

1. Final ग्रा $\bar{a}$ (or diphthongs: 129,8) remains or becomes ई $\overline{1}$; e.g. ज्ञा jñā,'know': ज्ञायते jñā-yá-te; पा pā, 'drink': पीयते pī-yá-te ; गT gā, 'sing' (or गे gai): गीयते gī-yá-te.
2. Final द् i and उu are lengthened; e.g. दूi,' go': र्र्यते $\bar{i}$-yá-te; fि ci, 'collect': चीयते cī-yá-te; ग्रु śru, 'hear': श्रूयते śrū-yá-te.
3. Final $\overline{\text { Fe }} \mathrm{r}$ after a single consonant becomes fि ri, after two consonants, ॠर् ar ; ө.g. वा kr , 'do': क्रियते kri-yá-te; सृ smr, 'remember': स्मर्यते smar-yá-te.

 instance) : पूर्यते pūr-yá-te.
4. Roots ending in a consonant preceded by a nasal, lose the nasal ; e. g. भञ्ञ bhañj, 'break': अज्यते bhaj-yá-te.
5. Roots liable to Samprasāraña ( $\mathbf{1 3 7}, 2$ c) take it;
e. g. यज् yaj : द्ज्यते ij-yá-te ; वच् vac: उच्यते uc-yá-te; ग्रह् grah : गृद्यते gṛh-yá-te ; स्वप् svap: सुप्यते sup-yá-te.
6. Derivative verbs in चय aya drop the suffix while retaining the strong radical vowel; e.g. चोरय cor-aya: चोर्यंते cor-yate; कार्य $k \bar{a} r$-aya (from क्ष kṛ) : कार्यते kār-ya-te.

Irregularities.

I. खन् khan, 'dig,' has either खन्यते khan-yá-te or खायते khā-yá-te; जन् jan, 'beget,' has जायते jà-ya-te, 'is born' (properly an Ātm. of class IV : cp. 133, B 2).
2. शूास् sāas, 'command,' has either श्रास्यते s'ās-ya-te or शिष्यते sisis-ya-te (cp. 134, $4^{a}$ ).
3. हूT hvā, 'call' (or हे hve), has हुयते hū-yáte (cp. I36, 4a); वा vā (वे ve), 'weave,' ऊयते ū-ýa-te.

Aorist Passive.

155. The $\overline{\text { A }}$ tm. of this tense supplies the place of the passive except in the third person singular, which has a special form. Here the augmented root adds the suffix \& $i$, which requires Vṛddhi of a final and Guna of a medial vowel (but $\begin{aligned} & \text { a is }\end{aligned}$ lengthened) followed by a single consonant; after च्रा $\bar{a}, a$ घ् is inserted;
e.g. ग्रु śru : ग्रश्रावि á-śrāv-i; कृ kr : च्रकारि á-kār-i ; पढ् pad, 'walk': च्रपादि á-pād-i ; विश् vis', enter': चवेशि $a$-veś-i; मुच्muc, 'release': च्रमोचि á-moc-i ; ज्ञा jñ̄̄, 'know': #्रज्ञायि á-jñā-y-i.
a. रभ् rabh, 'seize,' inserts a nasal : झर्मि a-rambh-i.
b. प्є $\mathrm{p} \overline{\mathrm{r}}$, 'fill,' has च्रपूरि a-pūr-i (cp. 154,4 ).
c. गम् gam, 'go,' रच् rac, 'fashion,' वध् vadh, 'slay,' do not lengthen their च्र a: अ्रगमि a-gam-i, अर्ररच a-rac-i, न्रवधि a-vadh-i.
d. Verbs in 尹्रय aya drop the suffix (cp. 154,7 ): रोपय rop-aya, causative of हह् ruh, 'mount': अ्रोपि a-rop-i.

PARTICIPLES, GERUNDS, AND INFINITIVE.

I. Active Participles.

156. The base of the present and future participles Par. is formed with the suffix ${\text { अ्रत्at (cp. } 8_{5} \text { ). The strong base is obtained }}^{\text {a }}$ by dropping the - i of the 3 . pl. pres. and fut. Par. : hence verbs of the third class and other reduplicated verbs ( $\mathbf{3} 4,4$ ) have no nasal in the strong base of the pres. part., while the fut. part. always has ت्रन्त् ant as its strong base. Thus :-

Pres. 3. pl. Pres. part. Fut. 3. pl. Fut. part.

|  | (strong). |  | (strong). |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
| भवन्ति | भवन्त् | भविष्यन्ति | भविष्यक्त् |
| bhávant-i ( I ) | bhávant | bhav-isyánt-i | bhavişánt |
| कीएन्ति | क्रीएन्त् | क्रेप्यन्ति | क्रेष्यन्त् |
| krī-ņ-ánt-i (9) | krīnánt | kre-syánt-i | kreşyánt |
| जुहूति | जुहत् | होष्यन्ति | होष्यन्त् |
| júhv-at-i (3) | júhvat | ho-ṣyánt-i | hosyánt |

a. The pres. part. of स्रस् as, 'be,' is सन्त्र sánt (3. pl. सन्ति s-ánt-i), that of हन् han, 'slay,' is घन्त् ghn-ánt. (3. pl. घन्ति ghn-ant-i) ${ }^{1}$.
157. The reduplicated perfect participle (89) is most easily formed by taking the 3. pl. Par., with which the weakest base is identical (only that the स् s in the latter, being always followed [^12]by a vowel, appears as ष_s.). In forming the middle and strong bases from this, the final vowel of the root (changed to a semivowel before उस् us) must be restored, and in the case of verbs which, after dropping उस् us, become monosyllabic, द्र i must be inserted :-

3. Plur. Weakest Base. Strong Base. Middle Base.

II. Ātmanepada and Passive Participles.

158. Present and Future Participles Ātmanepada and Passive are formed with the suffix मTन māna, which is added after dropping the 3.pl. termination ॰न्ते -ute: Ātm. pres. भवमान bháva-măna, fut. भविष्यमान bhaviṣyá-māna; Pass. pres. भूयमान bhūýá-māna.
a. The second conjugation takes シ्रान āná in the pres. $\bar{A} t m .:$ जुहान júhv-āna; but fut. होष्यमाएय hoṣyá-māna, Pass. pres. ह्यमान hūyá-māna.
159. The Perfect $\overline{\mathbf{A}}$ tm, would be formed with the suffix च्रान āna, which is added after dropping the termination दूरे ire of the $3 . \mathrm{pl}$. Ātm.; e. g. बभूविरे babhūv-iré: बभूवTन babhūv-āná. It has, however, become obsolete, only a few instances of it surviving in the sense of nouns or adjectives ; e.g. च्रनूचान anu ūcāná (from anu-vac, 'having repeated' $=$ ) 'learned.'
160. The Perfect Passive Participle is formed with the suffixes न ná and the much commoner त tá.
161. न na, which is taken by primary verbs only, and is attached immediately to the root, is used by $\quad$ good many roots ending in ऊर्ज ur ) and especially in द् d; e. g. म्लTmlā,' fade ': म्लान mlā-na; स्तीर्ये stīr-ņá; प्र p p, ' fill ' : पूर्षा pūr-ṇá ; भिद् bhid, 'cleave': भिन्न bhin-ná.
a. नुद् nud, 'push,' and विद् vid, 'find,' optionally take त ta : नुन्न nun-na or नुच्त nut-tá ; विन्न vin-na or वित्त vit-tá.
b. The final of a few roots in ज् $j$, which take न na, reverts to the original guttural ; e.g. अञ्ज bhañj,'break ': भग्न bhag-na ; भुज् bhuj, 'bend' : भुम्न bhug-na ; मज्ज् majj, 'sink': मग्न mag-na; विज् vij, 'tremble ': विग्न vig-na.
162. त ta is attached to the root with or without the connecting vowel दू i : जित ji-ta, 'conquered'; पतित pat-i-ta, 'fallen.' When attaching the suffix immediately, the root has a tendency to be weakened in the usual way: verbs liable to Samprasäraṇa ( $\mathbf{1} 37,2 \mathrm{c}$ ) take it, च्रा $\bar{a}$ is in some cases weakened to ईं $\bar{i}$ or even द् $i$, a final nasal is in several cases lost ${ }^{1}$; e.g. यज् yaj,' sacrifice ': द्ष iṣ-ṭa; वच् vac, 'speak': उत्त uk-tá ; स्वप् svap, 'sleep': सुप्त sup-ta; पा $\mathrm{p} \overline{\mathrm{a}}$, 'drink': पीत pī-tá; स्था sthā, 'stand ': स्थित sthi-tá; गम् gam, 'go': गत ga-tá; हन् han, 'kill': हत ha-tá.
a. धा dhā, 'place,' shows a double weakening : हित hi-tá (for dhi-tá).
b. दा dā, 'give,' forms its participle from its weak present base द्् dad: दत्त dat-tá. After certain verbal prepositions दत्त datta is weakened to त्त t-ta; e.g. च्राप्त à-tta (for ā-datta).

[^13]c. Several roots in ت्रम् am, instead of dropping the nasal, retain it, and lengthen the preceding vowel; e.g. कम् kam, 'love': कान्त kānta.
d. छ्वन् dhyan, 'sound,' follows the analogy of कम् kam, \&c.: ध्वान्त dhvānt $\hat{\text {; }}$; while a few others in अं्रन् an make their participle from a collateral form of the root in ग्रा $\bar{a} ;$ e.g. खन् khan, 'dig' : खात khā-tá; जन् jan,'be born': जTत jā-tá.
3. दूत i-ta is taken by a considerable number of primary verbs which end either in double consonants or in single consonants not easily combining with $\widetilde{ } \mathrm{t}$, and by all derivative verbs (which drop the final ت्र a or 习习्रय aya before it) ; e.g. शु ङ़् śank,' doubt': शूङ्ফित śank-i-ta; लिख् likh, 'scratch': लिखित likh-i-tá; ईप्स ip-sa, desiderative of च्राप् āp,'obtain' : द्रप्सित īp-s-i-tá; कारय kār-aya, causative of द्व kṛ, 'do ': कारित kār-i-ta.
$a$. The full form of the root is usually retained before द्रत ita; but वढ्ध vad, 'speak,' and वस् vas, 'dwell,' usually take Samprasāraṇa: उदित ud-i-tá, उषित uṣ-i-ta; while ग्रह् grah, 'seize,' always takes Samprasāraṇa and the connecting vowel ई्र i instead of द् i: गृहीत grh-ī-tá (cp. 151, 4).
161. By adding the possessive suffix वत् vat to the past pass. part. a new form of very common occurrence is made, which has the value of a perfect active participle; e.g. द्रत kr-tá,'done': क्टतवत् krta-vat, 'having done.' It is generally used as a finite verb, the copula being omitted;
e.g. स तत् कृतवान् sa tat krtavān, 'he (has) done it'; सT तत् क्वतवती sā tat krtavatī, 'she (has) done it' (cp. 89, foot-uote 2).
162. The Future Passive Participle is formed with the suffixes य ya, तव्य tav-yà, and च्रनीय an-íya. They corresponil in sense to the Lat. participle in -ndus.

1．Before the suffix य ya：－
a．Final न्रा $\bar{a}$ becomes ए e；e．g．दा dā：देय dé－ya，＇to be given．＇
b．Final द् $i$ ，र्द $\overline{1}$ take Guṇa，उ $u$ ，ऊ $\bar{u}$ Guṇa or Vṛddhi，न号 $\bar{r}$ Vŗddhi；e．g．जि ji ：जेय je－ya，＇to be conquered＇；नी nī：नेय ne－ya，＇to be led＇；ङु hu：हव्य hav－yá，＇to be offered＇；भू bhū： भाव्य bhāv－ya，＇about to be＇；द्व kṛ：कार्य kār－yà，＇to be done．＇
c．Medial द् i and उ u followed by a single consonant generally take Guna，F्र a is sometimes lengthened，F己 r remains unchanged； e．g．भिद् bhid ：भेद्य bhed－ya，＇to be split＇；युज् yuj：योज्य yoj－ya， ＇to be joined＇；शक् s＇ak：शूक्य śak－ya，＇possible＇；वच् vac： वाच्य và́c－ya，＇to be said＇；दृश्प् dṛ＇s ：दृप्य ḍ̣̂s＇－ya，＇to be seen．＇

2．Before the suffix तव्य tavya，the root takes Guna，being treated in the same way as before the तT tā of the periphrastic future（I52）：जि ji，जेतव्य je－tavya，＇to be conquered＇；भू bhū， भवितव्य bhav－i－tavyà ；गम् gam，गन्तव्य gan－tavyà ；दा dā： दातव्य dā－tavya．

e．g．चि ci ：चयनीय cay－anı̄ya；भू bhū ：भवनीय bhav－anīya； क्व kr：करापीय kar－aṇiya．
$a$ ．The न्रय aya of the causative is rejected：भावय bhāv－aya ： भावनीय bhāv－anīya，＇to be supposed．＇

III．Gerund or Indeclinable Participle．

163．The suffix used for forming this participle from the simple verb is त्वा $t v-\frac{1}{a}$（an old instrumental singular of a base in तु tu）． It is most easily attached to the root by substituting it for the त ta of the passive participle；
e．g．दृत kr－tá，＇done＇：कृत्वा kr－tvat，＇having done＇；उत uk－tá，＇spoken＇：उत्वा uk－tvā，＇having spoken＇；गत ga－tá， ＇gone＇：गत्वा ga－tva，＇having gone．＇
a. The suffix of the causative, च्रय aya, is, however, not rejected : चोरित cor•i-ta, 'stolen,' but चोरयित्वा cor-ay-i-tva, 'having stolen.'
164. If the verb is compounded with a preposition it takes य ya instead of त्वा tvä : भूत्वा bhū-tvá, but संभूय saṃ-bhū-ya; उत्का uk-tvā, but प्रोच्य pratuc-ya; from त tr̄, 'cross,' झ्रवतीर्य ava-tīr-ya, 'having descended'; from प्ध pr., 'fill,' संपूर्य saṃ-pūr-ya.
$a$. The suffix of the causative, ت्रय aya, is retained (excepting the final 林 a) before य ya if the radical vowel is short ${ }^{1}$;
e.g. संगमय्य sam-gam-ay-ya from संगमय sam-gam-aya, 'cause to assemble'; but विचार्य vi-cār-ya from विचार्य vi-cār-aya, 'consider.'
165. त्य tya is added, instead of य ya, to compound verbs ending in-
a. A short vowel : जित्वा ji-tváa, but विजित्य vi-jí-tya.
b. न् n, which is dropped; e.g. हन् han: ${ }^{\circ}$ हत्य -ha-tya or ${ }^{\circ}$ हन्य खन् khan, 'dig,' has ${ }^{\text {व वाय -khā-ya; तन् tan, 'stretch': }{ }^{\circ} \text { ताय }}$ -tā-ya as well as ${ }^{\circ}$ तत्य -ta-tya.
c. म् $m$, in a few optional cases, when the म् $m$ is dropped; e.g. गम् gam : त्रागत्य ā-ga-tya or ₹्रागक्य ā-gam-ya; नम् nam, 'bend': प्रएत्य pra-ṇa-tya or प्रएाम्य pra-ṇam-ya.
166. There is also a rare indeclinable participle in च्रम् am. It is most easily formed by adding the suffix to that form which the root assumes before the $\boldsymbol{Z} \mathbf{i}$ of the 3 . sg. aor. passive ( $\mathbf{I} 55$ ) ; e.g. श्रु śru: च्रश्रावि á-śrāv-i, 'it was heard': স्रावम् śrāv-am, 'having heard.'

IV. Infinitive.

167. The infinitive (=Lat. supine) is formed by adding तुम् tu-m (originally the ace. sg. of a verbal noun) to the form which the verb assumes before the ता tā of the periphrastic future ( $\mathbf{I}_{5}^{2}$ ), or the तव्य tavya $(162,2)$ of the future part. pass.; e.g. स्था sthā: स्थातुम् sthá-tum (Lat. sta-tum),'to stand'; बुध् budh: बोधितुम् bodh-i-tum, 'to awake'; भू bhū: भवितुम् bháv-i-tum, 'to be'; क्ष kr: कर्तुम् kár-tum, 'to do'; दृश् dṛs : द्रष्टुम् dráṣ-ṭm, 'to see'; वह् vah: वोढुम् vóḍhum, 'to carry'; सह् sah: सोढुम् soḍhum, 'to bear'; चुर् cur : चोरयितुम् coray-i-tum, 'to steal.'

DERIVATIVE VERBS.

I. Causatives.

168. This, the commonest class of derivative verbs, is formed with the suffix च्रय aya in the same way as the tenth class (I25,4), and is similarly inflected; e.g. नी $n \overline{1}$, 'lead': नायय nāy-aya, 'cause to lead'; क्ट kr, , make': कार्य kār-aya,' cause to make'; विद्ध vid, 'know': वेद्य ved-áya, 'cause to know'; सद् sad, 'sit': साद्य sād-áya, 'set.'
a. Most of the verbs in च्रा $\bar{a}$ insert प् $p$ before the causative suffix ; e.g. दा dā,' give': दापय dā-p-aya; स्था sthā, 'stand': स्थापय sthā-p-aya.
b. The causative suffix is retained (as in the tenth class) throughout the conjugation excepting the (reduplicated) aorist.

Irregularities.

1. ज्ञा jñā, 'know,' ग्ला gla, 'languish,' ह्ला mlā, 'fade,' सा snä, 'wash,' optionally shorten the radical vowel before पय paya : ज्ञापय jñā-p-aya or ज्रपय jña-p-aya, &c.
2. A few roots ending in other vowels than च्रा $\bar{a}$ take पय paya :

3．घू dhü，＇shake，＇makes धूनय dhū－n－aya ；प्री prī，＇love＇： प्रीएयय prī－n－aya，＇delight＇；भी bhī，＇fear＇：भीषय bhī－s．－aya，as well as the regular भायय bhäy－aya，＇frighten．＇
4．लभ् labh，＇take，＇inserts a nasal：लम्भय lambh－aya ；while दंश् daṃs，＇bite，＇retains its nasal ：दंश्य damś－aya（cp．I 33，4）．
5．हन् han，＇kill，＇substitutes the denominative base घातय ghāta－ya．

II．Desideratives．

169．Desiderative bases are formed by adding to the root， reduplicated in $\begin{gathered}\text { peculiar way，the suffix } \\ \text { स sa，directly in about }\end{gathered}$ seventy cases，but with the connecting vowel द्व i（i．e．द्र i－s．）in nearly thirty others．Thus भू bhū，＇be，＇becomes बुभूष bu－bhū－ṣa， desire to be，＇but जीव jīv，＇live，＇जिजीविष ji－jīv－iṣa，＇desire to live．＇Desideratives are inflected like verbs of the first con－ jugation（p．90）．

The accent being on the reduplicative syllable，the root as a rule remains unchanged，but－

1．Before स sa，final द्र $i$ and $\bar{u} u$ are lengthened，while 君 ri and चिचीष ci－cī－sa；स्तु stu，＇praise＇：तुष्टूष tu－ștū－ṣa；तु tr̄，＇cross＇： तितीर्ष ti－tīr－ṣa ；मृ mr，＇die＇：मुमूर्ष mu－mūr－şa．
总 $r$ takes it also，medial $\overline{3} u$ does so in one case，and medial द्र i not at all ；e．g．शू sí，＇lie＇：श्रिशूयिष śi－śay－isa ；श्ह śṛ，＇crush＇： शिपूरिष sí－śar－iṣa；नृत् nṛt，＇dance＇：निनर्तिष ni－nart－iṣa；विद् vid，＇know＇：विविदिष vi－vid－iṣa，as well as विवित्स vi－vit－sa．

Special Rules of Reduplication,

 reduplicative syllable (but ऊर् ūr, standing for $\overline{\text { Fe }}$ ṛ after labials, reduplicates with $\overline{\mathrm{S}} \mathrm{u}$ );
e. g. दह् dah,' burn': दिधच्त di-dhak-$̣a $(55,68 a)$; स्था sthā, 'stand ': तिष्ठास ti-ṣṭ̄̄-sa; स्टज् srj, 'create': सिस्ट्त्र si-sṛk-ṣa (64), भृ bhr., 'bear': बुभूर्ष bu-bhūr-ṣa; विश् viś,'enter': विविच्त् vi-vik-ṣa $(64$ b) ; बुध् budh, 'know': बुभुत्स bu-bhut-sa (55); दुह् duh, 'milk' : दुधुच्त du-dhuk-ฐa $(55,68 a)$.
2. The two or three roots beginning with vowels that take the desiderative, reduplicate internally with द्र i: 尹्रम् aś, 'eat,' obtain,' forms its base by contraction: ई्रप्स íp-sa.

Irregularities.

171. 172. गम् gam, 'go,' and हन् han, 'kill,' lengthen their radical vowel ; while मन् man,' think,' lengthens the reduplicative vowel as well: जिगांस ji-gāṃ-sa (beside जिगमिष jí-gam-iṣa); जिघांस jí-ghām-sa; मीमांस m̄̄-mām-sa, 'reflect.'
1. ग्रह्: grah, 'seize,' प्रक्ष prach, 'ask,' स्वप् svap, 'sleep,' take Samprasāraṇa: जिघृच ji-ghṛk-ṣa (55), पिपृच्छिष pi-pṛcch-iṣa, सुषुप्स su-şup-sa.
2. दा d̄, , give,' धा dhā, 'place,' मT mā, 'measure,' पढ्S pad, 'go,' रम् rabh, 'grasp,' बभ् labh, 'take,' शूक् śak, 'be able,' contract in such a way as to retain only the reduplicative vowel : दित्स di-t-sa, धित्स dhí-t-sa, मित्स mi-t-sa, पित्स pi-t-sa, fिप्स ri-p-sa, लिप्स li-p-sa, शिच
3. चि ci, 'gather,' जि ji, 'conquer,' हन् han, 'kill' (cp. I7I, r), revert to their original guttural : चिकीष ci-kī-ṣa (beside चिचीष ci-ci-şa), जिगीष jí-gī-ṣa.

III. Intensives (Frequentatives).

172. These verbs are meant to convey an intensification or frequent repetition of the action expressed by the simple root. Only monosyllabic verbs beginning with a consonant are liable to be turned into intensives. Hence neither verbs of the tenth class nor roots like घ习्रद् ad can form this derivative. About sixty roots (less than half the number found in Vedic literature) take the intensive in Sanskrit, but forms of it are of rare occurrence.

The base, which takes a peculiar kind of strong reduplication, has two forms. The one adds the personal terminations immediately to the reduplicated base (the first syllable of which was accented), being conjugated in the Parasmaipada only, like a verb of the third or reduplicated class (p.94) ; e. g. बोभोति bó-bho-ti from भू bhū, 'be.' The other adds accented य ya, in the same way as the passive ( 154 ), to the reduplicated base, being conjugated in the Ātmanepada only, like the passive (p.127); ө. g. बोभूयते bo-bhū-yá-te from भू bhū.
a. The first kind may optionally insert $\hat{\tilde{z}} \hat{1}$ before terminations beginning with consonants in the strong forms. Bases ending in consonants do not take Guna either before this $\hat{\mathcal{Z}} \bar{i}$ or before terminations beginning with vowels;
e.g. विद्ध vid, 'know': वेवेद्मि vé-ved-mi or वेविद्ीमि vé-vid-i-mi, r. imper. वेविदानि vé-vid-āni ; but द्र hū, 'call' : जोहोमि jó-ho-mi or जोहवीमि jó-hav-i-mi, जोहवानि jó-hav-āni.

Special Rules of Reduplication.

173. The reduplicative syllable takes Guna and lengthens羽 a ;
e. g. निज्_nij, 'cleanse': नेनेतिति né-nek-ti, नेनित्ते ne-nik-té; नी $n i ̄, ~ ' l e a d ': ~ न े न ी य त े ~ n e-n i ̄-y a ́-t e ; ~ ब ु ध ् ~ b u d h, ~ ' k n o w ': ~ ब ो ब ु ध ी त ि ~$ bo-budh-i-ti ; ्ㅓㅇ plu, 'float': पोমू यते po-plū-ya-te ; तप् tap, 'bo hot ': तातप्यते tā-tap-ya-te.
a. Roots ending in च्रम् am repeat the nasal instead of leng thening the vowel; caì-kram-yá-te.
b. Roots containing $\overline{\text { F }} \mathrm{r}$ insert \& $_{\overline{1}}$ between the reduplication and the root;
e.g. सृ mr, 'die': मरीमर्तर्त mar-ī-mar-ti; दृश् dṛs, 'see': दरीदृश्यत dar-ī-dṛs'-ya-te; नृत् nṛt, 'dauce': नरीनृत्यते nar-ī-nrt-ya-te.

Irregularities.

174. r. गृ gr, 'awake,' reduplicating with च्रा $\bar{a}$ (as if from गर gar), forms the base जागृ jā-gr, which has almost assumed the character of a root ( 134,4 ) and is used as the only present stem of the verb : 3. sg. जागर्ति jā-gar-ti, 3. pl. जाग्रति jáa-gr-ati.
a. दह्: dah, 'burn,' and जभ् jabh, 'snap at,' reduplicate with a nasal, while चर् car, 'move,' changes its radical vowel as well : दन्द्हीति dan-dah-ī-ti and द्न्ह्यते dan-dah-ya-te ; जअ्यते jañ-jabh-yá-te; च च्रूर्यते cañ-cūr-yá-te.
b. पढ् pad, 'go,' besides reduplicating with a nasal, inserts र्र i after it: पनीपद्यते pa-n-ī-pad-ya-te ; while द्रा drā, 'run,' reduplicates as if it contained $\begin{aligned} & \text { स } r \\ & r\end{aligned}$ (ouly that the inserted vowel is दू $i$, which, however, is long by position) : दरिद्राति dár-i-drā-ti (cр. 134, 4).

IV. Denominatives.

175. A large number of verbs, inflected like those of the a-conjugation (p.90), are derived, with the suffix य yá, from nouns, to which they express some such relation as 'be or act like,' 'treat as,' 'make,' 'desire.' Before the suffix, final द् $i$ and $^{2}$

उ u are lengthened; \#\#र्र a often is also, but sometimes becomes ई I (cp. $\mathbf{I}_{54}$, r ).
E.g. गोपाय gopā-yá, 'be like a herdsman (go-pā) to,' 'protect'; रTजाय rajā-ya, 'play the king' (rāja) ; द्रुमTय drumā-ya, 'rank as a tree' (druma); स्वामीय svāmī-ya, 'regard as a master' (svāmi); नमस्स namas-yá, 'pay homage (namas) to '; पुन्चीय putrī-ya, 'desire a son' (putra).
$a$. Denominatives which have the causative accent ( $a$-ya) are reckoned verbs of the tenth class by the Hindu grammarians. Such are मन्त्रय mantrá-ya,' take counsel' (मन्त्र mántra), कीर्तय kīrtá-ya, 'celebrate' (कीर्ति kīrti, 'fame') ; वर्गय varṇá-ya, 'depict,' 'describe' (वर्ए várṇa, 'colour'); कथय kathá-ya, 'tell how,' 'relate' (वथम् ka-thám, 'how?').

CHAPTER V  INDECLINABLE WORDS

Prepositions,

176. Owing to the cases having a more independent meaning than in the other Aryan languages, the number of prepositions is quite small, and their use is very limited in Sanskrit. They are nearly all postpositions ${ }^{1}$, and they do not ' govern,' but only define the general sense of, the case to which they are added. Of the dozen Vedic postpositions (also employed as verbal prefixes) Sanskrit preserves only three in common use:-
I. च्रनु ánu, 'after,' and प्रति práti (Gk. $\pi \rho o ̛ \tau \iota), ~ ' t o w a r d s, ' ~$ 'about,' after the accusative.

a. The following are also occasionally met with, nearly always following their case :-

Prepositional Adverbs.

177. There are also in use a number of ungenuine prepositions, that is to say, words which cannot be attached to verbs and the origin of which from cases is still for the most part clear. They are employed with all the oblique cases except the locative and the dative; with the latter case no prepositional word is ever connected in Sanskrit. These adverbs are given in the following list, grouped under the cases which they accompany:-
a. Acc. シन्तरा antarà and #ं्ररेए ántarena, 'between,' 'without'; the latter also 'regarding'; fनकषा nikaṣā and समया samáyā, 'near'; ت्रभितः abhí-taḥ, परितः parí-taḥ, सर्वत: sarvá-taḥ, समन्ततः samanta-taḥ, 'around'; उभयतः ubhayá-taḥ, 'on both sides of'; परेए páreṇa, 'beyond'; यावत् yầvat, 'during,' 'up to,' 'till' (also abl.).
b. Instr. सह् sahá, समम् samám, साकम् sākám, सTर्धम् sārdham, '(together) with'; विना vínā, 'without,' 'except' (also acc., rarely abl.).
c. Abl. All the adverbs used with this case express some modification of the fundamental ablative notion of separation : I. 'before' (of time) : चर्राक्त arvâk, पुरा purá, पूर्वम् púrvam, प्रTक् prák. 2. 'after' (of time) : ت्रनन्तरम् anantaram, ऊध्र्वम् ūrdhvám, परम् param, परतः para-tah, परेए páreṇa, प्रभृति prabhṛti (originally a fem. noun meaning 'commencement').

I42 PREPOSITIONAL NOUNS AND PARTICIPLES

3.' outside,' 'out of ': बहि: bahíḥ. 4.' apart from': ॠन्यन anyátra; Fट्टे rete (also acc.).
d. Gen. Nearly all the adverbs used with this case express some relation in space: r. 'before,' 'in presence of': च्रग्रे agre, ت्रग्रतः agra-táh, पुरतः pura-taḥ, पुरसात् purás-tāt, प्रत्य च्चम् pratyakṣam, समच्चम् sam-akṣám. 2.' after': पश्चात् paścât. 3.' beyond ': परत: para-taḥ, परस्तात् parás-tāt. 4.'above,' 'over,' 'upon': उपरि upári (also acc.) and उपरिष्टात् upári-sṭāt; the former also 'with regard to.' 5.'below': च्रध: adháh and च्रधसात् adhás-tāt. - With the gen. is also used कृते krte, 'for the sake of.'
178. The case-notions of the accusative ('whither'), ablative (' whence'), and locative ('where') are often paraphrased by nouns meaning 'proximity,' such as च्रन्तिक antiká, उपकएठ upa-kaṇṭa, निकट nikaṭa, सकाश् sakãśa, संनिधि sam-nidhi, समीप samīpa, पार्ग्व pārśvá ('side'). In the acc. they mean 'towards,' 'to, ' near'; in the abl., 'from'; and in the loc., 'near,' 'in the presence of': in each case governing the genitive. For example: रTज्ञोsन्तिकं गच्छ 'go to the king'; रघो: सकाशाद् न्र्रपासरत् 'he withdrew from Raghu'; मम पार्यें 'beside me,' near me'; तस्या: समीपे नलं प्रश्षांसु: 'they praised Nala in her presence.'

Prepositional Gerunds.

179. Several indeclinable participles are used in the sense of prepositions:-
r. With acc. उदिश्य ud-diś-ya, 'pointing at' = 'towards,' ' about,' ' at,' 'for.'

ت्रादाय $\bar{a}-d \bar{a}-y a$, गृहीत्वT g̣̣hī-tvā, 'taking,' नीत्वा nī-tva,', leading ${ }^{\prime}=$ ' with.'

In the above five senses च्रुपि api always follows the word to which it belongs. It is also used at the beginning of a sentence as an interrogative particle, and with the optative to express a wish or preference: अपि तपो वर्धते 'is your penance prospering?' च्र्रपि स कालः स्यात् 'would that the time had come'; च्रापि प्राएानहं जह्यां न त्वाम् 'I would rather abandon life than thee.' च्रुपि नाम api nāma, 'perhaps' (see नाम nāma).

द्ति iti, 'thus': $\mathbf{I}$. is used after the exact words of quotations. With verbs of saying it supplies the place of inverted commas and of the indirect construction in English: तवाज्ञां करिष्यामीति स मामुवाच tava a ajñạ̣̄̄ kariṣāmi iti sa mām uvāca, 'he said to me, I will do thy bidding,' or 'he told me that he would do my bidding.'

It is similarly used to quote thoughts, intentions, knowledge, though not uttered: बालोs पि नावमन्तव्यो मनुष्य दूति भूमिप: 'one should not despise a king, though a child, (thinking=) because he is a mere human being'; दातव्यमिति यह्दानं दीयते 'a gift which is presented from a sense of duty'; न धर्मशूस्त्रं पठतीति कारएम् '(the knowledge) that he reads the book of the law, is not a cause (of confidence in him).'
2. $\mathbf{~}^{\text {' here ends,' at the end of books, chapters, sections, acts : }}$ दूति तृतोयोs ङ्巾: ' here ends the third act.'
3. 'In the capacity of,' ' as regards,' ' as for' : शीघ्रमिति सुकरं निभृतमिति चिन्तनीयं भवेत् ' as for (doing it) quickly, it (would be) easy; as for (doing it) secretly, it would require consideration.' (See also किम् kim and तथा tathā.)

द्व iva, being enclitic, follows the word to which it belongs in sense: 1. 'like': च्रयं चोर द्वाभाति 'this man looks like a thief.' 2. 'as if,' 'as it were': साच्तात् पश्यामीव पिनाकिनम् 'I see, as it were, S'iva himself before me.' 3. 'somewhat'; सरोषमिव 'somewhat angrily.' 4. 'almost': मुहर्तमिव 'almost an hour.' 5. 'just,' 'quite': ॠ्रविंचिदिव 'just a little'; नचिरादिव 'quite soon.' 6. 'indeed,' 'pray" (German wohl), with interrogatives : किमिव मधुराएां मएडनं नाक्वतीनाम् ' what, indeed, is not an ornament to lovely figures ?'

उ u, an old particle of frequent occurrence in the Veda, meaning 'and,' is preserved in Sanskrit only in combination with किम् $\operatorname{kim}$ (q.v.), and in シ्रथो átho (for áthau, 'and so '), 'then,' and नो nó (for ná $u,{ }^{\text {, }}$ and not '), 'not.'

उत utá, a common particle in the Veda, meaning 'and,' 'also,' 'or,' survives only 1 . in combination with प्रति and किम्: प्रत्युत pratiuta, ' on the contrary '; किमुत kim uta, 'how much more,' 'how much less'; 2. in the second part of a double question: किम्- उत (=utrum-an) 'whether-or.' It is also frequent as an expletive at the end of a line in the Epics.
एव evá is a restrictive particle following the word which it emphasizes. It may often be rendered by 'just,' 'only,' 'exactly,' 'quite,' as well as in various other ways, sometimes merely by stress: एव एव 'quite alone'; दर्श्रनमेव 'the very sight'; च्रहमेव 'I myself'; तदेव 'that very,' 'the same'; मृत्युरेव 'sure death '; वसुधैव 'the whole earth.' चेव caeva, 'and also.' तथेव tathàeva, 'likewise,' 'also.' नैव naeva, 'not at all,' 'by no means.'
एवम् evám, 'thus,' 'so': एवमशतु 'so be it'; मैवम् māevam, 'not so!'

कचित् kác-cit (Vedic neuter of interr. कह् ká- + चिद्ध cid), used in questions expecting the answer 'yes' (Lat. nonne) $=$ ' $I$ hope': कचिद्टाष्टा त्वया राजन् दमयन्ती 'I hope you have seen Damayantī, 0 king ?' With negative $=$ ' $I$ hope not' (Lat. num): कचित्रु नापराधं ते क्वतवानस्सि 'I have not done you any injury, I hope?

कामम् kāma-m (acc. of काम 'desire'), primarily used as an adverb meaning 'at will,' 'gladly,' is frequently employed as a concessive particle: r. 'indeed,' 'certainly,' 'forsooth,' 'to be sure.' 2. 'granted,' 'supposing' (generally with imperative): कामम् - तु, किंतु, तथापि, or पुन: 'it is true-but,' 'althoughyet'; कामम्-न तु 'sertainly - but not,' 'rather—than' (cp. वरम्-न).

किम् kí-m : I . what?' 2. 'why?' 3. a simple interrogative particle not to be translated, and expecting the answer 'no" (Lat. num). 4. 'whether?' in double questions, followed by किं वा, किमुत, or simply उत, वा, or च्राहोस्विद् 'or.'
fंं च 'moreover.' किं तु 'but,' 'however.' किमिति, किमिव 'wherefore?' किं वा 'perchance?' किंस्विद्ध 'why, pray ?' 'I wonder?' किमपि I. 'very,' 'vehemently': किमपि हदती 'weeping bitterly'; 2. 'nay, more.' किमु, किमुत, किं पुन: 'how much more,' 'how much less' : एकेकम् च्रप्यनर्थाय किमु यच चतुष्टयम् 'even each singly (leads) to ruin, how much more when the four (are) combined!'

किल kíla (quidem): x. indeed,' 'certainly,' 'to be sure,' follows the word it emphasizes : च्रह्हति किल कितन उपद्रवम् 'to be sure the rogue deserves calamity.' Sometimes किल may be rendered by stress merely : एकस्मिन् दिने व्याघ्र च्राजगाम किल 'one day a tiger did come.' 2. 'they say,' 'we are told': बभूव योगी किल कार्तवीर्य: 'there lived, it is said, a devotee named Kärtavīrya.'

with the instrumental in the sense of 'have done with': वृतं संदे हेन 'away with doubt.'

केवलम् kevala-m, 'only': केवलं स्वपिति 'he merely sleeps '; न केवलम्— च्रपि ' not only-but.'

खलु khalu: I. 'indeed,' 'surely,' often merely emphasizing the preceding word. 2. 'pray,' 'please,' in entreaties : देहि खणु मे प्रतिवचनम् 'please give me an answer' (German doch). 3. with gerund = 'enough of,' 'do not' (like अ्रलम्): खलु पदित्वा 'do not weep.' न खलु 'not at all,' ' certainly not,' 'I hope not.'

च ca, enclitic (=Tє, que), 'and,' 'also': गोविन्दो रामश्य 'Govinda and Rāma.' In poetry the particle is occasionally misplaced : द्ह चामुच 'in this world and in the next.' When more than two words are connected, the conjunction is commonly used with the last only, as in English.
च-च I. 'both-and.' 2. 'on the one hand-on the other,' 'though-yet.' 3. 'no sooner-than.'

चेहु céd (ca+id), 'if,' never begins a sentence or half-line (as यदि 'if' does). झ्रण चेढ्ड 'but if.' न चेढ़ू or नो चेड़ु 'if not' (elliptically) $=$ 'otherwise': सर्व विमृघ्य कर्तव्यं नो चेत् पश्चात्तापं व्रजिप्यसि 'everything should be done after deliberation, otherwise you will come to repentance.' चेन्म cen, na, 'if-not'(apodosis): भावि चेम्म तद्न्या 'if it (is) to be, it (will) not (be) otherwise.' द्रि चेन्म 'if this (is objected, it is) not (so).'

तबः tá-taḥ: I. 'thence.' 2. 'thereupon,' 'then.' ततस्तत: tatas tataḥ $=$ 'what next,' 'pray go on' (with what you are saying).
तथा tá-thā: 1. ' thus,' 'so,' 'accordingly.' 2. 'likewise,' 'also,' 'as well as,' ' and' (= च). 3 . 'that is so, ' yes,' 'it shall be done.' तथा च 'so also,' 'similarly.' तथापि tathăapi, 'nevertheless.' तथा हि 'for so (it is),' 'so for instance,' ' that is to say,' 'namely.' तथेति tathā iti, ' yes.'
तद् tá-d (neut. of pron. 'that'): x . 'then,' 'in that case.' 2. 'therefore, ' 'accordingly': राजपुना वयं तढ् विग्रहं श्रोतुं नः कुतूहलमस्ति ' we are princes ; therefore we have a curiosity to hear of war.'
तावत् tà-vat: I . 'so long ' (correlative to यावत् 'how long,' ' while,' 'till'). 2. 'meanwhile.' 3. 'in the first place,' 'first.' 4. 'just,' 'at once' (with imperative = before doing anything else): दूतस्तावदागम्यताम् 'pray come here at once.' 5 . 'already,' 'even' (as opposed to 'how much more,' 'how much less'). 6. 'only,' 'merely.' 7 . 'at least': न तावन्मानुषी 'she (is) at least not a human being.' 8. (concessively) 'indeed,' 'certainly,' 'it is true' (followed by तु 'but,' &c.). 9. emphasizes a notion (like एव) : 'as for,' 'as regards,' 'only,' 'just,' 'quite,' or to be rendered by stress only.

तावत्-च 'scarcely—when.' न तावत् ' not yet.'
तु tú (never commences a sentence) : 'but,' ' however.' It is sometimes $=$ च or वा, or is a mere expletive; it is even found combined with च or repeated in the same sentence.
अंपि तु 'but rather.' न तु 'but not.' न त्वेव तु na tue eva tu, 'never at all.' परं तु 'yet,' 'however.' तु—तु 'indeed—but.' च-न तु ' although-yet not.’
न ná, 'not'; with indefinite pronoun $=$ 'no': न को sपि ('not any' $=$ ) 'no man'; न किंचित् 'nothing'; न व्वृचित् 'nowhere';

न कादाचित् 'never.' न if repeated amounts to an emphatic positive: न तन्न कश्चिन्न बभूव तर्पित: 'no one was there (who was) not satisfied,' i.e. 'every one was thoroughly satisfied.'

नाfप naapi, ' not even.' नेव naeva, 'not at all.'

नाम nấma, besides its adverbial meaning 'by name' (e.g. नलो नाम 'Nala by name'), has the following senses as a particle: I. 'indeed,' 'certainly,' to be sure': मया नाम जितम् 'I have indeed conquered.' 2. 'perhaps': दृष्टस्तवा कशिह्ध धर्म ज्ञो नाम 'you have perhaps seen a righteous man.' 3. ironically, with interrogatives = 'pray': को नाम राज्ञां प्रिय: 'who, pray, is a favourite with kings?' 4. with imperatives $=$ 'granted,' 'no matter if,' 'ever so much': स धनी भवतु नास 'let him be ever so rich.'

अपि नाम 1 . at the beginning of a sentence with potential = 'perhaps.' 2. emphasizes a preceding word more strongly than习्रपि alone. ननु नाम 'surely': ननु नामाहमिष्टा किल तव 'surely I am dear to thee.'
नो nó $(\mathrm{n} a+\mathrm{u})$ in the Veda meant 'and not,' 'nor,' but in Sanskrit simply =' not' ( cp . चेदु $)$.
G. nú, 'now,' with interrogatives =' pray' : को नु 'who, pray?' नु—नु, in double questions expressing uncertainty, '(either)-or': च्रयं भीमो नु धर्मों जु 'can this be Bhima or Dharma?'

नूनम् nū-ná-m, usually the first word in a sentence: 'in all probability,' undoubtedly,' 'assuredly': नूनं मन्ये न दोषोsसि नैषघस्य 'assuredly, I think, it is not the fault of the king of Niṣadha.'
परम् pára-m : r. 'highly,' 'greatly,' 'entirely,' 'very': परमनुगृहीतो $s$ स्मि ' I am greatly obliged.' 2. 'at the most': च्रायुस् तच मर्त्यानां परं निंश्र् भवति 'in it the life of mortals (lasts) at most thirty (years).' 3 . 'nothing but,' 'only ': विषाऐ स: परं न ते 'you only lack the horns.' 4. 'but,' 'however': सर्वशास्तपारगाः परं बुछ्धिरहिता: 'they (are) thoroughly versed in all learning, but lack intelligence.'

प्रायः prāyah, प्रायश्: prāaa-śah, प्रायेए prāyeña : r. 'for the most part,' 'generally,' ' as a rule.' 2. 'in all probability.'
बाढम् bādháa-m: I. ' certainly,' 'assuredly,' 'indeed.' 2. exprossing consent: 'very well.' 3 . expressing assent: 'so it is,' ' yes.'
मा $\mathrm{m}_{\text {â }}$, prohibitive particle ( $=$ Gk. $\mu \eta$ ), generally used with imperative or unaugmented aorist: मा गच्छ or मा गम: 'do not go.' मा स्म mā sma is employed in the same way. Both मा and मैवम् mã evam are used elliptically $=$ ' not so!' 'don't'; similarly मा तावत् ' not for heaven's sake!' 'God forbid.' मा नाम with potential or elliptically:=' would that not,' 'if only not': मा नाम रच्तिए: 'heaven forbid (that it should be) the warders.'
मु̧: múhuḅ: r. 'every moment,' 'repeatedly,' 'incessantly'
 'now-now,' 'at one time-at another.'

यतः yá-tab: r. ' whence ' (often = 'where,'sometimes=' whither'; often = ablative of the relative य). 2 , 'wherefore,' 'for which reason.' 3. 'because,' 'since,' 'for' (often introducing a verse in support of a previous statement). 4. 'that,' after questions or before oratio recta : किं नु दु:खमतः परम् दूच्छासंपद्ध यतो नास्ति "what misery is greater than this, that there is no fulfilment of desire?

यथा yá-thā: r. 'as': यथाज्रापयति देव: 'as your Majesty commands.' 2. 'like' (=द्व) : राजते मैमी सौदामिनी यथा 'the daughter of Bhïma shone like the lightning.' 3. 'as for instance.' 4. 'in order that-': यथा लद्न्यं पुरुं न मंस्यति 'in order that she shall think of no other man than thee.' 5 . 'so that': च्रहं तथा करिष्ये यथा स वधं करिष्यति 'I shall so contrive that he will slay him.' 6. 'that,' introducing (like यढ़) a direct assertion, with or without इति at the end: व्वयोंता मे यथा 'you told me that-.' यथा यथा-तथा तथा 'in proportion as - so,' 'the more - the more.' तद्यथा tad yathā, 'that (is) as (follows), ' thus for instance.'

यद्ञ yá-d: i. 'that,' introducing direct assertions (like Gk. örı) with or without द्वति at the end: वक्तव्यं यदिह मया हता प्रियेति 'you must say, "I have slain my beloved here."' 2. (so) 'that': किं यन्न वेत्सि त्वम् 'how (is it) that you do not know?' 3. 'in order that': किं शूक्यं कर्तु यन्म क्रुध्यते नृप: 'what car be done in order that the king be not angry ?' 4 . 'inasmuch as, ' because,' 'since.'
यदि yád-i, 'if' (cp. चेढ्). यदि वा : $x$. 'or else,' 'or rather,' 'or' : च्रज्ञानाद्यदि वा ज्रानात् 'unwittingly or wittingly.' 2. sometimes $=$ ' however.'

यावत् $y^{\frac{1}{a}}$-vat: I. (with correlative तावत्) 'as long as,' 'while,' 'till,' 'as soon as.' 2. 'meanwhile,' 'just,' expressing intended action : यावदिमां छायामाश्रित्य प्रतिपालयामि ताम् 'having resorted to this shade, I will just wait for her.' यावन्म yāvan na: 1. 'while not' $=$ 'till.' 2. sometimes $=$ 'if not.' न यावत्- तावत् 'scarcely - when,' ' no sooner - than.'

येन yéna : x. 'in which manner,' 'as' (corr. तेन). 2. 'whereby,' 'on what account,' 'wherefore,' 'why': शृरु येन न दृश्यने महीच्तित: 'hear, why the kings do not appear.' 3. 'because,' 'since' (generally with corr. तेन) : दूरस्थामपि येन पश्यसि कान्तां तं योगं मम चन्तुषोडप्युपदिश् 'since thou seest my beloved even when far away, teach this spell to my eye also.' 4. (so) 'that': उयायो दृष्टो येन दोषो न भविता 'a device has been contrived so that no blame will be incurred.' 5. 'in order that': तस्स च्छात्रतां व्रजामि येन विश्वस्तो भवति 'I will become his pupil, in order that he may be inspired with confidence.'

वरम् varam - न na, lit. 'the best thing (is)-(and) not'= 'better-than' (च, तु, or पुन: being generally added to the न na): वरं प्राएत्यागो न पुनरधमानाम् उपगम: 'better death than association with the base.'

वा vā, enclitic (Lat. ve), following its word (but for metrical reasons sometimes preceding it) : 1. 'or.' 2. 'either or not,' 'optionally': जातदन्तस्य वा कुर्यु: 'for (a child) that has cut its teeth, they may optionally make (the offering).' 3. 'like,' 'as it were' (=द्व) : जातां मन्ये शिशिरिए थितां पट्मिनीं वान्यरूपाम् 'I believe her to have become changed in appearance like a lily blighted with cold.' 4. with interrogatives = 'pray': कायेन चचुषा किं वा 'what, pray, (with =) is the use of a blind eye?' वT—वा ' either-or.'
वै vaí, used in the older language as a particle emphasizing the preceding word, is common in Sanskrit poetry as a mere expletive.

सत्यम् satyá-m : I. 'truly,' 'certainly,' 'indeed.' 2. 'rightly,' 'justly.' 3. 'true,' 'it is so.' 4 . 'very well' (in answers). 5. 'it is true-but' (तु, किं तु, तथापि).

ह ha, an enclitic particle which in the older language slightly emphasized the preceding word, is in Sanskrit a mere expletive, mostly occurring at the end of a verse.

हि hí, never at the beginning of a sentence, but generally after the first word: 1. 'for,' 'because.' 2. 'to be sure,' 'indeed ': त्वं हि तस्स प्रियवयस्य: 'thou art indeed his dear friend.' 3. with interrogatives or imperatives $=$ ' pray': करं हि देवाआनीयाम् 'how, pray, shall I know the gods ?' तधि दर्श्रय 'pray, show it.' 4. often used as a mere expletive, especially in order to avoid a hiatus or to obtain a long vowel in poetry. The particle sometimes occurs twice in the same sentence.

Interjections.

181. च्रचि ayi, used with the vocative or supplying its place, $=$ 'friend,' 'prithee': चयि मकरोद्यानं गच्छराव: 'prithee, let us go to the garden of love.?
अ्रये aye: I. a particle expressive of surprise, occurring chiefly in dramas : च्रये वसन्तसेना प्राप्ता 'Ah, Vasantasenā has arrived!' 2. sometimes used like च्र्यि as a vocative particle.

林रे are, exclamation of address : 'ho!' 'sirrah!'
习हह ahaha, expresses 1. joy, 'ha!' 2. sorrow, 'alas!': च्रहह महापङ्के पतितोsसि 'alas! I have fallen into a deep quagmire.'

च्रहो aho, exclamation of surprise, joy, sorrow, anger, praise, or blame, commonly used with the nominative: च्रहो गीतस्य माधुर्यम् ' $O$ the sweetness of the song!' अहो हिरए्यक स्लाघ्योड सि "Ah, Hiranyaka, you are praiseworthy!'

त्रा $\bar{a}$ is used especially to express sudden recollection : \#्रा एवं किल तत् 'Ah, so indeed it was!'
च्रा: āh expresses joy or indignation, 'ah': न्राः ज्रतिथिपरिभाविनि 'Ah, you who slight your guest!'

कष्टम् kașta-m, 'woo!' 'alas !’ often combined with धिक् dhik or हा धिक् hā dhik.
दिध्या disția à (inst. 'by good luck' $\Rightarrow$ )'thank heaven!' often with वृध् vrid, ' prosper' $=$ 'to have cause for joy or congratulation': दिध्या महाराजो विजयेन वर्धते 'your Majesty is to ke congratulated upon your victory!'
धिक् dhik, exclamation of dissatisfaction, reproach, or lamentation : 'fie!' 'woe!' It is regularly used with the accusative, but the nom. gen. voc. also occur : धिक् त्वामस्तु 'shame on you!'

बत bata, expresses I. astonishment: 'ah!' 2. regret: 'alas!' It is also combined with other interjections in the same sense: बतारे bata are, ग्रहो बत, अ्रयि बत.

भो: bhoh : r. usually an exclamation of address: 'sir!' 'ho!' 'listen!' Though a contracted form of an old masculine singular vocative (bhavas), it is used in addressing female as well as male persons, and is connected even with the plural number. It is often repeated: भो भो: पषिडता: 'listen, Paṇ̣its!' 2. it sometimes occurs in soliloquies $=$ ' alas.'
साधु sādhú : 1 . 'well done!' 'bravo!' 2 . with imperative $=$ 'come': दमयन्या: पएँ: साधु वर्तताम् 'come, let Damayantī he played for as a stake.' 3 . 'well' with I. per. pres. : साधु यामि ' well, I will go.' 4. 'assuredly': यदि जीवामि साध्वेनं पश्येयम् 'if I live, I shall undoubtedly see him.'

सस्ति sv-astí: r. ‘hail!’ 2. 'farewell!’
हन्त hánta: r . exclamation of exhortation $=$ ' come,' ' 'look,' 'pray': हन्त ते कथयिष्यामि 'come, I will tell thee'; সृतु हन्त
'pray listen.' 2. expresses grief: 'alas!' 3. joy, surprise, or hurry : 'oh!' 'ah!'

हा hā, expresses $\mathbf{I}$. astonishment or satisfaction : 'ah!' 2. pain : 'alas!' हा हतास्सि 'alas! I am undone.' It is frequently accompanied by a vocative; and is sometimes used with a following ace. $=$ 'alas for!' It is often combined with कष्टम्, धिक्, or हन्त.

CHAPTER VI

COMPOUND WORDS

182. The power of comhining two or more words into one, which belongs to all the Aryan languages, has been more largely developed in Sanskrit than in any of the others. Not only are long and complex compounds here in constant use, but they also take the place of the analytical modes of expression which prevail in the other cognate tongues. Thus Kālidāsa describes a river as 'wave-agitation-loquacious-bird-row-girdle-string-ed,' while we should say: 'her girdle-string is a row of birds loquacious because of the agitation of the waves.' Compounds being therefore of great syntactical importance in Sanskrit, it is necessary to distinguish and classify the various kinds, in order that the meaning of a Sanskrit sentence may be clearly understood. The most convenient division is into the three classes of Oo-ordinatives, Determinatives, and Possessives. The Determinatives, so called because the former member determines (or qualifies) the latter, are of two kinds, Dependent aud Descriptive. Possessives are secoudary compounds, consisting chiefly of Determinatives turned into adjectives.
a. All words making up a compound except the last, ordinarily appear in the form of their uninflected base; those with two bases using the weak, and those with three, the middle base ( $73 a$ ). The last word, in the case of Co-ordinatives and Determinatives, retains, as a rule, its usual form and inflexion, as well as, if a noun, its gender; while, in Possessives, it is variable like an adjective.
E. g. देवदास: deva-dāsaḥ, m.'servant of a god, or of the gods'; स्वामिसेवा svāmi-sevā,f.'serving a master'; Tजकर्म rāja-karma, n. 'duty of a king'; सनामन् sa-nāman, 'homonymous': nom.m. सनामा, f. सनाम्नी, n. सनाम.

I. Co-ordinative (Dvandva) Compounds.

183. These consist of two (or more) nouns, far less commonly adjectives, very rarely adverbs, connected in sense by the copula 'and.' Dvandva, the name applied to Co-ordinatives by the Hindu grammarians, means 'pair' or 'couple.'
r. Compounded nouns are inflected in the dual or plural according as two or more objects are denoted, the gender being that of the last member : हस्त्यग्वौ hasty-aśvau, 'an elephant and a horse'; हस्त्यम्वT: hasty-aśvāḥ ${ }^{1}$, 'elephants and horses.' When, however, the parts of the compound express not individuals but categories, the Dvandva is inflected in the neuter singular as a collective ; e.g. गवाग्वम् gava aśvam, 'kine and horses.' Names of objects associated in pairs by way of contrast are often combined in Dvandvas; e.g. सिंहगजा: siṃha-gajāḥ, 'lions and elephants '; सार मेयमार्जारा: sārameya-mārjārāh, ' dogs and cats '; च्रोराचम् aho-rätra-m, n. 'day and night ${ }^{2}$ ' The number of members in the compound is not limited and is often considerable; e.g. देवगन्धर्वमानुषोरगराच्सा: deva-gandharvamānuṣa uraga-rākṣasāḥ,' gods, heavenly musicians, men, serpents, and demons.'

[^16]2. Adjectives (including past participles) are comparatively seldom compounded as Dvandvas;
e.g. उत्तरद च्तिएय uttara-daksina, ' 'north and south'; शीतोष्पा sititausna, ' cold and hot'; सितासित sita asita, ' white and black ${ }^{11}$; घनायत ghana āyata, 'dense and extensive' (forest); द्वताद्टत krta akrta, 'done and undone'; मृताजात mṛta ${ }^{2}$ āta, 'dead and unborn.'
Two past participles are sometimes compounded to express immediate sequence, the relation of the second to the first being often translatable by 'as soon as';
e. g. दृष्टनष्ट drstata-nasta, ' seen and vanished' $=$ 'vanished as soon as seen'; जातप्रेत jāta-preta, 'died as soon as born'; उत्रातप्रतिरोपित ut-khāta + prati-ropita, 'uprooted and replanted'; सुप्तोत्थित suptautthita, 'having slept and arisen,' i. e. 'having just arisen from sleep.'
3. An example of the rare Dvandvas composed of adverbs is सायंप्रातर् sāyámp-prâtar, 'in the evening and morning.'
a. Occasionally complex Dvandvas, made up of compounds of another class, are met with;
e. g. व्याकीर्यांकेस रकरालमुख ryākīrṇa-kesara + karāla-mukha, 'having a dishevelled mane and terrific jaws,' consists of two possessives (186).
b. Of the numerous Vedic Dvandvas consisting of the names of deities, each member being in the dual and separately accented, only very few survive in Sanskrit: मिनावरुएौ mitrá ${ }^{2}$-váruṇau, 'Mitra and Varuṇa'; ब्यावापृथिव्यी dyầ $\overline{v a}^{2}$-prthivyaù, 'Heaven

- Mitráa and Dyávāa are Vedic duals. This type of compound was perhaps originally due to the analogy of numerical Dvandvas, like द्वाद्श dvä-daśa, 'two and ten.'
and Earth.' In cases other than nom. voc. acc. the final member only is inflected: मिनावर्एायो: mitrā-varuṇayoh and द्यावापृथिव्यो: dyāvā-prthivyoh.
c. मातृ mātṛ, 'mother,' and पितृ pitṛ, 'father,' when the first member of a Dvandva of relationship, assume the form of the nom. sing.: मातापितरौ mātā-pitarau, 'mother and father'; पितापुर्चौ pitā-putrau, 'father and son.'

The masc. of co-ordinate pairs of relations can be used alone in the dual so as to include the female;
e. g. पितरी pitarau ='parents'; ग्वभुरी śva-śurau ${ }^{1}=$ ' parents-in-law'; पुनो putrau =' son and daughter' (as well as 'two sons '); भ्रातरौ bhrātarau = 'brother and sister ${ }^{2}$.'

II a. Dependent (Tatpuruşa) Determinatives.

184. A dependent determinative is one in which the first member depends on the last, the syntactical relation of the former to the latter being that of an attribute (noun or pronoun) in an oblique case. The compound may be a noun or an adjective, according as the last member is one or the other.
E.g. तत्पुरुष tat-purusa, m. 'the man of him,' 'his man' (an example used by the Hindu grammarians to designate the class); शूरमानिन् śūra-mānin, adj. 'thinking oneself a hero'; गुएोपेत guṇa upeta, adj. 'endowed with virtues' (upeta is a past part.).

In dependent compounds the first member may have the sense of any oblique case, but that of the gen. is by far the commonest.
I. Acc. The last member is naturally always an adjective of a verbal nature ${ }^{3}$ : जयप्रेप्सु jaya-prepsu, adj. 'desiring victory'

[^17](pra inpsu is a desid. adj., cp. 170, 2); वर्षभोग्य varsa-bhogya, adj. 'to be enjoyed for a year' (bhogya is a fut. part. pass.) ; गृहागत grha āgata, adj. 'come to the house' (ãgata is a past part.); ग्रामप्राप्त grāma-prāpta, 'arrived at the village ${ }^{1}$.' (A past part. is more commonly placed at the beginning, when the compound becomes a possessive; e.g. प्राप्तग्राम präpta-grāma, lit. 'having a reached village.')
2. Instr, मासपूर्व māsa-pūrva, 'earlier by a month'; सामिसदृशू svāmi-sadỵ'sa, 'like (his) master' (cp. 196, 2 c ); 尹्ञल्पोन alpa ūna, 'deficient by a littlle'='almost finished'; ग्रहिहत ahi-hata, 'killed by a snake '; देवद्त्त deva-datta, 'given by the gods' (cp. $\theta$ éo-סoros), commonly used as a proper name with an auspicious sense (Dieudonué) and often denoting an indefinite person= 'so-and-so.'
3. Dat. घूपदारु yūpa-dāru, n. 'wood for a sacrificial post'; विष्पुबलि viṣ̣̣u-bali, m. ‘offering to Viṣṇu'; प्रभुहित prabhu-hita, adj. 'advantageous to the king.'
4. Abl. स्वर्गपतित svarga-patita, adj. 'fallen from heaven'; भवद्न्य bhavad-anya, adj. 'different from you.'
5. Gen, रTजपुरुष räja-purusa, m. 'king's man'; व्याघ्रबुधि vyäghra-buddhi, f. 'thought of (=that it was) a tiger.'
6. Loc. उरोज uro-ja, adj. ' produced on the breast'; ت्रস्वकोविद्द asva-kovida, adj. 'skilled in horses'; गृहजात gṛha-jāta, adj. 'born in the house'; पूर्वह्लद्टत pürvāhnaa-kỵta, adj. 'done in the forenoon.'
a. Some dependent compounds retain the case termination in the governed noun;
e.g. धनंजय dhanam-jaya, adj. ' winning booty,' m. as a proper

1 The past part. गत gata, 'gone to,' is often used at the end of Tatpuruṣas in the sense of 'relating to,' 'existing in '; e.g. हस्तगत hasta-gata, 'held in the hand.'
name; परसेपद parasmai-pada, n. 'word for another'; वाचस्पति vācas-pati, m. 'lord of speech'; चुधिष्ठिर yudhi-sṭhira, adj. 'firm in battle,' m. as a proper name.
b. If a root forms the last member of a Tatpuruṣa it undergoes no change except that $\overline{\text { 게 }} \overline{\mathrm{a}}$ is shortened to $\bar{\gamma} \mathrm{a}$, while $\overline{\mathrm{C}} \mathrm{i}$, उ u , ₹ ${ }^{\mathrm{r}} \mathrm{r}$ add त्t; e.g. वरद vara-da, adj. 'granting boons' (दा dā, 'give'); विश्व्वजित् viśva-ji-t, adj.' all-conquering'; कर्मक्टत् karma-kr-t, adj. 'doing work,' ' laborious.'
c. At the end of a dependent, विशेष visissa, m. means 'special kind of,' i.e. 'choice, ' pre-eminent'; similarly ₹्रन्तर antara, n. 'difference,' generally means 'other,' sometimes ' special,' 'particular';
e. g. तेजोविशिष tejo-viśesa, m. 'éxtraordinary splendour'; देशान्तर deśa antara, n. 'another country'; उपायान्तर upāyaantara, n. 'a special means'; भाष्यान्तर bhāsya antara, n. 'particular conversation.'

II b. Descriptive (Karmadhāraya) Determinatives.

185. A descriptive determinative is one in which the first member describes the last, the syntactical relation of the former to the latter being that of a predicate. This relation may be expressed in three ways :-
I. By a noun (in apposition);
e.g. राजर्षि räảarsṣi, m. 'king sage,' i.e. 'royal sage'; स्तीजन stri-jana, m. 'women-folk.'
a. A title is thus sometimes compounded with a proper name ;
e.g. च्रमात्यराचस amātya-Rāksasa, ' Minister Rāksasa.' Occasionally the proper name comes first; e.g. शूएिडलीमातृ S'āṇ̃ilī-mātr, 'Mother S'āṇ̦ilī.'
$b$. The apposition often expresses a comparison; e.g. जलदश्याम jalada-s'yāma, adj. 'dark as a cloud'; हिमशिशिर hima-sisisira, adj.
'coldas ice'; जलान्तग्रन्ट्र चपल jala antaś-candra-capala, adj.'fickle as the moon reflected in the water.' When both members are nouns the object with which a comparison is made is placed not at the beginning of the compound, but at the end;
e.g. पुरषष्याघ्र purusa-vyäghra, m. 'man-tiger,' i.e. 'tiger-like man,' 'human tiger'; वाड्मधु vāñ-madhu, n. 'speech-honey,' i. e. 'honied speech'; पाद्पद्म pāda-padma, n. 'foot-lotus,' i.e. 'lotus-like foot,'
c. The past part. भूत bhūta, 'become,' 'existent,' is often added, in the sense of 'being,' to an appositional noun (which is thus turned into an adj.) ; e.g. तमोभूत tamo-bhūta, 'existing in a state of darkness '; रतभूत ratna-lhūta, 'being a jewel.'

2. By an Adjective;

e. g. कृष्पासर्प krṣna-sarpa, m. 'black snake'; नीलोत्पल nīla ưtpala, n. 'blue lotus'; मध्याहू madhya ahna, m. 'mid-day'; च्रर्धमार्य ardha-mārga, m. 'half way'; वर्तमानकवि vartamāna-kavi, m. 'living poet.'
a. Those compounds in which the adjective is a numeral are by the Hindu grammarians treated as a special class, called Dvigu ('two-cow'). They are generally neuters or feminines (in ई ì) expressing aggregates; e.g. निलोक tri-loka, n. or चिलोकी tri-loki, f. 'the three worlds.' They may also become adjectives by being turned into possessives (186); e.g. निगुए tri-guna, n. 'the three qualities'; adj. 'possessing the three qualities.'
b. पूर्व pürva, 'previous,' is put at the end, instead of adverbially at the beginning, in the sense of 'before,' after past participles ; e.g. दृष्टपूर्व adj. 'seen before.'
c. At the beginning of a descriptive compound महत् mahat becomes महT mahā, while at the end राजन् räjan, त्रह््न् ahan, सखि sakhi become राज, च्रह, सख respectively;
e.g. महाराज: 'great king'; पुख्याहम् punya aham,' 'auspicious day '; प्रियसख: 'dear friend.'
3. By an Adverb (inclusive of particles and prepositions);
e.g. सुजन su-jana, m. 'honest man'; अधिलोक adhi-loka, m. 'highest world'; अच्ञात a-jñāta, adj. 'unknown'; यथोक्त yathā ukta, adj.' as stated '; एवंगत evam-gata, adj. 'thus faring.'
a. Compounds of this kind, when used in the acc. neuter as adverbs, are treated by the Hindu grammarians as a special class called Aryayi-bhāva ('indeclinable state'). Such are च्रनुरूपम् anu-rūpam, 'conformably '; यथाश्ति yathā-śakti, 'according to ability'; सविनयम् sa-vinayam, 'politely'; यावज्जीवस् yāvajjivam, 'for life.'

III. Possessive (Bahuvrīhi) Compounds.

186. These compounds are essentially adjectives agreeing with a noun expressed or understood. They are determinatives (generally of the adjectivally descriptive class) ending in nouns, which are made to agree in gender, number, and case with another noun. Thus बङ্ञब्रीहि bahu-vrihi, m. 'much rice,' becomes ant adjective in the sense of 'having much rice' (an example used by the Hindu grammarians to designate the class).

Every kind of determinative can be turned into a possessive;
e. g. द्न्द्रश्रु indra-śatru, m. 'foe of Indra': adj. 'having Indra as a foe '; भीमपराक्रम bhīma-parākrama, m. 'terrible prowess': adj. 'of terrible prowess'; निपढ्द tri-pád, adj. 'three-footed' (Gk. т $\rho^{i}-\pi$ oס-, Lat. tri-ped-); अ्रधोमुख adho-mukha, adj. 'downcast'; च्रपुच a-putra, adj. 'sonless'; सभार्य sa-bhārya, adj. 'accompanied by his wife' (bhāryā); तथाविध tathā-vidha, adj. 'of such a kind' (vidhi, m.) ; दुर्मनास् dur-manās, adj. nom. m.f. ( $\left.\delta v \sigma-\mu \in \nu \eta \eta^{\prime}\right), ~ ' i l l-m i n d e d, ' ~ ' d e j e c t e d . ' ~$
a. In the Vedic language possessives were distinguished from determinatives by accent; e.g. rāja-putrá,' king's son'; rājá-putra, adj. 'having kings as sons.'
b. Possessives often come to be used as nouns or proper names;
e. g. सुद्ध su-hṛd, 'good-hearted,' becomes masc. 'friend'; सत्यश्रवTस् satyá-śravās, adj. nom. m. 'of true fame,' becomes the name of a man (cp. 'Erєoкле́ $\eta s$ ).
c. Possessives are often very intricate, containing several other compounds. Thus [(vīci-kṣobha)-stanita-(vihaga-śreṇi)]-(kāñcīgunā ) is based on an appositional descriptive consisting of two main parts. The second, kāñcī-guṇa, m. 'girdle-string,' is a Tatpurușa. The first is an adjectival descriptive in which the Tatpuruṣa vihaga-śreni, 'row of birds,' is described by vici-kṣobhastanita, 'loquacious through wave-agitation.' The latter is a compound Tatpurusa, in which stanita is qualified by the simple 'Tatpuruṣa vīci-kṣobha, 'agitation of the waves.' शूतोष्यकिरएौ sita uṣna-kiraṇau, 'moon and sun,' is an example of a Bahuvrīhi which is used as a noun and contains a Dvandva. It is in reality a kind of contracted Dvandva (' the cool and the hot-rayed ' for 'the cool-rayed and the hot-rayed ').
d. Bahuvrihis with a past participle at the beginning are syntactically often equivalent to a gerund or loc. absolute;
e. g. त्यक्तनगर tyakta-nagara, 'having the city left'=नगरं त्यत्वा nagaraṇı tyaktvā, 'having left the city,' or नगरे त्यते nagare tyakte, 'the city being left.'
e. Bahuvrīhis based on appositional descriptives often imply a comparison;
e. g. चन्द्रानन candra ānana, 'moon-faced '; पद्माच padma akṣa (f. ī), 'lotus-eyed.' Inversion of the natural order does not take place here as in descriptives (cp. $185,1 b$ ).
$f$. कल्प kalpa, m. ' manner,' and प्राय prāya, m. 'chief part,' are used at the end of Bahuvrihis in the sense of 'like,' 'almost'; e.g. #्रमृतकल्प ampta-kalpa, adj. 'ambrosia-like'; प्रभातप्राय prabhāta-prāya, adj. 'almost dawning.' In the same position पर para, an adjective meaning ' highest,' ' chief,' used as a noun, signifies 'engrossed in, ' 'intent on' (lit. ' having as the chief thing '); e. g. चिन्तापर cintā-para, 'immersed in thought.'
$g$. मान्रा mātrā, f. 'measure,' is used at the end of Bahuvrīhis in the sense of 'only '; e.g. नाममाना नरा: nāmamātrā narāḥ, ' men bearing the name only.'
At the end of past participles it means 'as soon as'; e.g. जातमाच: श्रुः jāta-mātrah satruh, 'an enemy as soon as (he has) come into being.'

It is, however, generally employed as a neuter noun in this way ; e.g. जलमानम् jala-mātram, 'water alone' (lit.' that which has water for its measure').
h. च्रादि ādi, m. and प्रभृति prabhrti, f. 'beginning,' ग्राद्य ādya, 'first' (used as a noun), are employed at the end of Bahurrihis in the sense of ' and the rest,' 'and so forth,' 'etcetera,' primarily as adjectives and secondarily as nouns;
e. g. (देवा) द्रन्द्राद्य: (devā) Indra ādayaḥ,' (the gods) Indra and the rest ' (lit. 'having Indra as their beginning') ; दूत्यादि iti ādi, n. 'beginning thus' (i. e. with these words) $=$ ' and so on.'

पुरोगम purogama, पूर्व pūrva, पुरःसर puraḅsara, 'preceding' $=$ 'leader,' are similarly employed in the sense of 'preceded, led, or accompanied by'; e.g. देवा इन्द्रपरोगमT: 'the gods led by Indra.?

पूर्व and पुरःसर are also used adverbially at the end of Bahuvrihis; e. g. सितपूर्वम् 'with the accompaniment of a smile,' 'smilingly'; बङ्ञमानपुरःसरम् bahumāna-puraḥsaram, 'with respect,' 'respectfully.'
i. Words meaning 'hand' are placed at the end of possessives ;
e. g. शस्त्रपाएि śastra-pāṇi, 'weapon-handed, ' having a weapon in one's hand '; कुशूहस्त kuśa-hasta, 'with kuśa-grass in (his) hand.'
$j$. The suffix दून् in is pleonastically added to धर्म dharma, 'duty,' शूल silla, 'character,' माला mālā, 'garland,' शूाला śālā, 'house,' शोभT sobhā, 'beauty,' वर्षा varṇa, 'colour';
e. g. वरवर्षिन् var凤-varṇ-in, 'of excellent colour.' The adjectival suffix क ka is similarly often added, especially to unusual finals, as to words in $\overline{\text { Fe }} \mathrm{r}$, to feminines in से $\bar{\imath}$ (like नदी nadī), and in the feminine to words in द्रन् in; e.g. मृतभर्तृका mrrta-bhartr-k $\vec{a}$, ' whose husband is dead'; सपत्नीक sa-patnī-ka, 'accompanied by his wife.'

CHAPTER VII

OUTLINES OF SYNTAX

187. As the great bulk of the literature consists of poetry, the syntactical arrangement of the Sanskrit sentence is primitive and undeveloped, as compared with Latin and Greek. Its main characteristic is the predominance of co-ordination, long compounds and gerunds constantly taking the place of relative and other subordinate clauses, while the oratio obliqua is entirely absent. Another feature is the comparatively rare use of the finite verb (frequent enough in the Vedic language), for which past participles or verbal nouns are very often substituted. There is also a marked fondness for passive constructions. A special feature of Sanskrit syntax is the employment of the locative absolute.

The Order of Words.

188. The usual arrangement of words in a Sanskrit sentence is: first, the subject with its attributes (a genitive preceding its nominative); second, the object with its adjuncts (which precede it); and lastly, the verb.
Adverbs or extensions of the predicate are commonly placed near the beginning, and unemphatic connective particles follow the first word; e.g. जनकस्तु सत्वरं सीयं नगरं जगाम 'but Janaka went in haste to his own city.'
When there is a vocative, it generally comes first. Instead of the subject any other word requiring emphasis may be placed at the head of the sentence; e.g. रानी त्वया मठमध्ये न प्रवेष्टव्यम् 'at night you must not enter the monastery.'
a. The subject, if $\boxminus$ personal pronoun, is not expressed unless emphatic, being inherent in finite verbal forms. Even the general subject 'one' or 'they' is often indicated by the verb alone; e.g. ब्रूयात् ' one should say '; ग्राङ: 'they say ' $=$ ' it is said.'
b. The copula च्रस्ति 'is,' unless the tense or mood has to be expressed, is generally omitted. In that case the predicate precedes its noun ; e.g. शीतला रानि: 'the night (is) cold.' If the predicate bears any emphasis, भवति is used, not अ्रत्ति ; e.g. यो विद्यया तपसा जन्मना वा वृघः स पूज्यो भवति द्विजानाम् 'he who is distinguished by knowledge, penance, or birth, is (eertainly) to be respected by the twice-born.'
c. Just as attributes precede their nouns and the qualifying word comes first in compounds, so a relative or other subordinate clause precedes the principal, which regularly begins with a correlative word; e. g. यस्य धनं तस्य बलम् lit. ' of whom wealth, of him power,' i.e. 'he who has wealth has power.' Similarly यदा- तदा, यावत्-तावत्, &c.

The Article.

189. There is properly neither an indefinite nor a definite article in Sanskrit. But एक 'one' and कश्चिद्ध 'some' (II9), being frequently used to express 'a certain,' may sometimes be translated by 'a.' Similarly स 'that' (iro) may, when referring to persons or things just mentioned, be rendered by 'the'; e.g. स रTजा 'the king' (of whom we are speaking).

Number.

190. r. Singular collective words are sometimes used at the end of compounds to form a plural; e.g. स्रीजन strī-jana, m. 'womenfolk' $=$ 'women.' Such collectives are sometimes themselves used in the plural; e.g. लोक: or लोका: ' the world,' 'people.'
191. The dual number is in regular use and of strict application, the plural practically never referring to two objects. It is therefore invariably employed with the names of things occurring in pairs, such as parts of the body ; e.g. हस्तौ पादौ च 'the hands and the feet.' A masc. dual is sometimes used to express a male and female of the same class; e.g. जगतः पितरी 'the parents of the universe' (see 183 c, p. 158 ).
192. $a$. The plural is sometimes applied to others by the speaker or writer as a mark of great respect, यूयम् and भवन्त: taking the place of त्वम् and भवान्; e.g. श्रुतं भवद्भि: 'has your Majesty heard ?' In this sense the plur. पादT: 'feet' is employed instead of the dual (cp. 190, 2) ; e.g. एष देवपादान् च्रधिच्तिपति 'he insults your Majesty('s feet).' Proper names are occasionally used in the same way; e.g. द्नित श्रीशंकराचार्यT: 'thus (says) the revered teacher S'amkara.'
b. The I. pers. pl. is sometimes used by the speaker referring to himself (like our editorial 'we') instead of the singular or dual
(cp. 190, 2); e.g. वयमपि किंचित्पृच्छाम: 'we (=I) too ask something ' ; किं कुर्म: सांप्रतम् ' what shall we (=you and I) do now ?'
$c$. The names of countries are plural, being really the names of the peoples (like 'Sweden' in English and 'Sachsen' in German); e. g. विद्रैषु 'in Vidarbha' (Berar).
d. Some nouns are used in the plural only: न्राप: f. 'water' ( $96, \mathrm{r}$ ) ; प्राएT: m.' life'; वर्षT: f .' the rains' $=$ 'the rainy season'; दारा: m. ' wife.'

Concord.

191. The rules of concord in case, person, gender, and number are in general the same as in other inflexional languages, but the following special points may be noted :-
I. The nominative with द्रि may take the place of a predicative acc. governed by verbs of calling, considering, knowing, &c.; e.g. ब्राह्मए द्रति मां विधि 'know me to be a Brahman' (instead of ब्राह्मयां माँ विध्घि).
192. When a dual or plural verb refers to two or more subjects the first person is preferred to the second or third, and the second person to the third; e.g. त्वमहं च गच्छाव: ' you and I go.'
193. a. A dual or plural adjective agreeing with masc. and fem. nouns is put in the masc., but when neuters are associated with masculines and feminines, in the neuter (sometimes singular); e. g. मृगयाचास्तथा पानं गह्हितानि महीभुजाम् 'the chase, dice (akșāh), and drinking are reprehensible in kings'; पच्चविकालग्य पच्ची गुष्कश्च तर्: सरश्च जलहीनं सर्पश्चोद्वृतद्ध्रस् तुल्ं लोके दरिद्र श्व 'a bird with clipped wings, a withered tree, a dried up pond, a toothless serpent and a poor man are of equal account (neut. sing.) in (the eyes of) the world.'
b. Occasionally an attribute or predicate takes the natural instead of the grammatical gender; e.g. खां चिन्तयन्तो निराहारा:

c. As in Latin, a demonstrative pronoun agrees with its predicate in gender ; e.g. च्रसी परमो मन्त्र: 'this (masc.) is the best counsel ' (masc.).

A participle used in place of a finite verb, which should agree with the subject, is attracted in gender by a noun predicate if in close proximity with it; e.g. त्वं मे मिनं जातम् 'thou (masc.) hast become (neut.) my friend' (neut.).
4. A singular collective noun is necessarily followed by a singular verb. Two singular subjects require a predicate in the dual, three or more in the plural. Occasionally, however, the predicate agrees in number with the nearest subject, being mentally supplied with the rest; e.g. कान्तिमती राज्यमिद् मम च जीवितमपि त्वद्धीनम् 'Kāntimatī, this kingdom, and my very life (are) at your mercy ' (sing.).
a. Similarly, the verb which should agree with a single plural subject may be attracted in number by a noun predicate in its immediate proximity ; e. g. सप्तप्रक्धतयो ह्येता: समस्तं राज्यमुचते 'these seven constituent parts are said (sing.) to form the entire kingdom.'

Pronouns.

192. 193. Personal. a. Owing to its highly inflexional character Sanskrit uses the nominatives of personal pronouns far less frequently than modern European languages do (cp. 188 a).
$b$. The unaccented forms of ₹्रह् and त्वम् ( $\log a$ ) being euclitic, can be used neither at the beginning of a sentence or metrical line ( $\mathrm{P} \overline{\mathrm{a}} \mathrm{da}$ ), nor after vocatives, nor before the particles च, वा, एव, ह ; e.g. मम मिचम् 'my friend ' (not मे) ; देवास्मान् पाहि ' $O$ God, protect us' (न्र्ममान्, not नः) ; तस्य मम वा गृहम् 'his house or mine.'
c. भवान् 'your Honour' (f. भवती), the polite form of त्वम् 'thou' (with which it often alternates even in the same sentence), takes the verb in the 3 . person; e.g. किमाह भवान् 'what does your Honour say?' The plural भवन्त: (f. भवत्य:) is construed in the same way; it frequently has a singular sense ( $190,3^{a}$ ). Two compounds of भवान् are often used in the drama: अन्रनवान् atra-bhavān refers to some one present, either the person addressed or some third person = 'your Honour here' or 'his Honour here'; त तभवान् tatra-bhavăn, 'his Honour there,' referring to some one off the stage, can only be used of a third person. Both take the verb in the 3 . sing.
1. Demonstrative. a. एष and च्रयम् refer to what is near or present = this.' The former is the more emphatic of the two. Both are often employed agreeing with a subject in the $\mathbf{I}$. or 3 . pers. sing. in the sense of 'here'; e.g. एष तपस्वी तिष्ठति 'here a devotee stands'; ग्रयमस्मि ' here am I'; न्रयम् \#्रागतस्तव पुचः 'here comes your son.' अ्रयं जन: 'this person' is frequently used as an equivalent of ' $I$.'
b. स and च्रसौ refer to what is absent or remote=' that.' स is the more definitely demonstrative of the two, being, for instance, the regular correlative to an antecedent relative. It has the following special uses. It has often (like Lat. ille) the sense of 'well-known,' 'celebrated'; e.g. सा रम्या नगरी 'that wellknown charming city.' It is frequently also the equivalent of 'the aforesaid'; e.g. सोडहम् ' I (being) such' (as just described). In this sense it may often be translated simply by the definite article 'the' (cp. 189). When unaccompanied by a noun स supplies the place of a personal pronoun of the third person $=$ 'he, she, it, they,' but with a certain amount of emphasis when used in the nominative (अ्रयम् and च्रसी are employed in the same way as personal pronouns of the third person). Finally स when repeated means 'various,' 'several,' ' all sorts of'; e.g. तानि तानि शास्त्राएध्येत 'he read various treatises.'
2. Possessive. These pronouns (II6) are comparatively little used, as the genitive of the personal pronouns is generally employed. In accordance with the sense of भवत् ( $19^{2}, 1 c$ ), its derivatives भवदीय bhavad-īa and भावत्व bhāvat-ka are used as possessive pronouns of the second person in respectful address.

THE CASES.

Nominative.

193. The nominative is far less frequently used in Sanskrit as the subject of a sentence than in the other Aryan languages. Its place is very commonly supplied by the instrumental of the agent with a passive verb; e.g. केनापि सस्सरकेयोकान्ते स्थितम् 'a certain field-watcher was standing aside' (lit. 'by a certain field-watcher it was stood aside ').
a. The nominative is used predicatively with verbs meaning 'to be, become, seem, appear,' as well as with the passive of verbs of calling, considering, sending, appointing, making, &c.; e.g. तेन मुनिना कुक्षुरो व्याघ: हृत: 'the dog was turned into a tiger by the sage.'
b. The nominative followed by द्रति may in certain circumstances take the place of the accusative (see 191, 1).

Accusative.

194. Besides its ordinary use of denoting the object of transitive verbs, the accusative is employed to express-
I. The goal with verbs of motion; e.g. स विद्र्मान् च्रगमत् 'he went to Vidarbha.'
a. Verbs of going, like गम् and या, are very commonly joined with an abstract noun where either the corresponding adjective with 'to become,' or merely an intransitive verb would be used in English; e.g. स कीरिंत याति 'he becomes famous' (lit. 'goes to fame'); पझ्घत्वं गच्छति 'he dies' (lit. 'goes to death').
195. Duration of time and extension of space; e.g. मासमधीते 'he learns for a month '; योजनं गच्छति 'he goes (the distance of) a Yojana' (nine miles).
196. The object of desiderative adjectives in सु (cp. 169) and of some compound adjectives beginning with prepositions; e.g. तितीर्षुर च्रस्मि सागरम् 'I am desirous of crossing the ocean'; द्मयन्तीम् 尹्रनुव्रत: 'devoted to Damayantī.'
197. The cognate object of intransitive verbs in the case of nouns and the analogous adverbial sense in the case of adjectives; e.g. कामान् सर्वान् वर्षतु 'may he rain (i.e. grant) all desires'; शूीघं गच्काम 'let us go quickly' (originally, 'go a quick gait').

Double Accusative.

195. Two accusatives are governed by-
196. Verbs of calling, considering, knowing, making, appointing, choosing ; e.g. जानामि त्वां प्रद्वतिपुरूषम् 'I know thee (to be) the chief person.'
197. Verbs of speaking (ब्नू, वच्, च्रह्), asking (प्रह्)), begging (याच्, प्रार्थय), instructing (ग्रनु-श्रास), fining (दएडय), winning (जि), milking (दुहु); e. g. च्रन्तरिच्तो वाचं व्याजहार नलम् 'the bird addressed a speech to Nala'; साच्यं पृच्छेद्वतं द्विजान् 'he should ask true evidence from the twice-born'; बबिं याचते वसुधाम् 'he asks Bali for the earth'; यदनुपूस्ति माम् 'what she commands me'; तान् सहसंत्रं दएडयेत् ' he should fine them a thousand panas'; जिता राज्यं नलम् 'having won the kingdom from Nala'; रतानि दुदुध्र्धीरिनीम् 'they milked (i. e. extracted) gems from the earth.'
a. कथय 'tell,' वेद्य 'make known,' and च्रा-दिश् 'enjoin,' never take the accusative of the person addressed, but the dative (or gen.).
198. Verbs of bringing, conveying, leading, dispatching; e. g. ग्रामम् ॠजां नयति 'he brings the goat to the village '; शुकुन्तलां पतिकुलं विस्टज्य 'having sent S'akuntala away to her husband's house.'
199. Causative verbs; e. g. रामं वेद्मध्यापयति 'he causes Rāma to learn the Veda'; if stress is laid on the agent (the direct acc.), it may be put in the instrumental : तां ग्वभिः खाद येत् 'he should cause her to be devoured by dogs.'
$a$. When the causative meaning has faded, the dat. or gen. of the person is used instead of the acc.; this is generally the case with दर्श्य 'show' ('cause to see '), and श्रावय 'tell' ('cause to hear'), and always with वेद्य 'make known,' 'tell' ('cause to know').
b. In the passive construction the direct acc. (the person or agent) becomes the nom., the indirect acc. (the object or thing) remains ; e.g. रामो वेढ्म् च्रध्याप्यते 'Rāma is caused to learn the Veda'; तां ग्वाज: खाद्यन्ते 'dogs are caused to devour her'; बलिर्याच्यते वसुधाम् 'Bali is asked for the earth.'

Instrumental.

196. The fundamental notion of the instrumental, which may be rendered by 'by' or 'with,' expresses the agent, the instrument (means), or concomitant by or with which an action is performed; e.g. तेनोत्तम् 'it was said by him '='he said'; स खड़्रेन व्यापाढितः 'he was killed with a sword'; यस्य मिनेएा संलापस् ततो नास्तीह पुखयवान् 'there is no one happier in this world than he who has converse with a friend.'
197. The following are modifications of the instrumental sense, expressing-
$a$. The reason: 'by, ' through,' 'by reason of,' 'because of,' 'on account of';e.g.भवतो डनुग्रहेए 'through your favour'; तेनापराधेन त्वां द्एडयामि 'I punish you for that fault'; व्याघ्रबुध्धा ' by the thought of a tiger' $=$ ' because he thought it was a tiger' (cp. p. 159,5 ) ; सुखभ्रान्या ' under the delusion of (the existence of) pleasure.'
b. Accordance : 'by,' in conformity with'; $\theta . \mathrm{g}$. प्रव्वत्या ' by nature'; जात्या 'by birth'; स मम मतेन वर्तते ' he goes by (acts in accordance with) my opinion.'
c. The price : ('with,' 'by means of ' $=$ ) 'for,' ${ }^{\text {' at the price of'; }}$ e. g. रूपकशूतेन विक्रीयमाएँं पुस्तकम् 'a book sold for a hundred rupees '; न्रात्मानं सततं रचेढ्ड दारेरपि धंनेरपि 'a man should always save himself even at the cost of his wife or of his wealth.'
d. Time within which anything is done: ('by the lapse of' $=$ ) 'in': द्वादश्शैर् वर्षेड्ड व्याकरांं श्रूयते 'grammar is learnt in twelve years.'
$e$. The way, vehicle or part of the body by which motion is effected; e.g. कतमेन मारैैए प्रनष्टा: काका: 'in what direction have the crows disappeared?' वाजिना चरति 'he goes on horseback' (lit. 'by means of a horse'); स ग्वानं सनन्धेनोवाह 'he carried (uvāha) the dog on his shoulder.'
$f$. 'In respect of': with words implying superiority, inferiority or defectiveness; एताभ्यां शूौैैयै हीन: 'inferior to these two (abl.) in valour'; पूर्वTन् महाभाग तयातिशूषे ' O fortunate man, you excel your ancestors in that (devotion)'; च्रच्ना काए: 'blind of an eye.'
g. 'Of,' 'with': with words meaning need or use, च्रर्थ: प्रयोजनम् (used interrogatively or with a negativè), or किम् 'what?' (with or without द्व 'do'); e.g. देवपादानां सेवकेर्न म्रयोजनम्
'your Majesty's feet have no need of servants'; किं तया क्रियते धेन्वा 'what is to be done with that cow?' किं न एतेन 'what have we (to do) with this ?' Similar is the use of हृतम् 'done with' $=$ 'away with' and च्रलम् 'enough of' (see pp. 144, 146): कृतमम्युत्यानेन ' away with rising ' $=$ ' pray do not rise.'
h. 'With,' 'at ': with verbs of rejoicing, laughing, being pleased, satisfied, astonished, ashamed, disgusted; e.g. कापुरु: स्वल्पेनापि तुष्यति 'a low person is satisfied even with very little'; जहास तेन 'he laughed at it.'
i. 'Of,' 'by': with verbs of boasting or swearing; e.g.भरतेनात्मना चाहं शूपे 'I swear by Bharata and myself.'
$j$. The object (victim) with यज् 'sacrifice'; e.g. पशुना रूं यजते 'he sacrifices a bull to Rudra.' Here we have the real inst. sense surviving from the time when यज् meant 'worship' a god (acc.) with (inst.).
198. The concomitant or sociative sense is generally supplemented by the prepositional adverbs सह, साकम्, सार्धम् and समम् 'with,' which are used (like 'with' in English) even when separation or antagonism is implied; e.g. पुने सा सह पिता गत: 'the father went with his son'; मिन्नेएा सह चित्तविस्लेष: 'disagreement with a friend'; स तेन विद्धे समं युद्धम् 'he engaged in a fight with him.' This sense is also applied-
a. To express the accompanying circumstances or the manner in which an action is performed; e.g. तौ दंपती महता सेहेन वसत: 'that pair lives in great affection'; महता सुखेन ' with great pleasure.'
b. With the passive of verbs which have the sense of accompanying, joining, endowing, possessing, and the opposite; e.g. त्वया सहितः 'accompanied by you'; धनेन संपन्नो विहीनो वा'possessed or destitute of wealth '; प्राएौ? वियुक्त: 'bereft of life.'
c. With adjectives expressive of identity, equality, or likeness: सम, समान, सदृश, तुल्य; e.g. शूक्रेए सम: ' equal to Indra'; ॠनेन सदृश्र: 'like him'; झ्रयं न मे पादरजसापि तुल्य: 'he is not even equal to the dust of my feet.' The geuitive is also used with these adjectives (cp. 199, $2 d$ ).

Dative.

197. The dative case expresses either the indirect object, generally a person, or the purpose of au action.
A. The dative of the indirect object is used-198. With transitive rerbs, with or without a direct ohject:
a. Of giving (दा, चर्मय), telling (चच्, शूंस्, कथय, ख्यापय, निवेद्य), promising (प्रति॰ or त्रा-ग्रु, प्रति-ज्ञा), showing (दर्श्य); e.g. विप्राय गां ददाति 'he gives a cow to the Brahman'; कथयामि ते भूतार्थम् 'I tell you the truth.'
b. Of sending, casting ; e.g. भोजेन दूतो रघवे विस्टष्ट: 'a messenger was sent by Bhoja to Raghu '; शूलांच्चिचिपू रामाय 'they cast (47) darts at Rāma.'
199. With intransitive verbs meaning to please (सच्), desire (लुम्, स्पृह्), be angry with (न्रसूय, कुप्, क्रुध्), injure (द्रुह्) ; e.g. रोचते मह्यम् 'it pleases me'; न राज्याय स्पृहये 'I do not long for the kingdom'; किंकराय कुप्यति 'he is angry with his servant.' (क्रुध् and द्रुह् when compounded with prepositions govern the acc.)
200. With words of salutation; e.g. गलीशाय नम: ' salutation to Gaṇeśa'; कुशूलं ते 'health to thee'; रामाय स्वस्ति 'hail to Rāma'; स्वागतं देब्ये 'welcome to her Majesty.'
B. The dative of purpose expresses the end for which an action is done, and is very often equivalent to an infinitive;
e. g. मुक्तये हरिं भजति 'he worships Hari for (= to obtain) salvation'; फलेम्यो याति 'he goes for ( $=$ to obtain) fruit'; च्रस्मत्पुनाएां नीतिशास्त्रोपदेशाय भवन्तः प्रमाएय् 'your Honour (has) full authority for the instruction of ( $=$ to instruct) my sons in the principles of morality '; डुद्धाय प्रस्थित: 'he started for a fight' ( $=$ ' to fight'); पुनर्दर्शनाय 'au revoir.'

This dative is specially taken by verbs meaning-
I. 'Be fit for,' 'tend or conduce to' (कृृ्, सं-पढ्, म्र-भू) ; e.g. भक्तिर्ञानाय कल्पते 'pietỳ conduces to knowledge.'
a. च्रस् and भू are used in the same way, but are often omitted; e. g. लघूनारपि संश्रयो रचायै भवति 'the cohesion even of the weak leads to safety'; च्रार्तचाएाय वः शस्त्रम् 'your weapon (serves) for the protection of ( $=$ to protect) the distressed.'
2. 'Be able,' 'begin,' 'strive,' 'resolve,' 'order,' 'appoint'; e.g. द्यं कथा चर्नियस्साकर्षएायाश्रत् 'this story was able to win over (ākarṣanāya) the warrior'; प्रावर्तत शूपथाय 'he began to (take) an oath'; तदन्वेषएयाय यतिष्ये 'I will try to find her'; तेन जीवोत्सर्गाय व्यवसितम् 'he has resolved on abandoning his life'; दुहितरम् अर्रतिथिसत्कारायादिश्य 'having charged (ā-diśya) his daughter with the reception of the guests'; रावरोच्कित्तये देवैर्नियोजित: 'he was appointed by the gods for the destruction of (= to destroy) Rāvaṇa.'
$a$. The adverb #ु्रलम् 'sufficient' is used in the sense of 'be able to cope with,' 'be a match for'; e.g. दैत्येम्यो हरिरलम् 'Hari (is) a match for the demons.'

Ablative.

198. The ablative primarily expresses the starting-point or source from which anything proceeds. It thus answers to the question 'whence ?' and may in general be translated by 'from.'
E. g. चहम् ॠ्रसाढ् वनाढ् गन्तुमिच्छामि ' I wish to depart from this forest'; पापानाश्य उद्भवति 'ruin results from sin'
a. The source of apprehension is put in the ablative with verbs of fearing (मी, उद्विज् ud-vij) ; e.g. लुस्धकाढ् बिभेषि ' you are afraid of the hunter’; संमानाढ् ब्राह्म एी नित्यमुद्विजेत ‘a Brahman should always shrink from marks of honour.'
b. Verbs expressing separation 'from' naturally take the ablative; e.g. भवद्सो वियोजित: 'parted from you'; सा पतिलोकाच हीयते 'and she is deprived of her husband's place' (such words also take the instr.: ( $\mathrm{cp} .196,2$ ) . Allied to this use is that of वन्चय 'to cheat of' ( $=$ 'so as to separate from '); e. g. वन्चययतुतु ब्राह्लाएं कागलात् 'to cheat a Brahman of his he-goat.'
c. As the abl. expresses the terminus a quo, it is employed with all words meaniug 'far,' and with the names of the cardinal points; e.g. दूरं ग्रामात् 'far from the village'; ग्रामात् पूर्वों गिरि: 'the mountain (is) to the east of the village.'
d. Similarly the abl. also expresses the time after which anything takes place; e.g. बहोर्दृष्टं कालात् 'seen after a long time'; सप्ताहात् ‘after a week.’
The abl. also expresses the following senses connected with its original meaning :-
r. The cause, reason, or motive $=$ ' on account of,' ' because of,' 'through,' 'from '; e. g. लीब्याढ् मांसं भच्तरति 'he eats the flesh through greed.' This use of the abl. is especially common in commentaries with abstract nouns in त्व tva; e.g. पर्वतोऽग्निमान् धूमत्वात् 'the mountain is fiery because of its smokiness.' (The instr. is also employed in this sense : $196, \mathrm{I} a$.)

2. Comparison:-

a. With comparatives ( $=$ 'than') or words with a comparative meaning; e.g. गोविन्दाद् रामो विद्वच्तर: 'Rāma is more learned than Govinda'; कर्मयो ज्ञानम् अ्रतिरिच्यते 'knowledge is superior to action.' In this seuse it is used even with positives ( $=$ ' in comparison with'); e.g. भार्य सर्वलोकाद्पि वझभा भवति 'a wife is dear even in comparison with (i.e. dearer than) the whole world.'
b. With words meaning 'other' or 'different' (च्रन्य, द्वर, ॠ्रपर, भिन्न); e.g. कृष्पाद्न्यो गोविन्द्: 'Govinda is different from Krṣṇa.'
c. Allied to the comparative abl. is that used with multiplicative words like 'double,' 'treble,' &c.; e. g. मूल्यात् पश्चगुरो द्एड: ' a fine five times (in comparison with) the value.'

Genitive.

199. The primary sense of the genitive is quasi-adjectival, as its qualification of another noun means 'belonging to' or 'connected with.' It may generally be expressed in English by the preposition 'of.' With nouns the gen. is used in a possessive, subjective, objective, or partitive sense; e.g. राज्ञः पुर्ष: ' the king's man'; राच्तसकलचप्रच्छाद्नं भवतः 'your concealment of Räkșasa's wife' (i. e. 'by you'); छूङ्چया तस्या: ' by the supposition of her' (i.e. 'supposing it was she'); धुर्यों धनवताम् 'the foremost of the wealthy.'
200. The gen. is used with a number of verbs:-
a. In the possessive sense with 耳-भू 'be master of,' 'have power over,' and with छ्रस्, भू 'be,' विद्यते 'exists'; e.g. न्रात्मन: प्रभविष्यामि 'I shall be master of myself'; मम पुस्तकं विद्यते 'I have a book.'
b．In the objective sense（concurrently with the acc．）with दय्＇have mercy，＇स्मृ＇remember，＇习习习－क्टा＇imitate＇；e．g．एते तव दयन्ताम्＇may these men have mercy on you＇；सरति ते प्रसादानाम्＇he remembers your favours＇；भीमस्सानुकरि－ ष्यामि＇I will imitate Bhīma．＇
c．In the objective sense（concurrently with the loc．）with verbs meaning＇do good or harm to（उप－क्ट，प्र－सद्，च्रप－कृ，त्रप－राध्）， ＇trust in＇（वि－ग्वस्），＇forbear with＇（च्त्म）；e．g．मिनाएाम् उपकुर्वाए：＇benefiting his friends＇；किं मया तस्या ॠ्रपक्थतम् ＇how have I done her an injury ？＇च्त्मस्व मे＇forbear with me．＇ d．With verbs meaning＇speak of＇or＇expect of＇；e．g． ममाद्रोषस्याप्येवं वदति＇he speaks thus of me though I am guiltless＇；सर्वमस्य मूर्खस्स संभाव्यते＇anything may be expected of that fool．＇
e．Frequently（instead of the dat．of the indirect object）with verbs of giving，telling，promising，showing，sending，bowing， pleasing，being angry；e．g．मया तस्याभयं प्रद्त्तम्＇I have granted safety to him＇（tasya）；किं तव रोचत एष：＇does he please you？＇ ममानतिक्रुछ्डो मुनि：＇the sage（is）not very angry with me＇ （mama）．
$f$ ．Sometimes（instead of the instr．）with verbs meaning＇be filled or satisfied＇；e．g．नागिसृृप्यति काष्ठानाम्＇fire is not satiated with logs．＇So also the past part．पूर्ए＇full of＇（gen．），or＇filled with＇（instr．）．

a．Such as are allied to transitive verbs；e．g．जरा विनाशिनी त्रपस्य＇old age is destructive of beauty．＇
b．Such as mean＇dependent on，＇＇belonging or attached to，＇ ＇dear to＇；e．g．तवायत्तः स प्रतीकार：＇that remedy depends on you＇（tava）；यत् त्वयास्य संत्तं किंचिढ् गृहीतमसित तत् समर्पय
'give up what you have taken belonging to him' (asya); को नाम रTज्ञां प्रिय: ' who, pray, is dear to kings?'
c. Such as mean 'acquainted with,' 'versed or skilled in,' 'accustomed to' (concurrently with the loc.: 200, $\mathbf{I} f$ ); e.g. चभिज्ञः खल्वसि लोकाव्यवहाराएTम् ' you are, indeed, conversant with the ways of the world'; संग्रामाएाTम् च्रकोविद्: ' unskilled in battle '; उचितो जन: क्षेश्रानाम् 'people accustomed to hardships.'
d. Such as mean 'like' or 'equal to' (concurrently with the instr.: p. I76); e.g. राम: वृष्यास्य तुल्य: 'Rāma is equal to Krṣna.'
3. The gen, expresses the agent with passive participles:-
a. Past participles having a pres. sense, formed from roots meaning 'think,' 'know,' 'worship'; e.g. राज्ञां मतः ('well thought of' $=$ ) 'approved of kings'; विदितो भवान् च्राश्रमसद्राम् दूहस्थ: ' you are known to the hermits to be staying here.'
b. Future participles (which also take the instr.: 196); e.g. मम (मया) सेव्यो हरि: 'Hari should be worshipped by me.'
4. The gen, is used with adverbs of direction in ${ }^{\circ}$ तस्-tas (cp. I77d); e.g. ग्रामस्य दच्चिएात: 'to the south of the village'; sometimes also with those in ०एन -ena (concurrently with the acc.) ; e. g. उत्तरे एाTस 'to the north of this (asya) sc. place.'
5. The gen, of time is used in the following ways :-
a. With multiplicatives (I08) or other numerals similarly used to express how often anything is repeated within a stated period; e. g. श्राध्घं निरब्द्स निर्व पेत् ' he should offer the funeral sacrifice three times a year'; संवत्सर्सेकमपि चरेत् क्वच्छूं द्विजोत्तम: ' a Brahman should perform at least one severe penance a year.'
b. Words denoting time are put in the gen. (like the abl.) in the sense of 'after'; e. g. कतिपयाहस (kati-paya ahasya), 'after some days '; चिरस्य कालस्य 'after a long time.' चिरस्स is also used alone in this sense.
c. A noun and past part. in the gen., accompanying an expression of time, have the sense of 'since'; e.g. च्रद्य द्शमो मासस् तातस्योपरतस्य 'to-day (is) the tenth month since our father died ' (uparatasya). This construction is akin to the gen. absolute (20I, 2).
6. Two genitives are employed to express an option or a difference between two things; e.g. व्यसनस्य च मृत्योश्य व्यसनं कष्टमुच्यते 'of vice and death, the former is called the worse'; एतावानेवायुष्मत: पूतक्रतोग्र विशेष: 'this is the only difference between you (the long-lived) and Indra.'

Locative.

200. The locative denotes either the place where an action occurs, or, with verbs of motion, the place whither an action is directed. The former sense may variously be translated by 'iu, at, on, among, by, with, near,' the latter by 'into, upon'; corresponding to Lat. in with abl. and acc. respectively.
I. The following are examples of the ordinary use of the loc. in the sense of 'where?' पत्तिएस्तर्मिन् वृत्ते निवसन्ति 'birds live in that tree'; विद्मैंषु 'in Vidarbha'; च्रात्मानं तव द्वारि व्यापाद्यिष्यामि 'I will kill myself at your door'; काश्याम् 'at Kāsi' (Benares); फलं दृष्टं द्रूमेषु 'fruit (is) seen on the trees': #्रासेदुर्गड्नTयाम् 'they encamped on (=close to) the Ganges '; न देवेषु न यचेषु तादृग्रूपवतो क्वचिद्ध माजुषेष्वपि चान्येषु दृष्टपूर्वT 'neither among gods, nor Yaksas, or among men either, had such a beauty anywhere been seen before'; मम पार्म्वे 'by my side.'
a. When the loc. means 'among' it is often equivalent to a partitive gen. (199); e.g. सरैैैु पुनेषु रामो मम प्रियतम: 'among (= of) all the sons Rāma is dearest to me.'
b. The person 'with' whom one dwells or stays is put in the loc.; e.g. गुरौ वसति 'he lives with his teacher.'
c. The loc. with the verbs तिष्ठति 'stands' and वर्तते 'goes on' (=Lat. versatur) expresses 'abides by,' 'complies with'; e.g. न मे शासंने तिष्ठसि ' you do not (stand by=) obey my command'; मातुर्मते वर्तस्व ' comply with your mother's desire.'
d. The loc. is used to express the effect 'of' a cause; e.g. दैवमेव नृएां वृध्रौ चये कारएाम् 'fate alone (is) the cause of the decline or prosperity of men.'
$e$. The loc. expresses contact with verbs of seizing by (ग्यह्) fastening to (बन्ध्), clinging or adhering to (लग्, स्निष्, सज्), leaning on, and (figuratively) relying on or trusting to ; e.g. केशेष्ड गृहीत्वा 'seizing by the hair'; पा एी संगृह्य 'taking by the hand'; वृचे पाशं बबन्ध 'he fastened a noose to the tree'; व्यसनेष्वसक्तः शूर: ‘a hero not addicted to vices'; वृचमूलेषु संश्रिता: 'reclining on the roots of trees '; विग्वसिति शूनुषु 'he trusts in his enemies'; ग्राशूंसन्ते सुरा ग्रस्याधिज्ये धनुषि विजयम् 'the gods fix their hopes of victory on his bent bow.'
$f$. The loc. is used (concurrently with the gen.: 199, $2 c$ ) with adjectives meaning 'acquainted with,' 'versed or skilled in'; e. g. रामोऽ चद्यूते निपुए: ' Rāma (is) skilled in the game of dice '; नाय्ये द्ना वयम् 'we (are) expert in acting.'
$g$. The loc. is used figuratively to express the person or thing in which some quality or state is to be found ; e. g . सर्व संभावयाम्यस्मिन् 'I look for everything in him' (cp. 199, x $d$ ); दृष्टद्रोषा मृगया स्वामिनि 'hunting (is) recognized as sinful in a prince'; #्रार्तानामुपदेशे न दोषः 'there is no harm in (giving) advice to the afflicted.' Similarly, when the meaning of a word is explained, the loc. expresses 'in the sense of'; e.g. कालापो बर्हैं 'kalāpa (is nsed) in the sense of peacock's tail.'
$h$. The circumstances in which an action takes place are expressed by the loc.; e.g. ₹्रापदि 'in case of distress'; भाग्येषु
'in fortune'; छिट्रेष्वनर्था बङुलीभवन्ति ('in the presence of'=) 'there being openings, my misfortunes multiply.' In the last example the loc. expresses the reason; if it were accompanied by a predicative participle, it would be a loc. absolute (cp. 201, x a).
i. The loc. of time, expressing when an action takes place, is only a special application of the preceding sense; e.g. वर्षासु 'in the rainy season '; निशूायाम् 'at night'; दिने दिने 'every day.'
$j$. The loc. expresses the distance at which anything takes place; e.g. दूतो वसति... च्रध्यर्धयोजने महर्षि: ' the great sage lives at (a distance of) a yojana and a half from here.'
201. The loc. answering to the question 'whither' is always used with verbs of falling, throwing, placing, and, concurrently with the acc., with those of going, entering, ascending, striking, bringing, sending; e.g. भूमौ पपात 'he fell on the ground'; च्रहौ बाएान् चिपति 'he darts arrows at his enemy'; तनेव भित्तापाने निधाय 'having put (it) in that same begging bowl'; हस्तमुरसि क्वत्वा 'placing his hand on his breast' (cृ 'do,' is frequently used in the sense of putting); मत्यो नद्यां प्रविवेश् 'the fish entered the river'; तं शिरस्यतTडयत् 'he struck him on the head'; समीपवर्तिनि नगरे प्रस्थित: 'he set out for a neighbouring town.'

Secondary applications of this loc. are the following :- $a$. It expresses the person or object towards which an action is directed or to which it refers = 'towards,' 'about,' 'with regard to'; e.g. प्राएिषु द्यां कुर्वन्ति साधव: 'the good show compassion towards animate beings'; भव द्चिएा परिजने 'be courteous to your attendants'; चेने विवद्ने 'they are disputing about a field.'
b. Concurrently with the dat. (and gen.), it expresses the indirect object with verbs of giving, telling, promising, buying, selling ; e. g. सहस्नाचे प्रतिज्ञाय 'having promised (it) to Indra';

c. Concurrently with the dat. ( $\mathrm{r} 97, \mathrm{~B} \mathrm{I}, 2$ ), it may express the aim of an action with words expressive of striving after, resolving on, wishing for, of appointing, choosing, enjoining, permitting, of being able or fit for; e.g. सर्वस्वहरए। युत्त: शूनु: ' an enemy prepared for the appropriation of everything'; कर्मगएा न्ययुङ्न' 'he appointed to a task'; पतित्वे वरयामास तम् 'she chose him for her husband'; अ्रसमर्थोड यमुदरपूर शोड साकम् ' he is incapable of supplying food for us.' नैलोक्स्यापि प्रभुत्वं तस्मिन् युज्यते 'the sovereiguty even of the three worlds is fitting for him.' A predicative loc. alone is capable of expressing fitness; e.g. नयत्यागश्रोर्यसंपन्ने पुरुषे राज्यम् 'sovereignty befits a man who is endowed with worldly wisdom, liberality, and heroism.'
d. Nouns expressive of desire, devotion, regard, friendship, confidence, compassion, contempt, neglect, are often connected with the loc. (as is also the gen.) of the object to which those sentiments are directed; e.g. न खनु शुकुन्तलायां ममाभिलाषः 'my love is, indeed, not towards S'akuntalā'; न मे र्वयि विश्वास: 'I have no faith in you'; न लघुष्वपि कर्तव्येष्वनादरः कार्य: 'neglect of duties, however small, should not be indulged in.'
$e$. The loc. is similarly used with adjectives or past participles meaning 'fond of,' ' devoted to, ' 'intent on,' and their opposites ; e.g. नार्यः केवलं स्वसुखे रताः 'women (are) intent on their own pleasure only.'

Locative and Genitive Absolute.

201. I. The locative is the usual absolute case in Sanskrit, and has much the same general application as the Greek genitive and the Lat. ablative absolute;
e.g. गच्छतस्मु दिनेषु 'as the days went by'; गोषु दुग्धासु स गतः 'the cows having been milked, he departed'; कर्या द्दाति मयि भाषमाएग 'she gives ear when I speak.'
a. The predicate of the absolute loc. is practically always a participle; the only exception being that the part. सत् 'being,' is frequently omitted; e.g. कथं धर्मक्रियाविघ्नः सतां रचितरि व्वयि 'how (can there be any) interference with the good in the performance of their duties, when you (are) their protector?'
b. The part. सत् 'being' (or its equivalents वर्तमान and स्थित) is often pleonastically added to another absolute part.; e.g. सूर्योंद्येडन्धतां प्राप्तेषूलूकेषु सत्सु 'at sunrise, when the owls had become blind.'
c. The subject is of course always omitted when a past pass. part. is used impersonally; it is also omitted when the part. is accompanied by indeclinable words like एवम्, तथा, दूत्थम्, दूति; e. g. तेनाभ्युपगते 'when consent had been given by him'; एवं गते 'this being the case ' (lit. 'it having gone thus'); तथा द्वते सति or तथानुष्ठिते 'this being done.'
d. The particle एव and the noun माच (as latter member of a compound) may be used after an absolute participle to express 'no sooner-than,' scarcely-when '; e.g. प्रभातायामेव रजन्याम् 'scarcely had it dawned, when'; प्रविष्टमान एव तनभवति 'no sooner had his Honour entered, than.'
202. The gen. absolute is much less common than the loc. and more limited in its application. It is restricted to contemporaneous actions, the subject being a person and the predicate a present participle in form or sense. Its meaning may be rendered by 'while,' ass,' or 'though.'
E.g. पश्यतो मे परिभ्रमन् 'wandering about, though I was looking on'; एवं वद्तस्सस्स स लुन्धको निभृतः स्थित: 'while he was speaking thus, the hunter remained concealed'; द्रति चिन्नयतस्नस तन तोयार्थमाययुः स्त्रियः ' while he was thus reflecting women came there to fetch water.'

Participles.

202. Participles are constantly used in Sanskrit to qualify the main action, supplying the place of subordinate clauses. They may, as in Latin and Greek, express a relative, temporal, causal, concessive, or hypothetical sense. A final sense is also expressed by the future participle. All these meanings are inherent in the participle, without the aid of particles, except that च्रुपि is usually added when the sense is concessive.
E.g. श्रृगाल: कोपाविष्टस् तम् उवाच 'the jackal, being filled with anger, said to him'; निषिद्घस्वं मयानेकशो न गृषोषि 'though you have been frequently dissuaded by me, you do not listen to me'; च्रजल्पतो जानतस्ते श्रिरो यास्यति खएडशू: 'if you do not tell, though knowing it, your head will be shattered to pieces'; ताडयिष्यन् भीमं पुनरम्यद्रवत् 'he ran again at Bhïma in order to strike him.'
a. Bahuvrihi compounds are very frequently employed in a participial sense, the part. सत् being omitted; e.g. न्रथ शूड्कितमना व्यचिन्तयत् ' then being ansious he reflected.'
I. Present Participle. This participle (as well as a past with a present seuse) is used with न्रक्ति or भवति 'is,' अ्रासे 'sits,' तिष्ठति 'stands,' वर्तते 'goes on,' to express continuous action, like the English 'is doing'; e.g. एतदेव वनं यस्मिन्नभूम चिरमेव पुरा वसन्त: 'this is the very forest in which we formerly dwelt for a long time'; भच्चयन्नास्ते 'he keeps eating'; सा यत्नेन रच्यमाएा तिष्ठति 'she is being carefully guarded'; परिपूरांॉंडयं घटः सक्तुभिर्वर्तते ' this pot is filled with porridge.'
a. The negative of verbs meaning 'to cease' are similarly construed with a present participle; e.g. सिंहो मृगान् व्यापTद्यनोपरराम 'the lion did not cease ( $=\mathrm{kept}$ ) slaying the animals.'
b. Verbs expressing an emotion such as 'to be ashamed,' 'to endure,' may be accompanied by a pres. part. indicating the cause of the emotion; e.g. किं न लज्जस एवं ब्रुवाए: 'are you not ashamed of speaking thus?'
c. A predicative present part. accompanies the acc., or the nom. in the passive construction, with verbs of seeing, hearing, knowing, thinking, wishing (cp. 195, r); e. g. प्रविश्नन्तं न मां काश्यिदपश्यत् 'no one saw me entering'; स भूपतिरेकदा केनापि पट्यमांनं स्लोकद्वयं সुग्राव 'the king one day heard some one repeating a couple of ślokas'; गान्धर्वैंए विवाहेन बह्यो राजर्षिकन्यका: श्रूयन्ते परिणीतT: ' many daughters of royal sages are recorded to have been wedded according to the marriage of the Gandharvas.'
203. Past Participles. The passive part. in त and its active form in वत् (sometimes even the perf. act. part. in वस्: 89) are very frequently used as finite verbs (the copula being omitted); e. g. तेनेद्म् उक्तम् 'this was said by him'; स द्दमुत्तवान् 'he said this.'
a. The passive of intransitive verbs is used impersonally; otherwise it has an active sense; e.g. मयाच चिरं स्थितम् 'I stood there for a long time'; स गङ्गণं गत: 'he went to the Ganges'; स पथि मृतः 'he died on the way.'
b. Some past participles in त have both a passive and a transitive active sense; e.g. प्राप्त 'obtained' and 'having reached'; प्रविष्ट 'entered (by)' and 'having entered '; पीत 'imbibed ' and 'having drunk'; विस्मृत 'forgotten' and 'having forgotten'; विभक्त 'divided' and 'having divided '; प्रसूत 'begotten' and 'having borne' (f.); ت्रा
c. The past participles in न never seem to occur with a transitive active meaning.
204. Future Participles Passive. These (162) express necessity, obligation, fitness, probability. The construction is the same as with the past pass. part.; e.g. मयावपूं देश्शान्तरं गन्तव्यम् 'I must needs go to another country'; हन्तव्यो s सित न ते राजन् ' you must not (= do not) kill me, 0 king' ; ततर्तेनापि शूब्द्: कर्तव्य: 'then he too will surely make a noise.'
a. Occasionally the fut. pass. part. has a purely future sense; e.g. युवयो: पच्चबलेन मयापि सुखेन गन्तव्यम् 'I too shall go at ease by the strength of your wings.'
b. भवितव्यम् and भाव्यम् (from भू 'be') are used impersonally to express necessity or high probability. The adjective or noun of the predicate agrees with the subject in the instr.; e.g. तया संनिहितया भवितव्यम् 'she must be (= is most probably) near'; तस्स प्राएिनो बलेन सुमहता भवितव्यम् 'the strength of that animal must be very great.'
205. Indeclinable Participle (Gerund). It nearly always expresses that an action is completed before another begins (rarely that it is simultaneous). Referring to the grammatical or the virtual subject of the main action, it generally agrees with the nom., or, in the passive construction, with the instr., but occasionally with other cases also; e.g. तं प्रएम्य स गतः 'having bowed down to him, he departed'; च्रघ तेनात्मानं तस्सोपरि प्रच्तिप्य प्राएा: परित्यका: ' then he throwing himself upon him lost his life' (प्रचिप्य agrees with तेन); तस्य दृष्द्वव ववृधे कामस्तां चारहासिनीम् 'his love increased as soon as he had seen the sweetly smiling maiden ' (दृष्द्वT agrees with तस्स).
a. It may frequently be translated by 'in' or 'by' with a verbal noun; e.g. मां निर्धनं हत्वा किं लभेध्वम् 'what would you gain by killing a poor man like me ?'
b. Having the full value of an inflected participle, it may express the various logical relations of the latter, and may even be accompanied, like them, by झ्रास्ते, तिष्ठति, वर्तते to express continuous action ; e. g. सर्वपौरान् #्रतीत्य वर्तते ' he is the foremost of all the townsmen.'
c. A number of gerunds are equivalent in sense to prepositions (I79).
$d$. The original instr. nature of the gerund is preserved in its employment with किम् or च्रलम् and with a general subject expressed by the impersonal passive construction; e.g. fकं तव गोपायित्वा ' what (gain accrues) to you by concealing?' च्रलं ते वनं गत्वा 'have done with going to the forest'; पशून् हत्वा यदि स्वर्गें गम्यते 'if one goes to heaven by killing animals.'

Infinitive.

203. This frequent form expresses the aim of an action and may in general be used wherever the dative of purpose is employed ( 197 B ). It differs from the dative of an ordinary verbal noun solely in governing its object in the acc. instead of the gen.; e.g. तं जेतुं यतते 'he strives to conquer him '=तस जयाय यतते ' he strives for the conquering of him.' It preserves its original acc. sense inasmuch as it is used as the direct object of verbs (e.g. सातुं लभते 'he gets a bath'), and cannot be employed as the subject of a sentence. Verbal nouns usually supply its place as the subject; e. g. वरं दानं न तु प्रतिग्रह; ' giving (=to give) is better than receiving' (=to receive). The construction of the acc. with the infinitive is unknown to Sanskrit, its place being supplied, with verbs of saying, \&c., by oratio recta with द्रति (p. I44), or otherwise by the use of a predicative acc. ( $195, \mathrm{I}$, and $202, \mathrm{I} c$ ).

The infinitive may be used with nouns (e.g. 'time,' 'opportunity'), adjectives ('fit,' 'capable'), as well as verbs (e.g. 'be able,' ' wish,' 'begin'); e. g. नायं कालो विलम्बितुम् 'this is not the time to delay'; #्रवसरोड यम् अ्रात्मानं प्रकाशूयितुम् 'this is an opportunity to show yourself'; लिखितमपि ललाटे प्रोज्मितुं कः समर्थ: ' who (is) able to escape from what is written on his forehead (by fate)?' च्रहं त्वां प्रष्टुम् च्र्रागत: 'I have come (in order) to ask you'; कथयितुं शूकोति 'he is able to tell '; द्येष सT कर्तुम् 'she wished to make.'
a. The 2. and 3. sing. ind. of च्रह् 'deserve' are used with an infinitive in the sense of a polite imperative = ' please,' 'deign to '; e.g. भवान् मां ग्रोतुमर्हीत ' will your Honour please to hear me ?'
b. The infinitive, after dropping its final म्, may be formed into a Bahuvrihi compound (r86) with काम 'desire,' or मनस् 'mind,' in the sense of wishing or having a mind to do what the verb expresses; e.g. द्रष्टुकाम: 'desirous of seeing'; किं वतुमना भवान् 'what do you intend to say?'
c. There being no passive form of the infinitive in Sanskrit, verbs governing the infin. are put in the passive in order to give it a passive meaning; e.g. कर्तुरु न युज्यते 'it is not fit to be done'; मया नीतिं ग्राहचितुं शूक्यन्ते 'they can be taught morality by me'; तेन मएडप: कारयितुम् ت्रारब्ध: ‘a hut (was) begun to be erected by him.'
d. The fut. part. pass. शूक्य sak-ya may either agree with the subject or be put in the neut. sing.; e.g. न पूक्यासे (दोषा:) समाधातुम् ' those (mischiefs) cannot be repaired '; सा न पूक्यम् उपेचितुं कुपिता 'she cannot be ignored (lit. 'is not a possible thing to ignore') when angry.' युक्त 'fitting' and न्याय्य 'suitable' may be construed in the same way; e.g. सेयं न्याय्या मया मोचयितुं भवत्त: 'she should rightly be released by me from you.'

TENSES AND MOODS.

Present.

204. The use of this tense is much the same as in English. But the following differences should be noted :-
I. In narration the historical present is more commonly used than in English, especially to express the durative sense (which the Sanskrit imperfect lacks); e.g. दमनकः पृच्छर्नत कथमेतत् 'Damanaka asked, "How was it?", हिरख्यो भोजनं क्वत्वा बिले स्वपिति 'Hiranyaka, having taken his food, used to sleep in his hole.'
a. पुरा 'formerly,' is sometimes added to this present; e.g. कस्मिंभ्चिद् वृच्ते पुराहं वसामि 'I formerly used to live in a certain tree.' The particle दा (which in the older language frequently accompanied पुरा, and thus acquired its meaning when alone) is much more frequently used thus; e.g. कसिमंश्चिह् च्रधिष्ठाने सोमिलको नाम कौलिको वसति स्म 'in a certain place $\mathbb{A}$ weaver named Somilaka used to live.'
b. The present is used to express the immediate past; e.g. च्रयम् च्रागच्छाfम 'here I come,' i. e. 'I have just come.'
205. The present also expresses the near future, पुरT 'soon' and यावत् 'just' (p. I5I) being sometimes added; e.g. तर्हि मुत्वा धनुर्गच्छामि 'then leaving the bow, I am off'; तढ् यावच्छनुघुं प्रेषयामि 'therefore I will just send S'atrughna.'
a. With interrogatives it implies a doubt as to future action; e.g. किं करोमि 'what shall I do?'
b. It may express an exhortation to perform an action at once; e. g. तर्हि गृहमेव प्रविशूरम: ' then we (will) enter (=let us enter) the house.'

Past Tenses.

205. All the three past tenses, imperfect, perfect, and aorist, besides the past participles in त ta and तवत् ta-vat (and the historical present), are used promiscuously to express the historical or remote past, applying equally to facts which happened only once, or were repeated or continuous.
a. The perfect is properly restricted to the statement of facts of the remote past, not coming within the experience of the speaker. The 1. and 2. sing. are therefore very rare.
$b$. The imperfect, in addition to describing the historical past, states past facts of which the speaker himself has been a witness.
c. The aorist has (along with the participles in त and तवत्) the special sense of the present perfect, being therefore appropriate in dialogues; e.g. ॠभूस्संपाढितस्वादुफलो मे मनोरथः 'my desire has obtained sweet fulfilment'; तुम्यं मया राज्यम् ₹्रदायि 'I have bestowed the sovereignty on you'; तं दृष्टवानस्मि 'I have seen him.'
d. The aorist (very rarely the imperfect) without the augment is used imperatively with भा ( $207 e$, and p. 150 ).
e. As there is no pluperfect in Sanskrit, its sense (to be inferred from the context) has to be expressed by the other past tenses or the gerund.

Future.

206. The simple future is a general tense, referring to any future action, while the periphrastic, which is much less frequently employed, is restricted to the remote future. Both can therefore often be employed in describing the same action, and they frequently interchange.
a. The future is sometimes used in an imperative sense, when accompanying an imperative; e.g. अद्रे यास्ससि मम तावदु अर्धर्थं श्रूयताम् 'go, my dear, but first hear my request.'

Imperative.

207. Besides the ordinary injunctive or exhortative sense, this mood has some special uses.
a. The first persons, which are survivals of old subjunctive forms, may be translated by 'will' or 'let'; e.g. दीव्यावेत्यब्रवीद् भ्राता 'his brother said, "Let us play"'; च्रहं करवाएि 'I will make.'
b. The 3. siug. pass. is commonly used as a polite imperative instead of the 2. pers. act.; देव স्रूयतTम् 'Sire, pray listen!' (cp. $203{ }^{a}$ ).
c. The imperative may be used, instead of an optative or benedictive, to express a wish or blessing; e.g. चिरं जीव 'may you live long'; शिधास् ते पन्थानः सन्तु 'may your paths be auspicious ' $=$ ' Godspeed.'
d. It may express possibility or doubt, especially with interrogatives; e.g. विषं भवतु मा वास्तु फटाटोपो भघंकर: 'whether there be poison or not, the swelling of a serpent's hood is terrifying'; प्रत्येतु कस्तद्रुवि ' who on earth would believe it?' किमधुना करवाम 'what should we do now?'
$e$. The imperative with the prohibitive particle मा is comparatively rare, its place being commonly supplied by the unaugmented sorist ( 205 d), or छन्रन् and छृतम्न् with the instr. (pp. 144, 146).

Optative or Potential.

208. Besides its proper function this mood also expresses the various shades of meaning appropriate to the subjunctive (which has become obsolete in Sanskrit).
209. In principal sentences it expresses the following meanings:-
a. A wish (often with the particle चपि added); e.g. चपि पश्येयमिह रTघवम् ' $O$ that I could see Rāma here!'
b. Possibility or doubt; e.g. कादिन्दु गोशूब्देन बुध्येत 'perhaps he may be awakened by the lowing of the cows'; पश्येयु: चितिपतयश्य चारदृध्या 'kings can seo through the eye of their spies'; एवं हन्यान वा हन्यादिषुर् मुत्तो धनुष्मता 'the arrow shot by an archer may hit an individual, or may not hit him.'
c. Probability, being often equivalent to a future; e.g. दूयं कन्या नान तिष्ठित् ' this girl (is not likely to =) will not stay here.'
d. Exhortation or precept; e.g. त्वमेवं कुर्या: ' do you act thus'; अ्रापद्र्थ धनं रच्तेत् ' one should save wealth against calamity.'
210. The optative is used in the following kinds of subordinate clauses :-
a. In general relative clauses; e.g. कालातिक्रमएं वृत्तेत्र यो न कुर्वोत भूपति: 'the king who (=every king who) does not neglect the time for the payment of salaries.'
b. In final clauses ('in order that'); e.g. न्रादिश् मे देशूं यच वसेयम् 'indicate to me the place where $I$ am to live' (= that I may live there).
c. In consequential clanses ('so that'); e.g. स भारो भर्तव्यो यो नरं नावसादयेत् '(only) such $\sqrt{\text { - burden should be borne as }}$ may not weigh a man down.'
d. In the protasis (as well as the apodosis) of hypothetical clauses, with the sense of the Lat. present (possible condition) or imperfect (impossible condition) subjunctive (cp. 210); e. $g$. यदि न सान् नरपतिर् विस्नवेत नौरिव प्रजा 'if there were not a king, the state would founder like a ship.'

Benedictive or Precative.

209. This rare form ( $\mathrm{I}_{5} 0$ ), a kind of aorist optative, is properly restricted to the expression of blessings, or, in the first person, of the speaker's wish; e.g. वीरप्रसवा भूया: 'mayst thou give birth to a warrior'; दृतार्थों भूयासम् 'may I become successful.' The imperative is also employed in this sense (207c). In a few rare cases the benedictive is indistinguishable in meaning from an imperative or an ordinary optative; e.g. दूदं वचो ब्रूयास्त 'do ye proclaim this speech'; ममेष कामो भूतानां यढ़ भूयासुऱ विभूतय: 'it is my desire that beings should enjoy welfare.'

Conditional.

210. The conditional, as its form (an indicative past of the future) well indicates, is properly used to express a past condition, the unreality of which is implied, and is equivalent to the pluperfect (conditional) subjunctive in Latin or English, or the aorist indicative, used conditionally, in Greek. It is employed in both protasis and apodosis; e.g. सुवृष्टिश्चेद्भविष्यह् दुर्भिचं नाभविष्यत् 'if there had been abundant rain, there would have been no famine.' If a potential is used in the protasis, a conditional in the apodosis may acquire the sense of a hypothetical present (=imperf. subjunctive); e.g. यदि न प्रणयेद्राजा दएडं शूले मत्सानिवापच्यन् दुर्बलान् बलवच्तरा: 'if the king did not inflict punishment, the strong would roast the weak like fish on a spit.' The potential properly expresses a hypothetical present, but it also occurs in the past sense instead of the conditional (cp. 208, 2 d).

APPENDIX II

METRE IN CLASSICAL SANSKRIT

The versification of classical Sanskrit differs considerably from that of the Vedic hymns, being more artificial, more subject to strict rules, and showing a far greater number of varieties of metre.

Classical Sanskrit metres are divided into-
I. Those measured by the number of syllables;
II. Those measured by the number of morae they contain.

Nearly all Sanskrit poetry is written in stanzas consisting of four metrical lines or quarter-verses (called pāda, 'foot'= quarter). These stanzas are regularly divided into half-verses.

Quantity is measured as in Latin and Greek. Vowels are long by nature or by position. Two consonants make a preceding short vowel long by position, Anusvāra and Visarga counting as full consonants. A short vowel counts as one mora (mātrā), a long vowel (by nature or position) as two.

I. Metres measured by Syllables (Aksara-cchandah).

These consist of -
A. Two half-verses identical in structure, while the quarterverses $I$ and 3 differ from 2 and 4.
B. Four quarter-verses all identical in structure.

A. The sloka.

The slluka ('song,' from śru, 'hear'), developed from the Vedic Anustubh, is the Epic verse, and may be considered the Indian verse par excellence, occurring, as it does, far more frequently than any other metre in classical Sanskrit poetry. It consists of two half-verses of sixteen syllables or of four pādas of eight syllables.

Dividing the half-verse into four feet of four syllables, we find that only the second and the fourth foot are determined as to quantity. The fourth is necessarily iambic ( $\cup-\cup \bigvee$ ), while the second may assume four different forms. The first and the third foot are undetermined, except that $\simeq \cup \smile \bigcup$ is always excluded from them. By far the commonest form of the second foot is $\cup-$ - (in Nala 1442 out of $173^{2}$ half-verses).
The type of the sloka may therefore be represented thus-

\cdots|v--\underline{v}| \cdots \cdot \mid v-v-\|

Ex. āsīd rājāa Nǎlō nāmă | Vīrăsēnăsŭtõ bălī ŭpăpannō gŭṇair istaī | rūpăvān aśvăkōvĭdăḥ \|
It is only when the second foot has $\cup--\simeq$ that the first foot may assume all its admissible forms. When the second foot has any of the other three forms, the first foot is limited, as shown in the following table:-

The first (typical) form is called Pathyā ; the remaining three, called Vipula, are in the above table arranged in order of frequency of occurrence. Out of 2579 half-verses taken from Kālidāsa (Raghu-vaṇśa and Kumāra-sambhava), Māgha, Bhāravi, and Bilhana, each of the four admissible forms of the sloka in the above order claims the following share: $2289,116,89,85$.

In the table a dot indicates an undetermined syllable: a comma marks the caesura.

The end of a pada coincides with the end of a word (sometimes only with the end of a word in a compound), and the whole sloka contains a complete sentence. The construction does not run on into the next line. Occasionally three half-verses are found combined into a triplet.

B. All Four Pādas identical in Form.

1. Of the numerous varieties developed from the Vedic Tristubh (II syllables to the pāda), the commonest are-
a. Indravajrā: $--\cup|--v| \cup-\cup|--| |$
b. Upendravajrā : $\cup-\cup|--v| \cup-\cup|--| |$
c. Upajāti (a mixture of the above two):

$$

d. Šālinì: $---|-,-v|--v|--| |$
e. Rathoddhatā: $-v-|\cup v u|-u-|v-| |$
2. The commonest forms of Jagatī ( $\mathbf{I} 2$ syllables to the pāda) are-
a. Vaṃśasthā : $u-v|--v| \cup-v \mid-u-\|$
b. Drutavilambita: $u v \cup|-v \cup|-v \cup \mid-v-\|$
3. The commonest variety of S'akvarī (14 syllables to the pāda) is -

Vasantatilakā: $--\cup|-\cup v| \cup-v|\cup-v|-\simeq \|$
4. The commonest form of Atiśakvarī (I5 syllables to the pāda) is-

Mālinī: $u \cup \cup|\cup \cup \cup|--,-|\cup--|\cup-\underline{\cup}||$
5. The commonest variety of Atyastic (I7 syllables to the pāda) is-
a. S'ikhariṇĩ: $\cup--|---,|\cup \cup \cup| \cup \cup-|-\cup \cup| \cup-| |$
b. Mandākrāntā:

---|-, \cup \cup| \cup \cup \cup|-,-\cup|--\cup \mid-\underline{v} \|
$$

6. The commonest form of Atidhrti (19 syllables to the pāda) is-

S’ārdūlavikrīdita:

---|v u-|v-v| \cup v-,|--v|--v| \simeq| |
$$

7. The commonest variety of Prakrti (21 syllables to the pāda) is-Sragdharā:
$---|-\cup-|-, \cup \cup| \cup \cup \cup| \cup-,-|\cup--|\cup--| |$

II. Metres measured by Morae.

A. Metres in which the sum total only of the morae is prescribed (Māträ-chandậ).

The Vaitaliya contains 30 morae in the half-verse, 14 in the first pāda, 16 in the second. Each pāda may be divided into three feet, the second always consisting of a choriambus, and the third of two iambics; while the first foot in the first pāda consists of a pyrrhic, in the second pāda of an anapaest. The half-verse thus contains 2I syllables. The following is the scheme of the half-verse :-

v v|-v v-|v-v \simeq \| v u-|-v v-|v-v \simeq||

B. Metres in which the number of morae in each foot (gana) is specified (Gana-cchandaḥ).

Āryā or Gāthā has $7 \frac{1}{2}$ feet to the half-verse, each foot containing 4 morae ( $=30$ morae altogether). The 4 morae may take the form $\cup \cup \cup \cup,--,-\cup \cup$, or $\cup \cup-$; in the 2nd and 4 th they may also become $\cup-\cup$; in the 6th they appear as $\cup \cup \cup \cup$ or $\cup-\cup$. The 8th foot is always monosyllabic; the 6th of the second half-verse consists of a single short syllable. Hence the second half-verse contains only 27 morae.

APPENDIX III

CHIEF PECULIARITIES OF VEDIC GRAMMAR

1. As several stages can be distinguished in the development of the Vedic language, some of the following statements are strictly applicable only to the Rig-veda, the oldest and most important monument of Vedic literature.

The Alphabet.

2. The sounds are the same as in Sanskrit, with the exception of two additional letters. Cerebral ड $\underset{\text { d and }}{ }$ ढ् dh between vowels
 ' I praise'; मीक्छुषे milhúse = मीढुषे miḍhuse, ' to the bountiful.'

Sandhi,

3. A. Vowels. Hiatus is not avoided either within a word, or between the members of a compound, or between the words of a sentence; and, in particular, initial a after e and $\circ(2 \mathrm{I} a)$ is only occasionally elided; e.g. súriasya, 'of the sun'; su-áśviam, 'wealth in horses '; Váruṇasya Agnẹ, ' of Varuṇa (and) Agni '; abhi eti, 'he goes towards '; vípro aksarat,' the priest poured out.'
a. The e of the pronominal forms (dat., loc.) tvé, 'to or in thee,' asmé, 'to or in us,' yușmé, 'to or in you,' remains unchanged before vowels ; as does the final o produced by the coalescence of a with the particle $u$, as in átho (áthau), mó (mấu), nó (náu).
B. Consonants, The final syllables $\bar{n} n, \bar{i} n$, ūn, ịn $\operatorname{are}$ treated as if they were āṃh, imḥ, üṃh, i.e. $\overline{\mathrm{a}} \mathrm{n}$ becomes ām (except in the 3. pl. subjunctive, where it represents an original ānt), while īn, ūn, ̧̣n become īmr, ūưnr, ఢ̣ㄲㄲr ; e.g. mahăm asi,' thou art great' (but â gacchān úttarā yugáni, ' later ages will come'); rasímr iva, ' like reins.'
a. Sometimes rules which in Sanskrit apply internally only, are extended to the initials of words; e.g. sabó ṣ́u nahẹ (cp. 65, 66).

Declension,

4. A, Endings, Singular. a. Instr. $\bar{a}$ is sometimes added to bases in a, less commonly to feminines in $\bar{a} ;$ e.g. yajñá, m. 'sacrifice,' instr. yajñéna and yajñáa manịãa, f.'wisdom,' instr. manịcáyā and manissáa. The a of ena is also often lengthened.

Feminines in ī sometimes take ī; e.g. śámī, f. 'work,' instr. śámyā and śánnī.
b. Loc. Bases in i take $\bar{a}$, though less commonly than au , while a few take ī ; e.g. agní, m. 'fire,' loc. agnaú and agnắ ; védi, f. 'altar,' loc. védī.

Bases in -an usually drop the i; e.g. bráhmaṇi and bráhman. These bases never drop the a of the suffix; e.g. rájani only (cp. $90 c$ ).
c. Voc. Bases in -mat, -vat, -vas regularly form their vocative in -as; e.g. nom. bhānumằn: voc. bhấnumas; hárivān: hárivas; cakṛvắn : "cákṛvas.
Dual. $a$. The nom. acc. voc. take a more usually than au; e.g. aśvinā, ' the two Aśvins'; dvẫāa, f. 'the two doors'; nadiā, 'the two rivers.' Feminines in derivative i remain unchanged; e.g. deví, ' the two goddesses.'
$b$. The personal pronouns of the I. and 2. pers. distinguish five cases; e.g. N. yuvám; A. yuvấm; I. yuvábbhyām or yuvábhyām; Ab. yuvát; L. yuvós.
Plural. Nom. a. Masculine bases in -a often (feminines in -ā rarely) take āsas beside ās ; e.g. mártyāsaḥ, 'mortals.'
b. Feminine bases in derivative $\bar{\imath}$ take only; e.g. devíḥ, goddesses.'
c. Neuters take $\overline{\mathrm{a}}, \overline{\mathrm{i}}, \overline{\mathrm{u}}$ (sometimes shortened to $\check{a}, \check{\mathrm{i}}, \mathrm{u}$ ) oftener than āni, îni, ūni ; e.g. yugáa, 'yokes ' (cp. Lat. juga, Gk. §uyá).

Instr. Bases in -a take ebhis nearly as often as ais; e.g. devébhị̣ and devaíḩ.
B. Inflexional Iype. The main difference in type of declension is in the polysyllabic bases (mostly feminines, with a few masculines) in $\overline{1}$ and $\overline{\mathbf{u}}$, a considerable numbor of which are inflected like the monosyllabic bases dhī and bhū (100), excepting the gen. pl., where they take nām. (Bases in derivative $\overline{1}$ otherwise for the most part follow nadī and vadhū as in Sanskrit: 100.)

Conjugation,

5. Augment, $a$. This prefix is in some cases permanently long, in others metrically; e.g. $\frac{1}{a}$-var, 3. sg. aorist of $\mathrm{vr},{ }^{\text {, }}$ he has covered'; áarraik (or á-raik), 3. sg. aorist of ric, 'she has given up.'
b. The augment can always be dropped without changing the meaning. Unaugmented forms are, however, often used as injunctives: this use has survived in Sanskrit with the prohibitive particle má $(\mathbf{I} 28 a)$.
6. Verbal Prefixes, These generally precede, but sometimes follow the verb. They can be separated from it by particles and other words; e.g. à tvā viśantu, 'let them enter thee'; gámad vájebhir á sá naḥ, ' may he come to us with riches.'
7. Endings. $a$. The primary termination of the 1 . pers. pl. active, -masi, is much commoner than -mas; e.g. i-mási and i-más, 'we go.'
b. In the 2. pl. -thana and -tana often occur beside -tha and -ta; e.g. yā-thá and yā-thána, 'ye go'; yā-tá and yā-tána, 'do ye go.'
c. The 2, sg. impv. has $\quad$ not uncommon alternative ending in -tāt (added to the weak base), which expresses an injunction to be carried out in the future; rákṣa-tāt, ' protect'; brū-tāt, 'say '; dhat-tatt, 'place' (cp. Gk. $\phi \in \rho \epsilon$ 'т $\tau$, Lat. lege-tōd). It is sometimes used for the 2 . du. and pl., or 1 . and $3 . \operatorname{sg}$.
d. The 3 . pers. sg. pres. middle (like the perf. middle, 136 ) is not uncommonly identical with the I.; e.g. śáy-e, 'he lies' (= séte).
8. Reduplication, Many roots reduplicate with a long vowel in the perfect; e.g. dhṛ, 'support': dādhắr-a; vas, 'shine': vā-vas-e ; tu, 'thrive': tū-tấv-a.
9. Tenses, $a$. There is a pluperfect, which does not, however, occur often. It is formed from the perfect base (strong in the sg. act., weak elsewhere) by prefixing the augment, and adding the secondary terminations; e.g. from cit, 'appear,' I.sg. á-ciketam, 3. á-ciket; 3. pl. á-cikit-us.
h. The periphrastic future does not exist.
10. Moods. a. There is a subjunctive, which is much commoner than the optative. Its meaning is imperative or final ; it is also often equivalent to a future indicative. Its base is formed by adding -a to the tense base. In the a-conjugation it therefore ends in $\bar{a}$; e.g. bhávā. In the second conjugation -a is added to the strong base, which remains throughout; e. g. from kr, ' do';
k!̣̣áv-a. The endings are partly primary, partly secondary. Thus the subjunctive of bhū, 'be,' and su, 'distil,' are formed as follows :-

| Par. | 1. bhávā-ni  2. bhávā-si, bhávā-s | bhávā-va  bhávā-thas | bhávã-ma bhávā-tha |
| :---: | :---: | :---: | :---: |
|  | 3. bhávā-ti, bhávā-t | bhávā-tas | bhávā-n |
| Ātm. | r. bháv-ai | bhávā-vahai | bhávā-mahai |
|  | 2. bhávā-se | bháv-aithe | bhávā-dhvai |
|  | 3. bhávā-te | bháv-aite | bháv-anta |
| Par. | 1. sunáv-ā-ni | sunáv-ā-va | sunáv-ā-ma |
|  | 2. sunáv-a-s | sunáv-a-thas | sunáv-a-tha |
|  | 3. sunáv-a-t | sunáv-a-tas | sunáv-a-n |
| $\overline{\text { A }}$ tm. | I. sunáv-ai | sunáv-ā-vahai | sunáv-ā-mahai |
|  | 2. sunáv-a-se | sunáv-aithe | sunáv-a-dhvai |
|  | 3. sunáv-a-te | sunáv-aite | sunáv-anta |

b. Not only the present, but the perfect and aorist as well, have all the three moods, subjunctive, optative, and imperative.
E.g. pf. subj. of tud, 'strike': tu-tód-a-t; opt. of vṛt, 'turn': va-vṛt-yà́t ; impv. of muc,' release ': mu-mug-dhí; of bhū, 'be': ba-bhū-tu; Ātm. 2. sg. of vṛt: va-vṛt-sva.

Aor. subj. nī,'lead': 3. sg. nés-a-ti or néṣ-a-t; budh, 'wake': bódhiṣ-a-t; vid, 'find': vid-á-t ; kṛ, 'do': kár-a-ti or kár-a-t. Opt. of vid: vid-ét; aś, 'reach': aś-yát; bhaj, 'share': bhakṣīștá. Impv. of av, 'favour': 2. sg. aviḍ-ḍhí, du. aviṣ-ṭám, pl. aviṣ-ṭána; 3. sg. aviş-ţu; sad,'sit down': 3. sg. sada-tu, du. sada-tām, pl.sadantu; śru, 'hear': 2. śru-dhí, śru-tám, śru-tá; 3. śró-tu, śru-tām, śruv-antu.
11. Participles. In addition to those surviving in Sanskrit the Veda has an aorist participle, both active and middle; e.g. Par., from $\mathrm{kr},{ }^{\text {, }} \mathrm{do}$ ' : kr -ánt; gam, ' go ': gın-ánt; sthā, 'stand': sthă $\frac{1}{n t ; ~ A ̄ t m ., ~ k r ̣: ~ k r-a ̄ n ̣ a ́ ; ~ b u d h: ~ b u d h-a ̄ n a ́ . ~}$
a. The part. in ta-vat is not known to the Rig-veda.
12. Gerunds. In addition to the gerund in -tvă, there is a commoner one in -tví, and a very rare one in -tvấya. The vowel of the forms used with prefixes, -ya and -tya, is generally lengthened.
13. Infinitives. About a dozen kinds of infinitives can be distinguished, having the form of an acc., dat., abl., gen., or loc. The last three cases are rare. The vast majority are dat. infinitives, these being about twelve times as common as the acc.
$a$. The acc. inf. is formed either from the root or from a verbal noun in -tu (the latter being very rare in the Rig-veda); e.g. sam-ídh-am, 'to kindle'; prati-dhằ-m, 'to place upon'; pratíram, 'to lengthen out'; kár-tu-m, 'to make'; bhét-tum, 'to cleave.'
$b$. The dat. inf. is formed from the loot or from verbal nouns in -as, -man, -van, -tu, or -dhi; e.g. dṛ́s-é, 'to see '; śrad-dhé, 'to believe' (cp. Gk. єī̀̀ $\epsilon \sigma-\theta a t$ ); jīv-ás-e, 'to live'; vid-mán-e kár-tav-aí (with double accent), 'to do'; gamá-dhyai, 'to go.'
c. Examples of the other cases are : ava-pád-as, 'to fall down'; nétos, 'to take away'; nes-án-i, 'to lead '; dhartári, 'to bestow.'

Prepositions.

14. The genuine prepositions are used only with the acc., loc., and abl. (apart from a few isolated instances of the instr.).
a. With 'acc. áti, 'beyond '; ádhi, ' on to'; ánu, 'after'; antár, 'between'; abhí, à, úpa, práti, 'towards'; pári, 'round'; purás, 'before.'
b. With loc. ádhi, 'on'; antár, 'within'; ápi, á, and úpa, ' near.'
c. With abl. ádhi, 'from upon'; antár, 'from within'; $\frac{1}{\mathrm{a}}$, 'away from ' or ' up to'; pári,' from (around) '; purás, 'before.'

Accent.

15. The accent is marked in all the texts of the four Vedas, as well as in two Brāhmanas. Of the four different systems of marking it, that of the Rig-veda is the most important. Here the chief accent, the acute (udãtta, 'raised'), or rising tone, is not marked at all, probably because it comes midway between the grave or low tone (an-udātta) which precedes, and the svarita, or falling tone, which follows it and marks the transition from an accented to a toneless syllable. The anudatta preceding the acute is marked with a horizontal stroke below, and the svarita following it, with a vertical stroke above; e.g. न्र्गिनो ag-ni-nằ. The independent svarita (originally also preceded by an acute, which was lost by removal of hiatus) is marked like the enclitic one; e.g. क्व kvà (=kuà); the anudātta beiug also indicated under the preceding syllable; e.g. वीर्यैम् viryàm. If an independent svarita precedes an udätta it is marked with thenumeral 9 ( $\mathbf{I}$ ) when the syllable is short, with $३$ (3) when it islong, the figure bearing both the srarita sign and the anudātta which precedes the udātta; ₹्राप्व कंश्तर् apsv àntár; शयो ३े वनिं: rāyò 'vánị̀. An accented syllable at the beginning of a line remains unmarked; all grave syllables at the beginning of a sentence preceding an acute must be marked; and all graves following a svarita are left unmarked till the one preceding an acute or svarita; e.g. नमौं युजा़नम् námò yujānám; करिष्यसि kariṣyásiे.
16. Enclitics. $a$. The particles iva, u, cid, sma, svid, ha, gha, ca, vā. b. Certain monosyllabic pers. pronouns, me, te, &c. (roga). $c$. The demonstrative pron. ena, and ìm, sìm. d. The indefinite pronouns tva, 'such'; sama, 'any.'
17. Unaccented Forms. $a$. The demonstrative pron. a, when unemphatic as replacing a noun ; e.g. asya jánimāni, 'his (Agni's) bírths '; but asyắ uṣásaḅ, ' of thát Dawn.'
$b$. The vocative loses its accent, unless it begins the sentence, whatever the length of the vocative expression; e.g. 㐬 rājān $\bar{a}$ maha retasya gopa, 'hither, 0 sovereign guardians of great order.'
18. The employment of the accent in declension and conjugation may be gathered from the paradigms given in the preceding grammar; but the following peculiarities of its use in the sentence should be noted.
$a$. The vocative is invariably emphasized on the first syllable only, all the other syllables of a complex expression losing their accents; e.g. hótar yavișṭha sukrato, ' $O$ most youthful wise sacrificer '; û́rjo napāt sahasvaḥ (nom. ūrjó nápāt sáhasvān).
b. The finite verb of a principal clause is unaccented, unless it begins the sentence; e.g. Agním île, 'I praise Agni.' As a voc. does not count as a sentence, a verb following it is accented; e.g. áśrut-karṇa, śrudhî hávam, ' $O$ thou of listening ears, hear our call.' Since a sentence is regarded as capable of having only one verb, all verbs syntactically relating to the same subject as the first, are accented as beginning new sentences; e. g. taráṇir íj jayati, kṣéti, púṣyati, 'successful he conquers, rules, thrives.'
c. In subordinate clauses (introduced by the relative or its derivatives, and the particles hi, 'for,' ca and ced,' if,' néd,' lest') the verb is always accented; e.g. yám yajũáạ paribhứr ási, 'what offering thou protectest.' When two principal clauses are in a relation of antithesis, the first is often treated as subordinate, and its verb accented.
d. In principal clauses the verbal prefix is separated from the verb and accented; in subordinate clauses it is compounded with the verb and loses its accent; e.g. $\frac{1}{a}$ gacchati, 'he comes,' but yá āgácchati, 'he who comes.'

SANSKRIT INDEX

This index contains all Sanskrit words and affixes occurring in the grammar, except the numerals (104-108), unless declined, and the verbs in Appendix I. The former can be found at once owing to their numerical, the latter owing to their alphabetical order. Indifferent words occurring in examples of Sandhi or of Syntax, as well as the metrical terms and the Vedic forms contained in Appendices II and III, are excluded.

The figures refer to paragraphs unless otherwise marked.

[^0]:    ${ }^{1}$ See Zachariae in the Vienna Oriental Journal for 1901, pp. 313-320.

[^1]:    ${ }^{1}$ As Anusvāra and Visarga cause beginners much difficulty in finding words in a glossary, the following note on their alphabetical order will probably be useful. The unchangeable Anusvāra (before a semivowel, sibilant, or ह $\mathrm{h}: \mathrm{cp} .42, \mathrm{BI}$ ) has precedence of every other consonant: hence samvara, samśaya, precede sa-₹a. The changeable Anusvāra (IO, 42, B2) occupies

[^2]:    ${ }^{1}$ This rule is an extension of the cases in which final $n$ etymologically represents $n s$, i.e. in the acc. pl. masc. in -ān, and nom. sing. masc. in -n.

[^3]:    ${ }^{1}$ This is an historical survival of the original initial aspiration of such roots, which was lost (both in Greek and Sanskrit) by the later euphonic law that prohibited a syllable beginning and ending with an aspirate. Hence when the final aspirate disappeared the initial returned.

[^4]:    ${ }^{1}$ Except in the case of the root धा dhā, 'to place,' which has (according to the analogy of a) धत् dhat before त् $t$ and घ, th (see below, 134 , third class, 1 ).
    ${ }^{2}$ ज. $j$ regularly becomes क्स before a conjugational स् s (cp. 144, 4).

[^5]:    venient as the only arrangement by which such cases as are identical in form, either in the singular, the dual, or the plural, may be grouped together.

[^6]:    ${ }^{1}$ There are no bases in other semivowels.

    ${ }^{2}$ From the root मह्，mah（originally magh），cp．Lat．mag－nus．

[^10]:    ${ }^{1}$ By assimilation for original गत्र gar-û, cp. Gk. $\beta a \rho-\hat{u}-s$, Lat. grǎv-i-s.

    ${ }^{2}$ Cp. Gk. $\nu \nu \chi Ө{ }^{\prime}{ }^{\prime} \mu \epsilon \rho \rho \nu$.
